This is the second issue with the selected papers of the 38th International Conference on Logic Programming (ICLP 2022), held in Haifa, Israel, from July 31 to August 6, 2022. The two issues contain 16 papers selected from several tracks of the conference program for publication in Theory and Practice of Logic Programming.

The preceding issue of this volume of the journal contains a detailed editorial by the conference chairs (Lierler et al. 2022), as well as eight papers selected for publication. This issue contains the remaining eight of the papers selected for publication in the Theory and Practice of Logic Programming.
