QUANTITATIVE SOCIAL SCIENCE RESEARCH ON LATIN AMERICA

edited by Robert S. Byars and Joseph L. Love

In this guidebook to research on Latin America, six leading practitioners of quantitative approaches evaluate relevant studies and indicate critical areas for new research in their respective disciplines: Peter H. Smith (history), Robert C. Hunt (social anthropology), George Cowgill (archaeology), Howard L. Gauthier (geography), Clifford Kaufman (political science), and Alejandro Portes (sociology). An appendix describes sixteen data banks in the United States and Latin America and supplies information on the type of studies for which data were collected, the countries and time ranges covered, and the means of access. 272 pages. $8.95

SINNERS AND HERETICS

The Politics of Military Intervention in Latin America

Mauricio Solauñ and Michael A. Quinn

The causes of coups d'état in Latin America are explored in detailed investigations of thirty different coups and contemporary theories of political stability and breakdown. The authors contrast intraclass conflicts enacted by primitive radicals ("sinners") with interclass confrontation enacted by ideological radicals ("heretics"). Drawing from legal theory, they establish optimal requirements for political stability in a democratic context. 288 pages. $8.95

LATIN AMERICAN MODERNIZATION PROBLEMS

Case Studies in the Crises of Change

edited by Robert E. Scott

Eight in-depth probes of specific problems, ranging from a Brazilian factory worker's political values through the legal maze of Colombia's land reform to a critique of nation-building efforts by military regimes in Latin America, show just how technology and its unintended side effects overburden the social, economic, and political structures. This interdisciplinary study analyzes the realities of modernization and urbanization in human and institutional terms. 373 pages. $12.50

Latin America and the United States

The Changing Political Realities

JULIO COTLER AND RICHARD R. FAGEN, EDITORS. It is clear today that the realities of Latin America are changing more rapidly than knowledge about those realities, that Latin America can no longer be understood as merely the shadow cast by the Colossus of the North. In an effort to explore the nature of these relations, a group of distinguished social scientists present twenty-two papers covering such topics as the politics of the multinational corporation, military elites and military thinking, and the sources of U.S. foreign policy. Paper, $4.95^x; cloth, $18.75

American Corporations and Peruvian Politics

Charles T. Goodsell

Based on first-hand research, this book is a dispassionate and thorough study of the political consequences of United States-owned enterprises in a developing nation. The author does not perceive either grossly imperialistic domination by the U.S. interests or politically innocent negotiation.

Western Historical Quarterly

announces the

Herbert Eugene Bolton Award in Spanish Borderlands History

Award Prize of $300

A cash prize of $300 is awarded to the author of the best article, in the opinion of the judges, submitted to the Western Historical Quarterly on any phase of the history of the Spanish Borderlands, that region reached by the northern thrust of the Spanish in North America, from the Floridas to the Californias, from the fifteenth century to the present day. Essays are preferred on major political, economic, and social developments, cultures, peoples, institutions, and movements, including the great northward movement of Mexicans into the United States in the twentieth century. Broad essays of synthesis or new interpretations are encouraged.

The winning essay will be published in the Western Historical Quarterly. Manuscripts should be from 5,000 to 7,500 words, type-written in conformity with the editorial style of WHQ, and submitted by September 1, 1974, for the 1974 award. The winner will be announced at the 1974 Western History Association conference and in the January 1975 issue of WHQ. If in the opinion of the judges no manuscript merits the prize, no prize will be given that year. The monetary prize is made through the generosity of Lawrence Kinnaird, Professor Emeritus of History, University of California, Berkeley.

Brazilian Serial Documents

A Selective and Annotated Bibliography

By Mary Lombardi

The 1350 entries of Brazilian serial documents listed in this volume are complete through 1971. Since the Brazilian government is one of the chief publishers, and entries are arranged by issuing agencies, the guide can also serve as a reference to Brazilian government organizations. An invaluable research tool.

CLAIMS

Claims for missing numbers should be made within 90 days following the regular month of publication. The Latin American Research Review will supply missing copies free only when losses have been sustained in transit. Claims cannot be honored beyond one year from date of publication of the issue.

MOVING?

Each February, June, and October some copies of LARR are returned to the office because subscribers did not provide for the forwarding of third class mail. The cost to the Latin American Research Review of each such return and the additional expense for forwarding now runs close to $1.00. Therefore, beginning with Volume VII:1 (February 1972), any copy of LARR returned to us because of an undeclared change of address will not be sent out again from our office unless the addressee sends $1.00 to cover the cost of handling. In order to avoid the charge, please notify us immediately of your change of address when you move.

EDITORIAL ANNOUNCEMENT

The LATIN AMERICAN RESEARCH REVIEW will be moved as of September 1, 1974, from the University of Texas at Austin to the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. This change is based on the decision of the Executive Council of the Latin American Studies Association to accept the bid of the University of North Carolina, in order that LARR, which was founded and has been published for nine years at the University of Texas, may hereafter move in a five-year cycle among different universities, as is the practice with other scholarly journals.

The new editors of LARR will be Professor John D. Martz, Editor, and Professor Joseph S. Tulchin, Associate Editor.
