TEACHING PHILOSOPHY

Do you remember those first two fantastic National Workshop-Conferences on Teaching Philosophy? There's going to be another one! And this time, it will include the first national meeting of the American Association of Philosophy Teachers. AAPT and the biennial workshop-conferences are spearheading a sustained national effort to support and improve the teaching of philosophy in all its settings and forms. The Third National Workshop-Conference at the University of Toledo, August 12–15, 1980, will bring together in one place the people and programs that are leading the way. They will focus upon new methods, materials and areas of philosophy teaching, plus the likely impact of these upon the future of philosophy. The primary activity of participants will be active involvement in workshop discussions with fellow teachers.

Conference applications and detailed descriptions of planned workshops will be mailed in January 1980. To be put on the mailing list, write to: Professor Richard A. Wright, Chair, Program Committee, 3rd NW-CTP, Department of Philosophy, University of Toledo, Toledo, OH 43606.
