

First issue—January 1970

INTERNATIONAL JOURNAL OF MIDDLE EAST STUDIES

Published by Cambridge University Press on behalf of the Middle East Studies Association of North America

Edited by STANFORD J. SHAW
University of California, Los Angeles

International Journal of Middle East Studies will publish articles and reviews concerning Iran, Turkey, Afghanistan, Israel, Pakistan, and the countries of the Arab world, from the seventh century to modern times. Spain, Southeastern Europe and the Soviet Union will be included for the periods in which their territories were parts of Middle Eastern empires or were under the influence of Middle Eastern civilization.

Attention will be paid to history, political science, economics, anthropology, sociology, philology and literature, folklore, comparative religion and theology, law and philosophy.

Editorial Board: W. M. Brinner (California, Berkeley), Oleg Grabar (Harvard), Charles Issawi (Columbia), Malcolm Kerr (California, Los Angeles), Bernard Lewis (SOAS, London), Kamal Salibi (American University of Beirut), R. M. Savory (Toronto), R. B. Serjeant (Cambridge), Nur Yalman (Chicago).

Published quarterly

Price to be announced

For list of contents or further information write to

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY PRESS

32 East 57th Street, New York, N.Y. 10022

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY PRESS

Religion in the Middle East
Three Religions in Concord and Conflict

General Editor: A. J. ARBERRY

Subject Editors: E. I. J. ROSENTHAL (Judaism)
M. A. C. WARREN (Christianity)
C. F. BECKINGHAM (Islam)

Volume 1 : Judaism and Christianity
Volume 2 : Islam

A survey of Judaism, Christianity and Islam, and their relationship with each other, during the last hundred years. Since Islam is the dominant faith, the term "Middle East" denotes the social and cultural area in which Islam meets the other faiths, as well as western civilization and communism, rather than a precise geographical area.

Although primarily concerned with religion, the study also follows the interaction of ethnic, economic, political, social and cultural factors, which the editors regard as essential for understanding the contemporary religious situation. Doctrinal and legal aspects are discussed.

There is a general evaluation of the place of religious faith in the modern world, of the impact made on religion by the claims of political and philosophical movements, and of the three religions themselves as they appear in concord and in conflict with each other.

Illustrated with photographs and maps.

Two-volume set: $22.50

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY PRESS

32 East 57th Street, New York, N.Y. 10022

New Paperbacks on the Middle East from Praeger

SOVIET-AMERICAN RIVALRY IN THE MIDDLE EAST

Edited by J. C. HUREWITZ

"This timely and important book represents the proceedings of a conference on the problems of the Middle East held in December, 1968, under the auspices of the Academy of Political Science of Columbia University. Eighteen authorities from various disciplines examine in depth the scope and nature of the American-Soviet confrontation. . . . A richly rewarding volume for both broadly informed readers and specialists on the Middle East."—Library Journal

Published in cooperation with the Academy of Political Science.

1969. 232 pp. U-677/$2.95

MIDDLE EAST POLITICS: THE MILITARY DIMENSION

J. C. HUREWITZ

Here, J. C. Hurewitz (Professor of Government at Columbia University) examines the civil-military relationship in each of the eighteen countries stretching from Morocco to Pakistan. In so doing, he provides an informative and well-documented study of the interplay of domestic, regional, and international politics in the postwar Middle East. "This pioneering study answers a real need."—The New York Times. "The most comprehensive survey of military politics in the Middle East."—Library Journal

Published for the Council on Foreign Relations.

1969. 550 pp., bibliog., index. U-660/$3.95

POLITICAL AND SOCIAL THOUGHT IN THE CONTEMPORARY MIDDLE EAST

Edited by KEMAL H. KARPAT

To provide students with a broad comparative view of contemporary thought in the Arab countries, Turkey, and Iran, Professor Karpat has "provided useful prefatory essays and has selected articles, many of them previously unavailable in English, from a wide range of recent publications. . . . Throws much light on political cross-currents and ideological movements relevant to the Arab-Israeli crux."—Library Journal

1968. 416 pp. 6 1/8" x 9 1/4". Praeger Paperbound Text/3.95

THE COLLEGE DEPARTMENT
PRAEGER PUBLISHERS • 111 Fourth Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10003