OBITUARY

EVA G. R. TAYLOR

We regret to record the death of Professor Eva G. R. Taylor on 5 July 1966 at the age of 86. In 1930 she was appointed Professor of Geography in the University of London and in 1944 became Professor Emeritus. She was a Fellow of Birkbeck College, London, and Victoria Medallist of the Royal Geographical Society.

In the field of history of science she is probably best known for her definitive work, The Mathematical Practitioners of Tudor and Stuart England (1954). Her most recent book, The Mathematical Practitioners of Hanoverian England (1966) is reviewed in the current issue of this journal. Professor Taylor was an Honorary Member of the British Society for the History of Science.
