PRIZES OF THE AMERICAN SOCIETY OF CHURCH HISTORY

The Frank S. and Elizabeth D. Brewer Prize

The Frank S. and Elizabeth D. Brewer Prize, offered annually, is a subsidy of $1000 to assist the author in publishing a book-length manuscript in church history. The Brewer Prize is limited to first books. Manuscripts accepted for publication may be submitted for this award, but the winning manuscript must have printed on its title page, 'The Frank S. and Elizabeth D. Brewer Prize Essay of the American Society of Church History.' The monetary grant will be made to the author. If competing works are of otherwise equal quality, preference will be given to topics relating to the history of Congregationalism. Complete manuscripts in final form must be received by Henry W. Bowden, Secretary, American Society of Church History, P.O. Box 8517, Red Bank, NJ 07701 by 1 November. Manuscripts may not be submitted in more than one ASCH competition. The award will be announced at the Spring meeting of the Society. No award will be made in any year when none of the manuscripts is adjudged to be outstanding.

The Philip Schaff Prize

The Schaff Prize is an award in the amount of $1000 to be paid to the author of the best book originating in the North American scholarly community which presents original research in the history of Christianity or any period thereof. Books considered for the next award must have been published during the year 1991 or 1992. Any member of the Society may nominate titles for consideration for the Schaff Prize. Copies of books nominated do not have to be submitted. Titles nominated for consideration must be received by Henry W. Bowden, Secretary, American Society of Church History, P.O. Box 8517, Red Bank, NJ 07701, by 1 March. The prize will be announced at the annual meeting of the Society in December. Manuscripts may not be submitted in more than one ASCH competition.

The Sidney E. Mead Prize

The Mead Prize is an award in the amount of $250 for the author of the best unpublished essay in any field of church history written by a doctoral candidate or recent recipient whose manuscript stems directly from doctoral research. The manuscript will be published in Church History. Entries of no more than twenty-five double-spaced pages, including double-spaced endnotes, must be submitted to Henry W. Bowden, Secretary, American Society of Church History, P.O. Box 8517, Red Bank, NJ 07701, by 1 July each year. The prize will be announced at the annual meeting of the Society in December. Manuscripts may not be submitted in more than one ASCH competition.

PROPOSALS INVITED FOR RESEARCH PROJECTS IN MISSION AND WORLD CHRISTIANITY

The Overseas Ministries Study Center, New Haven, Connecticut, announces a Research Enablement Program for the advancement of scholarship in studies of Christian Mission and Christianity in Asia, Africa, Latin America, and Oceania. Grants will be awarded on a competitive basis in the following categories:

Field research for doctoral dissertations

Post-doctoral book research and writing projects

Missiological consultations (small scale)

Translation of major works of mission scholarship into English

Oral mission/church history projects (non-Western world)

Planning grants for major interdisciplinary research projects

The Research Enablement Program is designed to foster scholarship that will contribute to the intellectual vitality of the Christian world mission and enhance the worldwide understanding of the Christian movement in the non-Western world. Projects that are cross-cultural, collaborative and interdisciplinary are especially welcome. The deadline for receiving 1994 grant applications is December 1, 1993. “An eloquent tribute to the man who, more than anyone else of his generation, has shaped the study of American religious history.”

—RANDALL BALMER

“A collection that matches the extraordinary range of Martin Marty himself, whose scholarship, energy, and vision have become an academic field almost unto themselves.”

—JON BUTLER

“These superb essays constitute a worthy tribute to a remarkable human being. Martin Marty is a man of many parts: it is the teacher part that here is acknowledged, honored, and embodied in Marty’s very own apostolic succession.”

—EDWIN S. GAUSTAD

“There is a coherence and an integrity to the book which make it required reading by all serious students of American religious history.”

—JERALD C. BRAUER

The Origenist Controversy

The Cultural Construction of an Early Christian Debate

Elizabeth A. Clark

Around the turn of the fifth century, Christian theologians contested each other's orthodoxy by hurling charges of "Origenism" at their opponents. Origen's theology was not the only issue at stake in the Origenist controversy: "Origen" became a code word for nontheological complaints as well.

Elizabeth Clark explores the theological and extra-theological implications of the dispute, uses social network analysis to explain the personal alliances and enmities of its participants, and suggests how it prefigured modern concerns with the status of representation, the social construction of the body, and praxis vis-à-vis theory.

"... an important and distinguished book. . . . indispensable to anyone working on the history of Christian thought in this period or on the history of asceticism, and it will be of interest to anyone concerned with the history of Christian thought in general."—R.A. Markus, Professor Emeritus, University of Nottingham

One Holy and Happy Society

The Public Theology of Jonathan Edwards

GERALD R. McDERMOTT

"This is a learned and persuasive reading of a much neglected aspect of Jonathan Edwards's thought. It is also a sensitive interpretation of Edwards's place in eighteenth-century social and political life. Gerald McDermott argues convincingly for the coherence and force of Edwards's public theology, positioning that argument expertly against the background of historical eighteenth-century political and theological contexts."

To See A Promised Land

Americans and the Holy Land in the Nineteenth Century

LESTER I. VOGEL

"A rich and penetrating chronicle that lovingly unveils a physical tactile Holy Land emerging from the mists of dogma and myth to assume recognizable contours in the consciousness (rather than in the unconscious) of nineteenth-century Christian America. Lester Vogel has given us a splendid blend of scholarship and literary style." —Howard M. Sachar, author of A History of the Jews in America

A Field of Divine Wonders

The New Divinity and Village Revivals in Northwestern Connecticut, 1792-1822

DAVID W. KLING

Winner of The Kenneth Scott Latourette Prize in Religion and Modern History

This history of the Second Great Awakening in Connecticut focuses on the village revivals sparked by Edward Dorr Griffin and his fellow New Divinity ministers—the theological heirs of Jonathan Edwards. A Field of Divine Wonders integrates the history of ideas with newer approaches in historical research—collective biography, modes of discourse, gender studies, social and quantitative history, and local community studies—to supply the kind of "new religious history" that historians have long called for.

A Perfect Freedom

Religious Liberty in Pennsylvania

J. WILLIAM FROST

WITH A NEW PREFACE TO THE PAPERBACK EDITION

"Given the importance of the Pennsylvania story to the development of religious liberty in America, it is surprising—as J. William Frost notes—that this story has received so little attention. Here, at last, we have the vital narrative offered in impressive and illuminating detail."

We see the band of friends, cheerful, united, sanguine, starting together on life's path.

Pass sixty years, we check the list, to find a scattered remnant of survivors, telling sadly of havoc wrought in their train by the storms of life, themselves too often alienated at its close.

But the record of their deeds survives."

—WILLIAM TUCKWELL

Newsome's work is a model of historical biography, a moving portrayal of individual human lives in the widest possible context. It is everything that other religious biographies are not: a graceful work of scholarship in depth."

THE ALBERT C. OUTLER PRIZE IN ECUMENICAL CHURCH HISTORY

The Outler Prize was established to encourage the critical study of ecumenical church history, broadly conceived, and to facilitate the publication of such studies. "Ecumenical" is to be construed as chiefly concerned with the problems of Christian unity-and-disunity (doctrinal, cultural, institutional) in any period of church history; or with interactions between Christianity and other religious movements. Works of a partisan nature are excluded. The following categories are eligible:

- a. Studies, chiefly narrative and critical, of ecumenical church history dealing with historical controversies and divisions, or with notable instances of reconciliation and consensus.
- b. Analyses of church councils, dialogues, and debates, or interactions between Christianity and other religious traditions.
- c. Biographical studies of significant leaders, or of persons whose involvement in ecumenical dialogue and action was noteworthy.
- d. Critical editions (preferably annotated) of significant ecumenical documents.
- e. Bibliographical reviews and evaluations in major areas of ecumenical church history.
- f. Pioneering studies that advance scholarly knowledge and ecumenical understanding.

The prize consists of an award of $1000 to the author and a possible grant of up to $3000 for publication (or in exceptional cases, for necessary expenses in the preparation of a book-length manuscript accepted for publication). The prize will be awarded annually, though no award will be made in any year when none of the manuscripts is adjudged to be outstanding. Manuscripts may not be submitted in more than one ASCH competition. Complete manuscripts in final form must be received by Henry W. Bowden, Secretary, American Society of Church History, P.O. Box 8517, Red Bank, NJ 07701, by 1 June. The prize will be announced at the annual meeting of the Society in December.

THE JANE DEMPSEY DOUGLASS PRIZE

The Douglass Prize is an award in the amount of $250 for the author of the best unpublished essay on some aspect of the role of women in the history of Christianity. The manuscript will be published in Church History. Entries of no more than twenty-five double-spaced pages, including double-spaced endnotes, must be submitted to Henry W. Bowden, Secretary, American Society of Church History, P.O. Box 8517, Red Bank, NJ 07701, by 1 August each year. Manuscripts may not be submitted in more than one ASCH competition. No award will be made in any year when none of the manuscripts is adjudged to be outstanding. The prize will be announced at the annual meeting of the Society in December.
