

Guidance for contributors

We welcome original submissions of international significance, or national significance and international interest, which fall within the scope of the Journal.

The Antiquaries Journal is published annually in hard copy in September with individual papers published online in advance of the hard copy using the Cambridge Core FirstView system. Papers receive a digital object identifier (DOI) and are fully citable from the date of publication on FirstView. Papers can be submitted at any time but 31 December is the deadline for consideration for inclusion in the volume to be published the following September.

As a first step, we ask prospective authors to download, complete and submit a Proposal Form by email to the Editor, Dr Stuart Brookes (sbrookes@sal.org.uk). If then invited to submit a full paper for peer review, authors will be asked to submit text, images and any supplementary material through our online ScholarOne System, through which peer-review, revisions and the submission of final text for publication will be handled (<https://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/antiquaries>). We encourage potential authors to contact the Editor at an early stage in the preparation of research for publication for advice about its suitability for the Journal or the submission process.

Papers for the Journal should be no longer than 10,000 words including captions, footnotes and bibliography. In addition, supporting data such as transcripts and data tables can be made available through Cambridge Core as supplementary material.

The Journal operates double-blind peer-review. Papers will normally be sent to two reviewers who will comment on its suitability for publication. For review purposes your manuscript should not include any names or information identifying authors. The Editor will decide on the basis of the reviewers' comments whether a paper should be accepted for publication as it stands, or with revisions, or not accepted.

Please bear in mind that the journal has a wide audience and that your paper will be read by colleagues whose primary expertise lies in other disciplines. Please write in plain English, using the active voice where possible, and explaining specialist and technical terms for a wider readership.

Detailed guidance on the preparation of papers for publication and on house style (including the style of footnotes and bibliographies) can be found on Cambridge Core at <https://www.cambridge.org/core/journals/antiquaries-journal/information/instructions-contributors>.

Papers

- New hints of metallurgical activity on the Atlantic coast of France in the mid third millennium BC: overview and perspectives on Beaker metallurgy in western Europe 1
Henri Gandois, FSA, Lolita Rousseau, Benjamin Gehres, Cécile Le Carlier, Guirec Querré, Bertrand Poissonnier, and Jean-Maurice Gilbert
- A New Jerusalem ‘at the ends of the earth’: interpreting Charles Thomas’s excavations at Iona Abbey 1956–63 33
Ewan Campbell and Adrián Maldonado
- The Carolingian Cup from the Vale of York Viking Hoard: origins of its form and decorative features 86
Barry Ager, FSA
- Medieval commercial sites: as seen through Portable Antiquities Scheme data 109
Eljas Oksanen, FSA, and Michael Lewis, FSA
- The heraldry of the de Bohun earls 141
Lucia Diaz Pascual
- The Face of Battle? Debating arrow trauma on medieval human remains from Princesshay, Exeter 165
Oliver H Creighton, FSA, Laura Evis, Mandy Kingdom, Catriona J McKenzie, Iain Watt, and Alan K Outram, FSA
- ‘By the impression of my seal’. Medieval identity and bureaucracy: a case study 190
Philippa M Hoskin, FSA, and Elizabeth A New, FSA
- The late thirteenth-century chapter house of Black Friars, London 213
Nick Holder, FSA, and Mark Samuel, FSA
- The medieval sacristy of Westminster Abbey 240
Matthew Payne, FSA, and Richard Foster, FSA
- Fragments of faith: unpicking Archbishop John Morton’s vestments 274
Mary M Brooks, FSA, and Sonia O’Connor, FSA with contributions from Christopher Caple, FSA, C Pamela Graves, FSA, and Anita Quye, FSA
- The timber lodgings of King Henry VIII: Ephemeral architecture at war in the early sixteenth century 304
Alden Gregory
- A little-known collection of Stukeley drawings in the Spalding Gentlemen’s Society 324
John F H Smith, FSA
- Laser scanning Shihrazad’s baths: 1001 tales of Zanzibar nights 340
Laura Basell, FSA, Abdallah Khamis Ali, Ella Egberts, Behnam Firoozi-Nejad, Nicholas Mellor, and Mark Horton, FSA
- Commemoration and improvement: Parramatta St John’s Cemetery, New South Wales, in its context 1788–c 1840 374
Harold Mytum, FSA
- The Taunton Stop Line and its camouflage: the work of Oliver Messel and others in wartime Somerset 408
David Hunt, FSA, and Chris J Webster, FSA
- ‘Sarsen Stones in Wessex’: a Society of Antiquaries project contextualised and renewed 432
Katy A Whitaker, FSA
- Erratum 457
- Reviews 458

Cover image: Fāṭimid map from the anonymous Medieval Islamic manuscript, Kitāb Gharā’ib al-funūn wa-mulāḥ al-’uyūn ‘The Book of Curiosities of the Science, and Marvels for the Eyes’. Photograph: Reproduced with permission of the Bodleian Libraries, University of Oxford.