The Least of These

Race, Law, and Religion in American Culture

Anthony E. Cook

"Cook's powerful book is a pioneering work that connects legal theory, religious thought, American Studies, and race in a fascinating manner. How refreshing it is to have such a sophisticated legal scholar put forward a progressive religiouspiritual vision of racial and economic justice!"

—Cornel West

Millennium, Messiahs, and Mayhem

Contemporary Apocalyptic Movements

Edited by Tom Robbins and Susan Palmer

"Robbins and Palmer have gathered a number of essays that take a sober look at the phenomenon of apocalypticism in the modern world.... In all of the essays, the authors attempt to show how apocalyptic groups may be defined by their attention to the signs of the millennium and the signs of a messiah, a figure who will draw to a close one epoch and usher in a new one, and the ways in which these dual beliefs often lead to mayhem."

African Muslims in Antebellum America

Transatlantic Stories and Spiritual Struggles

Allan D. Austin

Possessors of strong identities and a powerful faith, African Muslims made an impressive but understudied impact on America. This book explores, via portraits, documents, maps, and texts, the lives of 50 sub-Saharan non-peasant Muslim Africans caught in the slave trade between 1730 and 1860.

Exporting the American Gospel

Global Christian Fundamentalism
Steve Brouwer, Paul Gifford, and Susan D. Rose

"[The authors] have made their case with welcome reality and an impressive... grasp of both the religious and economic dimensions involved."

—Harvey Cox,
World Policy Journal

Changing Conversations

Cultural Analysis and Religious Reflection
Edited by Sheila Greeve Devaney and Dwight N. Hopkins

Emphasizing a commitment to the marginalized perspectives this book presents insightful contributions which show how religion is both embedded in and expressive of concrete social relationships and local realities.

Facing the Mirror

Older Women and Beauty Shop Culture
Frida Kerner Furman

"A respectful and even tender treatment of a large and largely neglected population in our culture: elderly, middle income, middle American women... [Furman's] account is beautifully written, warm."

—Sally B. Purvis

American Religion

Reinventing American Protestantism

Christianity in the New Millennium

DONALD E. MILLER

"A refreshingly honest and personal account, this book is a model for the analysis of religion and contemporary culture and contains important clues as to why many mainline churches are declining while others churches grow."

—Wade Clark Roof, author of A Generation of Seekers

"Everyone interested in the changing face of religion and society will want to read this engaging, empirically grounded, persuasively argued book."

—Robert Wuthnow, author of The Restructuring of American Religion

$27.50 cloth

God's Daughters

Evangelical Women and the Power of Submission

R. MARIE GRIFFITH

"Griffith's deft portrayal is a unique and important contribution to the study of Pentecostal spirituality and a compelling model for the retelling of women's religious experience in 20th-century American culture."

—Margaret Bendroth, author of Fundamentalism and Gender, 1875 to Present

"Vivid, lucid, and well-written."

—Lynn Davidman, author of Tradition in a Rootless World
