

DANIELS' COMMON LAW IN WEST AFRICA

By W. C. EKOW DANIELS, DIPL.O.A.S., LL.M., PH.D., Barrister-at-Law; Solicitor of the Supreme Court of Ghana; Lecturer in Law, University of Ghana.

For anyone concerned with the law in West Africa a knowledge of the English common law system, which has been received as the basis of the legal systems in the Gambia, Sierra Leone, Ghana and Nigeria, is an essential requirement. It is, however, not always appreciated that there are limitations on the application of English law. This new book by a lecturer in the University of Ghana is probably the first to describe these limitations, and at the same time provides a valuable survey of the development of English law in West Africa.

FARRAN'S MATRIMONIAL LAWS OF THE SUDAN

By G. D'OLIVIER FARRAN, B.C.L., M.A. (OXON.), PH.D. (SHEFFIELD), Barrister-at-Law; Lecturer in Law at Brasenose College, Oxford; Head of the Department of International and Comparative Law in the University of Khartoum, 1958-1962.

This new book is not only the first to deal with a particular aspect of the Sudanese legal system, but it is probably the first full length study dealing with the interplay of various legal systems of family law within a single state. Discussing an area which Dr. Farran terms "a microcosm of Africa" where several systems of marriage law operate concurrently—Mohammedan, Christian, Customary and Civil being the most important—this book will appeal not only to practitioners in the Sudan but to all who are interested in the law in Africa.

NWABUEZE'S MACHINERY OF JUSTICE IN NIGERIA

By B. O. NWABUEZE, LL.M. (LOND.), Barrister-at-Law; Lecturer in Law in the University of Lagos; sometime Commonwealth Scholar.

There has been a considerable lack of textbooks catering for the needs of African law students and this new work by a Nigerian lawyer will undoubtedly be given a warm welcome. Giving an historical account of the Nigerian legal system from pre-colonial days to the present, the book continues by providing a penetrating analysis of the judicial system as it now stands. The laws, the courts and the legal profession are all critically discussed and the author puts forward suggestions of his own for possible improvements in the machinery of justice.

Full details on application

BUTTERWORTHS · 88 KINGSWAY · LONDON, W.C.2
Showroom: 11-12 Bell Yard, Temple Bar, W.C.2

OBI ON THE IBO LAW OF PROPERTY

By S. N. CHINWUBA OBI, B.Sc. (Econ.), LL.M., Ph.D. (Lond.), Barrister-at-Law; formerly Research Officer in African Law, School of Oriental and African Studies, University of London.

"This volume is more than a book on the law of property among the Ibo. It is also a contribution to that store of recorded customary law that is now being collected in many lands and many forms. It is, further and incidentally, a contribution to the study of the conflict of laws in emergent societies in Africa. It can be recommended to practitioners and students alike."—International and Comparative Law Quarterly.

Full details on application.

BUTTERWORTHS, 88 KINGSWAY, LONDON, W.C.2
Showroom: 11-12 Bell Yard, Temple Bar, W.C.2

The Muslim and Christian Calendars

G. S. P. FREEMAN-GRENVILLE

This book provides a simple and accurate means of calculating the date according to the Christian calendar from any given date of the Muslim calendar and vice versa. Historians and lawyers are among those who will find it a considerable help in their work. 96 pages, 10s 6d (net in the U.K.)

Oxford University Press

Amen House Warwick Square London EC 4