

The Association of
AMERICAN UNIVERSITY PRESSES
Directory 1992-1993

The Association of American University Presses has for over fifty years worked to encourage the dissemination of scholarly research and ideas. Today the 109 members of the AAUP annually publish over 8,000 books and more than 500 periodicals. The directory offers a detailed introduction to the structure and publishing programs of AAUP member presses.

Among its useful features are:

- Information on 109 university presses in the U.S., Canada, and overseas
- Complete addresses, phone and fax numbers
- Names and responsibilities of key staff
- Subject area guide, with 136 categories, indicating which presses publish in a given area
- Advice for authors on the submission of manuscripts

Waiting for the Millennium

THE UNITED NATIONS AND THE FUTURE OF WORLD ORDER
BY J. MARTIN ROCHESTER

Rochester examines one of the most challenging puzzles of our time—the global coordination of military, economic, and ecological problem-solving. In the wake of public debate over what role the U.N. will play in the 21st century, Rochester argues that the organization does have the potential to serve as the centerpiece of a “new world order.”

Rivals beyond Trade

America versus Japan in Global Competition

DENNIS J. ENCARNATION

New in Paper! "This important book explains the asymmetries in U.S.-Japan direct investment and suggests practical policy steps to deal with the problem."—Joseph Nye, Harvard Center for International Affairs. $12.95

Rival Capitalists

International Competitiveness in the United States, Japan, and Western Europe

JEFFREY A. HART

"A work of broad empirical sweep, Rival Capitalists synthesizes existing debates about industrial policy in the major capitalist countries in an impressive and comprehensive way."—Stephan Haggard, University of California, San Diego. $39.95 cloth, $16.95 paper

Economic Containment

CoCom and the Politics of East-West Trade

MICHAEL MASTANDUNO

"Economic Containment will be a very important book in the field of East-West trade. It offers a definitive history of CoCom and will be widely read and cited by students and scholars. . . . Indeed, this book will become 'must reading' for all who work in this field."—David Baldwin, Columbia University. $46.50 cloth, $18.95 paper

Democracy at Work

Changing World Markets and the Future of Labor Unions

LOWELL TURNER

New in Paper! "Unambiguously the best and most up-to-date comparison of unionism in Germany and the United States, Democracy at Work focuses on the core industrial relations issue of today, work reform and flexibility."—Wolfgang Streeck, University of Wisconsin, Madison. $12.95

The Paradox of Continental Production

National Investment Policies in North America

BARBARA JENKINS

Should national governments regulate foreign investment? The question is hotly contested in today's international trade debates. Jenkins here addresses this complex issue in a timely account of market relationships among the United States, Canada, and Mexico. $28.50

The Limits of Social Democracy

Investment Politics in Sweden

JONAS PONTUSSON

Pontusson traces the history of Sweden's industrial organization and policy, persuasively demonstrating how the reconciliation of capitalism and social democracy is inherently precarious and unstable. $28.50

Why Nations Cooperate

Circumstance and Choice in International Relations

ARTHUR A. STEIN

New in Paper! "A major achievement. . . . Stein's game-theoretic models . . . are simple and serve only to illuminate an already lucid exposition. . . . Wide ranging, beautifully argued, and eminently accessible, Why Nations Cooperate is a splendid contribution not only to the literature on cooperation and conflict, but international politics in general."—Journal of Politics. $12.95

Moral Vision in International Politics

The Foreign Aid Regime, 1949-1989

David Halloran Lumsdaine

For forty years development assistance has been the largest and steadiest net financial flow to the Third World, far exceeding investment by multinational corporations. Yet fifty years ago aid was unheard of. Investigating this sudden and widespread innovation in the postwar political economy, David Lumsdaine marshals a wealth of historical and statistical evidence to show that aid was based less on donor economic and political interests than on humanitarian convictions.

"David Lumsdaine not only offers an excellent picture of foreign assistance in the postwar period but also demolishes all our unexamined, realist assumptions about the purposes and effects of aid giving."

Engaging the Enemy

Organization Theory and Soviet Military Innovation, 1955-1991

Kimberly Marten Zisk

Did a "doctrine race" exist alongside the much-publicized arms competition between East and West? Using recent insights from organization theory, Kimberly Marten Zisk answers this question in the affirmative. Zisk challenges the standard portrayal of Soviet military officers as bureaucratic actors wedded to the status quo: she maintains that when they were confronted by a changing external security environment, they reacted by producing innovative doctrine. The author's extensive evidence is drawn from newly declassified Soviet military journals, and from her interviews with retired high-ranking Soviet General Staff officers and highly placed Soviet-Russian civilian defense experts.

ASIA-PACIFIC DIPLOMACY

Non-Governmental Organizations and International Relations

Lawrence T. Woods

In Asia-Pacific Diplomacy, Lawrence T. Woods traces the evolution of the Pacific economic cooperation movement by examining the diplomatic contributions of international nongovernmental organizations (INGOs), in particular Pacific Trade and Development Conference (PAFTAD), Pacific Basin Economic Council (PBEC), and Pacific Economic Cooperation (PECC). He also assesses the future diplomatic relevance of the INGOs in light of the recently established Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation (APEC) forum.

RELOCATING MIDDLE POWERS

Australia and Canada in a Changing World Order

Andrew F. Cooper, Richard A. Higgott, and Kim R. Nossal

Relocating Middle Powers provides a fresh perspective on the nature of middle power diplomacy in international politics. The authors argue that the concept of middle power continues to be relevant as the international system is transformed. In four major case studies of Australian and Canadian foreign policy — the amalgamation of the foreign and trade ministries in both countries; the Cairns group; regional economic groupings; and Australia's and Canada's involvement in the Gulf war — the book emphasizes the technical and entrepreneurial leadership of these middle powers which will be crucial for regime-building in the 1990s.

WORLD DEVELOPMENT

THE MULTI-DISCIPLINARY INTERNATIONAL JOURNAL DEVOTED TO THE STUDY AND PROMOTION OF WORLD DEVELOPMENT

Chairman of the Editorial Board: PAUL P. STREETEN

Managing Editor: JANET L. CRASWELL, World Development, The American University, 4400 Massachusetts Ave NW, Washington, DC 20016-8151, USA

World Development is a multi-disciplinary monthly journal of development studies. It seeks to explore ways of improving standards of living, and the human condition generally, by examining potential solutions to problems such as: poverty, unemployment, malnutrition, disease, lack of shelter, environmental degradation, inadequate scientific and technological resources, trade and payments imbalances, international debt, gender and ethnic discrimination, militarism and civil conflict, and lack of popular participation in economic and political life.

Contributions offer constructive ideas and analysis, and highlight the lessons to be learned from the experiences of different nations, societies, and economies. World Development recognizes 'development' as a process of change involving nations, economies, political alliances, institutions, groups, and individuals. Development processes occur in different ways and at all levels: inside the family, the firm and the farm; locally, provincially, nationally, and globally. Our goal is to learn from one another, regardless of nation, culture, income, academic discipline profession or ideology. We hope to set a modest example of enduring global cooperation through maintaining an international dialogue and dismantling barriers to communication.
