

People in Political Science

New Appointments

Stephen Chilton, assistant professor, New Mexico State University (Las Cruces); formerly of the Congressional Research Service and M.I.T.

Jeanne-Marie Col, assistant professor, Public Administration Program and Illinois Legislative Studies Center, Sangamon State University; formerly of State University of New York at Albany.

W. Douglas Costain, assistant professor, Colorado State University.

Patricia Dunham, assistant professor, Duquesne University.

Robert Durant, assistant professor, New Mexico State University (Las Cruces); formerly of the University of Tennessee's Bureau of Public Administration.

Judith L. Goldstein, assistant professor, Stanford University.

Betty B. Hardee, research associate, The Capstone Poll, The University of Alabama; formerly of Randolph-Macon College.

Stuart Hill, acting assistant professor, University of California, Davis.

R. Robert Huckfeldt, assistant professor, University of Notre Dame; formerly of Louisiana State University.

Stephen D. Krasner, professor, Stanford University.

John W. Limbert, FS-02, political officer at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran and former hostage, joined the U.S. Naval Academy faculty in August.

Valerie J. Loeffler, instructor, Colorado State University.

Gale A. Mattox, assistant professor, U.S. Naval Academy; formerly visiting lecturer at Trinity College and Mary Washington.

Gary Mattson, instructor, New Mexico State University (Las Cruces); formerly of the College of Urban Affairs and Public Policy at the University of Delaware.

W. Wesley McDonald, assistant professor, Elizabethtown College; formerly visiting professor.

Wayne V. McIntosh, assistant professor, Texas A&M University; formerly of Washington University in St. Louis.

Terry M. Moe, assistant professor, Stanford University.

Joseph Pika, assistant professor, University of Delaware; formerly at State University of New York-Buffalo.

Laurie A. Rhodebeck, instructor, University of Notre Dame.

Marie B. Rosenberg-Dishman, Director, Public Administration Graduate Program, Eastern Washington University; formerly at New England College, Public Policy and Management Division.

Otis H. Stephens has been named a Lindsay Young Professor in Political Science at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville. Lindsay Young, a prominent University of Tennessee graduate, established in 1979 three professorships in the College of Liberal Arts to be awarded to professors who are outstanding in both teaching and research.

Jack Van Der Slik, professor and senior scholar in the Illinois Legislative Studies Center; formerly Academic Dean of Trinity Christian College, Palos Heights, Illinois.

William F. West, assistant professor, Texas A&M University; formerly of West Virginia University.

Charles W. Wiggins, professor and M.P.A. coordinator, Texas A&M University; formerly of Iowa State University.

Activities

Walter E. Beach has been elected Treasurer of the D.C. Democratic Party State Committee and reelected as Vice Chairman of the Board of Trustees of Mount Vernon College.

George I. Balch has extended his leave of absence from the University of Illinois at Chicago Circle on an 80 percent basis to continue with his research at Needham, Harper, and Steers, Inc. during 1982-82.

Marshall Berman, Guggenheim Fellow, 1981-82, CUNY.

Randolph L. Braham, winner, National Jewish Book Award, 1980-81. Director, Jack P. Eisner Institute for Holocaust Studies, Graduate Center of the City University of New York.

Stephen J. Brams of New York University is a member of the Council of the Consortium for Mathematics and Its Applications.

David Bresnick, professor of public administration at Baruch College, CUNY, has been appointed Director of the newly established Center for Management Development and Organization Research. Bresnick has taught in the Department of Political Science and Public Administration at Baruch College since 1972. The Center will work with both public and private sector organizations in developing state of the art management training programs and undertaking organizational research. Among the programs offered at the Center are a Certificate in Human Services Management comprising seven 12-hour modules in the areas of Effective Communications, Staff Development, Performance Standards, Analytic Management, Information Systems, Fiscal Systems and Advocacy.

Carl Q. Christol, professor of international law and political science, University of Southern California, received the 1981 Certificate of the International Institute of Space Law, International Astronautical Federation, for distinguished contributions to the development of international law at its meeting in Rome, September, 1981.

Kenneth N. Ciboski, associate professor, Wichita State University, was an NEH Fellow at N.Y.U., Summer, 1981. He was a participant in Louis Koenig's seminar on the American Presidency, a two-month session held during the summer of 1981. Ciboski also attended the Congressional Quarterly seminar on the Budgetary Process in Congress in June, 1981.

Larry J. Cohen is on leave of absence from the University of Illinois at Chicago Circle during 1981-82. He is doing research at the American Institute for Research in Washington, D.C.

The Department of Political Science, Auburn University, has established an endowed scholarship fund in honor of Charles Nolan Fortenberry, professor and Political Science Department Head Emeritus. The fund will provide an annual merit scholarship for a first-year student majoring in political science. Fortenberry was Chairman of the University of Mississippi Department of Political Science from 1958-68 and Head of the Department of Political Science at Auburn University from 1968-79. A distinguished professional, a progressive, and a genuinely selfless and personable individual, Fortenberry served two southern institutions of higher learning for some 33 years. Generations of students, the discipline, and the institutions themselves are indebted to him for his many contributions. The Department of Political Science at Auburn University is pleased to announce the establishment of the Charles Nolan Fortenberry Political Science Scholarship Fund.

Charles R. Foster, Committee on Atlantic Studies, under a Swedish government bicentennial grant, studied bilingual educational programs for immigrant children in Sweden, September 19-October 4. October 4-6 he participated in the annual East-West colloquium at Haus Rissen International Research Institute in Hamburg. October 8-10 he attended the 14th annual meeting of the Committee on Atlantic Studies in Courmayeur, Italy. October 10-14 he attended as an observer on the U.S. delegation the North Atlantic Assembly in Munich. October 16 he gave an address to education planning society of Hesse on the topic of "Intercultural Education—New Directions?" October 17-20 he was rapporteur for political-military sections of the Conference on Differences in Similarities, Europe and America in Nie, France sponsored by the European Integration Institute of the University of Nice. On his return to the United States he chaired a panel on ethnic violence at the ISA-South meeting in Gainesville, prior to returning to Europe on November 26 for the keynote address to the Conference on European Minorities at St. Vincent, Val d'Aosta, Italy.

The Council for European Studies (CES) Steering Committee is pleased to announce the election of M. Donald Hancock as Co-Chair of CES (1981-84). Donald Hancock served on the Council's Executive Committee in the mid-1970s and chaired the program committee for the second Conference of Europeanists. Currently, he chairs the committee on Workshops. He is professor of political science at Vanderbilt University and chair of the newly formed Center for European Studies at Vanderbilt. His interests include socioeconomic and political developments in Scandinavia and Germany. He is the author of Sweden: The Politics of Postindustrial Change (1972, and newly revised) and The German Model of Advanced Industrial Society: Development, Performance and Prospects (1981) as well as numerous articles and essays.

Thomas G. Ingersoll, professor, West Virginia University, is on leave during the 1981-82 academic year. He is serving as a full-time consultant with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

Kenneth Janda, Department Chair at Northwestern University, was elected at the 1981 APSA Convention to chair the continuing subfield, "Parties and Other Political Organizations." He succeeds John Bibby (University of Wisconsin at Milwaukee), who chaired the subfield since its formation at the 1979 Convention by Kay Lawson (San Francisco State University) who continues as Secretary. POPO has a membership of about 200 scholars interested in non-governmental groups that affect government policy.

The subfield publishes a directory of members classified by subject specialties and issues a newsletter announcing conference activities on political parties and other organizations. Dues in POPO are $3 annually. Prospective members are invited to apply to Kenneth Janda, Department of Political Science, Northwestern University, Evanston, Illinois 60201.

Yung-hwan Jo, professor, Arizona State University, has returned from a year's leave at Keio University, Tokyo, Japan as the recipient of a Fulbright-Hays Senior Award for Lecturing on Chinese Political Economy and Research in Pacific Studies.

Lyman A. Kellstedt has resigned from the University of Illinois at Chicago Circle to accept appointment at Wheaton College, Wheaton, Illinois.

Melvin Kulbicki, assistant professor of political science at York College of Pennsylvania, was elected to a three-year term on the executive board of The East-Central Region of The American Society for Eighteenth Century Studies.

Honorable Daniel Patrick Moynihan was presented with the twelfth Higher Education Writer's Award of the American Association of University Professors.

Sophia Peterson, professor, West Virginia University, is on leave during the spring semester 1981-82. She is in England doing research on sex discrimination in higher education in Britain.

John W. Ryan, president of Indiana University, has been elected chairman of the Association of American Universities. He was elected to the prestigious position at the October 20 meeting of the association in Austin, Texas. President Ryan will be assisted by William Danforth, chancellor of Washington University in St. Louis, vice chairman; and Terry Sanford, president of Duke University, past chairman. President Ryan is a former president and member of the national executive committee of the American Society for Public Administration. In 1975 he was elected to membership in the National Academy of Public Administration and is a member of the American Political Science Association and the Association for Asian Studies.

Donna E. Shalala, President, Hunter College, City University of New York, has been elected a Director and Treasurer of the Social Science Research Council.

President Ronald Reagan has nominated Hoover Institution senior fellow Richard F. Staar as U.S. Ambassador to head the Mutual and Balanced Force Reduction negotiations in Vienna, Austria. He will take leave-of-absence from Stanford University to negotiate with Soviet and Eastern European diplomats on reduction of conventional armed forces of the Warsaw Pact and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization facing one another in Central Europe. The nomination is subject to confirmation hearings by the U.S. Senate.

Raymond E. Wolfinger, department of political science, University of California, Berkeley, has been elected as a council member for the first district of the American Association of University Professors.

West Virginia University has received a grant of $142,000 from the U.S. Department of Education for a two-year project in faculty and course development in international studies serving 17 institutions of higher education in West Virginia. Dr. Sophia Peterson is project director.

Visiting and Temporary Appointments

Weston H. Agor is serving as visiting professor at the Center for Public Policy and Administration at California State University, Long Beach for the academic year 1981-82.

Thomas Bossert, visiting assistant professor, Dartmouth College, summer, fall, and winter.

William S. Corlett, Jr., assistant professor, Bates College, 1981-82.

Arthur Cyr, vice president of the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations, will be a lecturer at University of Illinois at Chicago Circle during the winter quarter 1982.

Alex N. Dragnich was appointed distinguished lecturer in politics for the winter term at Washington and Lee University.

David Easton of the University of Chicago will be distinguished visiting professor at the University of Arizona in the spring semester, 1981-82.

Henry Ehrmann, visiting professor, Dartmouth College, spring.

Theodore Eismeier, visiting assistant professor, Dartmouth College, winter.

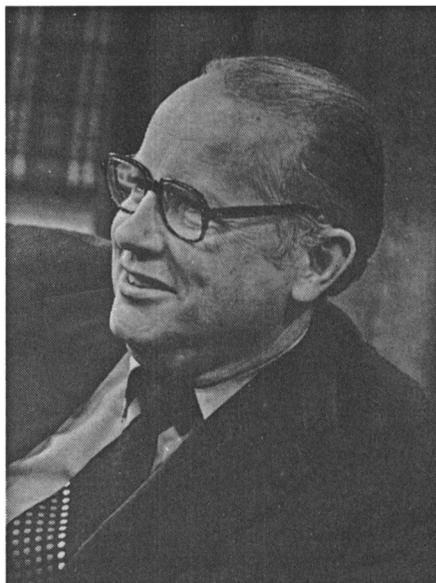

Robert Faulkner, visiting professor, Dartmouth College, fall.

Joyce Gelb, visiting associate professor, Barnard College, spring 1981.

Bradford T. Greene, visiting associate professor, West Virginia University; formerly research analyst, government of the District of Columbia.

Samuel M. Hines, Jr., College of Charleston, has been named as a post-doctoral fellow at the Center for Biopolitical Research, Northern Illinois University, for the 1981-82 year.

Vicky Howell-Martinez, assistant professor, Wichita State University; formerly of the University of Mississippi, one-year replacement for James W. Sheffield, now visiting professor at the University of New Orleans.

John W. Ryan, President of Indiana University, is chairman of the Association of American Universities.

Rasma Karklins has been re-appointed visiting assistant professor at the University of Illinois at Chicago Circle.

John Kayser, visiting associate professor, Dartmouth College, winter and spring.

Samuel Kernell, visiting associate professor, Dartmouth College, fall.

James Lebovic, visiting assistant professor, New Mexico State University (Las Cruces); formerly of the Program for International Political Economy Research at the University of Southern California.

James Mayall, visiting professor, Dartmouth College, spring.

James Mittelman, visiting associate professor, Columbia University, spring 1981.

Karen Rosenblum-Cale is visiting assistant professor at the University of Arizona during the academic year, 1981-82.

Philip Schrodt, Northwestern University, will serve as visiting assistant professor during winter and spring quarters 1982, University of California, Davis.

James N. Schubert, Alfred University, has been named as a post-doctoral fellow at the Center for Biopolitical Research, Northern Illinois University, for the 1981-82 year.

Catherine Shaw, lecturer for winter term 1982, University of Michigan.

Myungsoon Shin, visiting assistant professor, Bradley University, 1981-82.

William R. Thompson of Florida State University will be visiting professor at the University of Arizona in the spring semester, 1981-82.

Ilter Turan of the Faculty of Economics, University of Istanbul, is visiting professor at the University of Arizona during the academic year, 1981-82.

Laurie Wasserman has been appointed lecturer at the University of Illinois at Chicago Circle for winter and spring quarters 1982.

John J. Weltman, Senior Research Fellow in International Relations, The Australian National University, will be a visiting scholar at the Institute of War and Peace Studies, Columbia University, December 1981-March 1982.

Elliot Zashin has been appointed visiting associate professor for 1981-82 at the University of Illinois at Chicago Circle.

Administrative Appointments

Frederic A. Bergerson, chairman, Department of Political Science, Whittier College.

James Blessing, associate professor, has been named chairman of the Political Science Department at Susquehanna University.

David J. Danelski, Director of Graduate Studies, Stanford University.

Heinz Eulau, chair, Department of Political Science, Stanford University.

Thomas G. Fuechtmann, assistant professor, has been appointed Director of the Wood Institute for Local and Regional Studies, Lake Forest College.

John S. Hall, Director, Center for Urban Studies, Arizona State University.

Ronald M. Labbe, head, Department of Political Science, University of Southwestern Louisiana.

Frederick A. Lazin, senior lecturer in political science has been appointed Director of the Hubert Humphrey Center of Social Ecology of the Faculty of Social Sciences and Humanities at Ben-Gurion University, Beersheva, Israel.

Michael McBride has been appointed part-time Director of Advisement at Whittier College.

James W. McKenney, associate professor, Wichita State University, was elected Chairman of the Political Science Department.

Rita Moniz, Administrative Director of Women's Studies, Southeastern Massachusetts University.

Mark Nadel has been appointed Director of the Public Management Study Center of the Battelle Human Affairs Research Centers, Washington Operations. Nadel was formerly Group Director of the Program Analysis Division, U.S. General Accounting Office.

Lawrence K. Pettit, formerly Commissioner of Higher Education (Chancellor), Montana University System, has been appointed Assistant Commissioner for Senior Colleges and Universities, Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System.

Promotions

David B. Abernethy, professor, Stanford University.

Larry Berman, associate professor, University of California, Davis.

Steve Chan, associate professor, Texas A&M University.

George Edwards, professor, Texas A&M University.

Richard Eribes, associate professor of public affairs, Arizona State University.

Michael Gant, assistant professor, Texas A&M University.

Jerry Goldman, associate professor, Northwestern University.

Jerrold D. Green, assistant professor, University of Michigan.

Susan E. Howell, associate professor, University of New Orleans.

Thomas G. Ingersoll, associate professor, West Virginia University.

Charles Johnson, associate professor, Texas A&M University.

Ronald M. Labbe, professor, University of Southwestern Louisiana.

James Lester, assistant professor, Texas A&M University.

Sarah F. Liebschutz, professor, State University of New York, College at Brockport.

Lynn Mather, associate professor, Dartmouth College.

Michael McBride, professor, Whittier College.

Donald C. Menzel, professor, West Virginia University.

David W. Neubauer, professor, University of New Orleans.

Robert A. Pakenham, professor, Stanford University.

Donald J. Reaves, assistant professor, Northeastern University.

James W. Sheffield, Jr., associate professor, Wichita State University.

Randolph M. Siverson, professor, University of California, Davis.

Paul M. Sniderman, professor, Stanford University.

L. A. Wilson II, associate professor of public affairs, Arizona State University.

Retirements

Paul P. Van Riper, Professor Emeritus, Texas A&M University.

Award Recipients

Russell Sage Scholars

Eleven social scientists have been named Russell Sage Scholars and Fellows for 1982. The Russell Sage Foundation is a national grant-making foundation and also New York City's oldest independent center for social science research.

Russell Sage Scholars are selected from a roster of the nation's distinguished social scientists. Russell Sage Fellows, who are younger postdoctoral researchers nominated by senior scholars in universities or research institutes, are selected in a national competition.

The appointments and research subjects are as follows: