JAMES FORSYTH

"His literary style is simple and vivid. His characterizations are lucid and vigorous. And he manages his story easily—setting down the facts clearly and keeping alive the several conflicts that provide a tension which is both human and spiritual."—Brooks Atkinson, N. Y. Times.

BRAND

Ibsen's great poetic drama in a new stage version by James Forsyth. "I welcome the emergence of this vital version of a work which, in its argument, its vision and the form of theatre it implies, is excitingly appropriate to the present time and to current trends in the serious theatre."—Tyrone Guthrie. "Here at last is an English version of 'Brand' that does real justice to Ibsen's most ambitious work."—Plays and Players. Paperbound $1.85

EMMANUEL

"In a time when poetic drama is regarded often as a pretension, Mr. Forsyth has had the courage to tackle it, and the art to use it to give fresh dramatic value to no less a story than the Nativity. . . . He has captured the wonder and glory of that event."—Howard Taubman, N. Y. Times. "It vivifies the Birth as if it were yesterday."—John Rosenfield, Dallas Morning News. Paperbound $1.40

HÉLOÏSE

"It is the story of Abelard and Héloïse, the ill-starred lovers of the twelfth century in France. Mr. Forsyth has told the whole grievous story. But he is not interested in the sensation of love. He is interested in the meaning of love. 'Héloïse' is a drama in which the big themes are purity, thought, truth and God. . . . 'Héloïse' has stature as well as understanding."—Brooks Atkinson, N. Y. Times. "A majestic and powerful work."—N. Y. Herald Tribune. Paperbound $1.50

THE ROAD TO EMMAUS

An Eastertide play in which the simple peoplesurrounding Christ are transformed by the great event of the Resurrection. Paperbound $1.25

THE OTHER HEART

A "chronicle of the life, the passion and the death of the rash young poet François Villon. . . . The scene in which he confronts [Catherine de Vauelles], persuades her, and wins her love, is exquisitely written in lines that utter what all young men feel in love but which only the poet can say. . . . 'The Other Heart' at its best has the significance and conviction of true tragedy."—Elliot Norton, Boston Record American. "It is a play filled with lyric strength, as mocking as it is passionate, bitter as it is filled with human longing."—Boston Traveller, Summer, 1964. Probably $1.55

Dear Reader:

The classics of fiction are reprinted year after year; the classics of non-fiction are all too often out-of-print. This holds true for some of the most important books about the theatre and its allied arts.

We have therefore embarked upon a project to bring the best of theatre books back into print, matching quality of physical format with the excellence of their content.

In addition to reprints (some with very extensive revisions) we will publish entirely new works in our field, concentrating on books which make a significant contribution to one of the most vital of all the arts.

P.S. Some of our titles are listed on the opposite page. Our complete catalog, available upon request, lists many more.

COMMENTS ON OUR LIST:

John Mason Brown: "Let me congratulate you on your list, which includes so many valuable source books on the theatre. You are offering to a new generation a backlog of books indispensable for the building of a theatre library."

George Freedley: "Your project represents a major achievement in theatre publications."

A. Hyatt Mayor: "You are performing an essential service by bringing back into print books which are the back-bone of a mature theatre library. I particularly like your plan to add indexes and notes to many of the reprints, and translating outstanding European titles. [The theatre is fortunate in having a new publishing company which is devoted to the best of its literature."

SHAKESPEARE — From Betterton To Irving
By George C. D. Odell

A record of what happens when geniuses—or hacks—transcribe the written play to the living stage. It includes an analysis of every major production in England and America (c.1700–1900), and should be an essential guide to anyone interested in the acting, costuming, staging . . . and the enjoyment of Shakespeare's Plays. Two volumes, nearly 1000 pages, plus a profusion of illustrations. (ready) $18.50

HENRIK IBSEN, A Critical Study.
By George Brandes

Three essays on Ibsen, one on Björnsön. 235 pages. (April) $6.75

REPRESENTATIVE PLAYS BY AMERICAN DRAMATISTS,
1765-1917

Ed., with intr. by Montrose J. Moses

Three volumes, nearly 2500 pages, containing thirty-two full-length plays, almost none of which are available in other collections. $37.50 per set, or $12.50, $13.50 and $15.00 for individual volumes. (May)

THEATRE DESIGN: A Guide To European Stagecraft
By Bruno Mello

For the first time English-speaking audiences can examine the most up-to-date Continental European theatre techniques, which are fully explained and illustrated in this handsome book. Over 300 pages, with hundreds of drawings. Size 8 x 11.

Price before Sept. 1, 1964 $13.50
Thereafter 15.00

THE THEATRE ADVANCING
By Edward Gordon Craig

The influence of Craig upon modern stagecraft is comparable to that of Stanislavsky upon acting. His books are a challenge and inspiration to those concerned with the theatre as an art form. (ready) $6.50

ANTON CHEKHOV'S LETTERS
On The Short Story, The Drama
And Other Literary Topics.

Ed. & sel. by Louis Friedlander. With a new and lengthy introduction by Prof. Ernest Simmons.

One of the greatest series of letters in the history of literature. Chekhov comments on his own works, the writer's craft, his contemporaries and the theatre of his time. Professor Simmons is one of the foremost Chekhov authorities in the Western world. In his introduction he deals with the art and life of Chekhov as revealed through his correspondence. (May) $6.75

STAGE LIGHTING
By Theodore Fuchs

Universally acclaimed upon its first publication as the most thorough and profound treatise on the subject, it has retained its reputation as among the most indispensable books on the subject. 500 pages, very prof. illus. (ready) $12.50

THE THEATRE OF MARVELS
By Marian Hannah Winter

The theatre of the fantastic reigned supreme in England, France and America during the nineteenth century. It was the age of escapism, with pistol toting villains, heroic rescues, oppressive dungeons, and gravity defying circus & ballet performances. This beautiful book, with its more than 175 reproductions of prints, plus 11 color plates, size 8½ x 11½, is the first to deal fully with this period. An extra set of the color plates will be included (loose), ready for framing.

Price before Aug. 1, 1964 $15.00
Thereafter 17.50

THE COMMEDIA DELL'ARTE: A Study In Italian Popular Comedy.
By Winifred Smith

This is the theatre of Harlequin, Pulcinella, Columbine, and the other stock characters who have entertained audiences in all parts of the world since the sixteenth century. This new edition contains a very large number of unique prints from the renowned collection of David Allen and others. (June) $10.00

DAVIS DIMMER

®

This patented Davis auto-transformer multi-dimmer coil has been the heart of Davis Dimmers for more than seven years. During that time not one has had to be returned for replacement or re-surfacing. The Davis Commutator - type coil replaces flimsy wire windings with silver-plated "C" stampings. This construction is the key to long life and cool operation.

MORE THAN 3,000 DIMMERS

There are more than 3,000 of this new type dimmer coil operating in high school, college, professional and community theatres throughout the United States and Canada.

MONEY SAVERS!

Maintenance costs are almost eliminated because the Davis Dimmer coil is virtually indestructible. Even untamed high school students have been unable to burn one out.

DEPENDABLE PERFORMANCE

With this service record, you know your Davis Dimmer will operate when you need it. You need have no more spoiled performances as a result of dimmer failure.

MORE STATELY MANSIONS

by Eugene O'Neill

Hitherto unpublished, this three-act drama was to have been the fourth in O'Neill's monumental nine-play cycle, A Tale of Possessors Self-Dispossessed, devoted to the saga of an American family from Colonial times to the present day, and the malevolent effect of possessions on their possessors. Only two plays were ever finished—the third play, A Touch of the Poet (A Yale Paperbound $1.25) and its sequel, More Stately Mansions. This drama has been prepared for publication by Karl Ragnar Gierow, its producer in Stockholm in 1962, and Donald Gallup, curator of the O'Neill collection at Yale University

Cloth $7.50; Paper $1.95

LONG DAY'S JOURNEY INTO NIGHT

by Eugene O'Neill

An unflinching dramatic portrayal, written in a time of acute psychological stress, of the playwright himself and those closest to him. Performed all over the world, the play has now been made into a film. "No play O'Neill ever wrote speaks more eloquently to the reader."—Lewis Gannett. Cloth $5.00; Paper $1.45

THE IMAGINATION OF JEAN GENET

by Joseph H. McMahon

The creative imagination of one of the most controversial of modern writers is analyzed here, as seen in his early work, Notre-Dame-des Fleurs and his most recent work, le Balcon, les Nègres, and les Paravents. "The first major literary study of Genet to appear in book form."—Saturday Review. $6.50

Yale University Press  New Haven and London

A STATEMENT OF FACTS

The desire for new stages creates the need for new art forms and services such as my own as consulting designer, first, to the client in explaining the technical philosophy of open staging and my idea of a theatre for him, next, to the architect as he programs the building and draws the plans, then again to my client as he prepares to use the completed facility. My interest in the open stage springs from two observations: first, the proscenium frame stage does not easily contain the newer art forms and playwrighting techniques, and second, picture frame theatres are becoming very costly to build and operate.

Since the amount of my work is approximately the same for each project, my fee is a standard one, $1000, plus travel, payable by installments: $250 upon acceptance of my design proposal; $500 upon the architect's completion of plans; $250 for a five day stagecraft and scene design workshop. Where no theatre is involved, workshops may be contracted for separately.

Architectural firms using my services a second time or more are discounted the initial $250.

This statement of facts is published to save valuable correspondence time and to correct the usual misinformation attendant upon new developments. Lists of publications concerning my work are available.

Letters are welcome, as are visitors to my stagecraft research area in Shreveport.
