

NEWS AND NOTES

PERSONAL AND MISCELLANEOUS

Compiled by the Managing Editor

Managing Editorship of the Review. The Committee on the American Political Science Review, of which Professor V. O. Key, Jr., now of Yale University, is chairman, submitted a unanimous report on May 5, 1949. After a thorough canvass of the situation created by the impending retirement of Professor Frederic A. Ogg as Managing Editor, the report proposed Professor Taylor Cole, of Duke University, as the new Managing Editor. This report was submitted to the officers of the Association and the members of the Executive Council, and Professor Cole's appointment has been unanimously approved. Professor Cole has accepted and will assume the editorship of the REVIEW on January 1, 1950. The recommendations in the report that the REVIEW thereafter appear quarterly instead of bimonthly and proposals concerning editorial assistance and financial arrangements were approved by a large majority. The report also made recommendations concerning editorial organization, editorial tenure, and editorial policy. These matters will be considered at the annual meeting. In announcing this transition in the editorship of the REVIEW, the officers of the Association and the Executive Council wish to express the appreciation of the Association for Professor Ogg's long and devoted service and to congratulate the Association on obtaining Professor Cole, whose distinguished work as editor of the Journal of Politics is well known, to carry on his work. In addition to Professor Key, members of the Committee are Professors Robert E. Cushman (Cornell University), Robert J. Harris (Louisiana State University), Peter H. Odegard (University of California), Benjamin F. Wright (Harvard University), and Dean Paul H. Appleby (Syracuse University).—QUINCY WRIGHT, President, American Political Science Association.

During the spring quarter, Professor Edward S. Corwin delivered a series of three lectures at the University of Minnesota.

On July 1, Dr. V. O. Key, Jr., of Johns Hopkins University, became Alfred Cowles professor of government and chairman of the department of political science at Yale University.

During the past summer, Professors Carl J. Friedrich, of Harvard University, and Maure Goldschmidt, of Reed College, were visiting members of the political science staff at the University of Washington.

Dr. Joseph E. McLean, formerly associated with the Princeton Surveys, has been appointed assistant professor in the department of politics at Princeton for the purpose of developing a program in local government.

Professor Lane W. Lancaster, of the University of Nebraska, taught at Yale

University during the past year and in 1949-50 will teach at the University of California.

During May, Mr. Wilson W. Wyatt delivered six Walgreen Foundation lectures at the University of Chicago on the subject, "By the People: Six Challenges for the Fifties."

Dr. Robert H. Connery, of the University of Illinois, has accepted a professorship in the field of public administration at Duke University and will enter upon his new duties in the fall.

Professor Klaus Knorr will be on leave from Yale University during 1949-50 to teach at the University of Geneva, where he will be visiting professor of international economics.

Professor Edgar S. Furniss, Jr., of Yale University, taught in the recent summer session at Johns Hopkins University.

At Cornell University, Dr. Clinton L. Rossiter, III, has been advanced to the rank of associate professor.

Professor Luther J. Lee will be on leave from Pomona College during the coming academic year, serving as assistant field director of the Committee for Economic Development.

During the past summer, Dr. Kenneth C. Snyder, of Alfred University, gave courses in American government at Colgate University.

At the University of Virginia, Dr. Edward S. Overman has been appointed associate professor of political science, and will continue to serve as research associate in the bureau of public administration.

During the recent summer session at the University of Cincinnati, courses in American government were given by Professor John J. George, of Rutgers University.

At Columbia University, Messrs. Lawrence H. Chamberlain and Franz Neumann have been advanced to full professorships.

Mr. Arthur C. Banks, Jr., formerly of Moorehouse College, and recent holder of a Julius Rosenwald Fellowship at Johns Hopkins University, has been appointed assistant professor at Fisk University.

Mr. Ralph A. Straetz, graduate student at the University of Illinois during the past two years, has been appointed to an instructorship at Miami University where he will take the place of Mr. Louis H. Douglas, recently made head of the government section of the history and government department at Kansas State College.

Mr. David W. Smith, graduate student at the University of Utah, has accepted an instructorship in history and political science at Montana State University.

At the University of Texas, Messrs. William S. Livingston and James R. Roach, who are completing their graduate work at Yale and Harvard, respectively, have been appointed assistant professors. Dr. Felix A. Nigro has resigned to accept a position in the School of Public Administration at the University of Puerto Rico.

At George Washington University, Dr. Arthur E. Burns has been appointed dean of the School of Government. He has acted as dean since July, 1946, when Dean William C. Johnstone took a position with the Department of State in India. Dr. Johnstone, who now holds the position of director of the Office of Education Exchange, Department of State, will remain on the University's staff as professional lecturer.

At the University of Missouri, Dr. Robert F. Karsch has been promoted to an associate professorship. Visiting staff members during the summer session were Dr. Robert Dishman of Dartmouth College, Dr. Jack Peltason of Smith College, and Mrs. Hazel Tutt Long of William Woods College.

Mr. Harold L. Enarson, of Whittier College (California), has been appointed acting assistant professor at Stanford University and will give courses in public administration.

Professors C. Herman Pritchett and Charles M. Hardin, of the University of Chicago, gave addresses at the National Emergency Conference on Resources held in Washington, D. C., May 12-14.

At the University of Pennsylvania, Professor Charles C. Rohlifing has requested that he be relieved of the departmental chairmanship in order to devote more time to writing and research. He will be succeeded by Associate Professor Norman D. Palmer.

Dr. Andrew Gyorgy, of Yale University, has accepted an associate professorship at Louisiana State University, where he will teach courses in international relations and comparative government. During the summer, he conducted a group of Yale students on a Mediterranean Study Tour, visiting Italy, Greece, and Turkey for a study of their political development.

At Ohio State University, a "Henry Russell Spencer Fund in Political Science" has been announced, to be employed in establishing a series of lectures in political science, to finance one or more fellowships for outstanding students in the field, or for other purposes formulated by an administrative board to be appointed by Ohio State's president. Professor Spencer retired during the past summer.

Professor Walter R. Sharp, of the College of the City of New York, will be on leave during the academic year 1949-50 to serve as chief of the International Collaboration Division of the Secretariat of UNESCO in Paris. Professor Sharp's primary responsibility will be to plan studies of current problems of international organization by social scientists in various countries under the sponsorship of UNESCO and coöperating research groups.

Professor Percy E. Corbett returned to Yale University in July after serving as visiting professor at the London School of Economics and Political Science during the spring term.

Dr. Emmette S. Redford was on leave from the University of Texas during the second semester for purposes of research.

At the University of Delaware, Dr. Felix Oppenheim, chairman of the department of political science, has been promoted to an associate professorship and Dr. Paul Dolan to an assistant professorship.

During the spring quarter, Professor Harold S. Quigley, of the University of Minnesota, participated in a seminar of the Center for Japanese Studies at the University of Michigan.

In June, Professor Asher N. Christensen, of the University of Minnesota, lectured and conducted a round table at the twelfth Latin-American Institute at the University of Oklahoma.

The Laboratory for the Social Sciences at the University of Minnesota has received a grant of $90,300 for a three-year period from the Carnegie Corporation.

Dr. Russell R. Elliott, of the Southern Oregon College of Education, has been appointed assistant professor of history and political science at the University of Nevada to take the place of the late Philip G. Auchampaugh.

Professor Eric Bellquist, of the University of California, has accepted an appointment as Public Affairs Officer for the State Department at the American Embassy in Stockholm.

At the University of New Mexico, Dr. Paul Kelso has been promoted to the rank of associate professor.

During the coming year, Professor Thomas P. Jenkin, of the University of California (Los Angeles), will be abroad on sabbatical leave.

Professor J. Roland Pennock, of Swarthmore College, taught during the summer in the Claremont Summer Session, sponsored by the Associated Colleges.

Professor Roger H. Soltau, of the American University at Beirut, is serving as visiting professor at Stanford University during the summer quarter. An authority on the history and politics of the Middle East and on the politics of contemporary France, he is giving courses on international relations and contemporary European governments.

At the University of Chicago, Dr. Hans J. Morgenthau has been promoted to the rank of full professor, effective in the fall. He also has been elected a member of the executive council of the American Society of International Law and has been appointed consultant to the State Department to advise with the Policy Planning Staff on long-range problems of American foreign policy.

Dr. Karl C. Leebrick, vice-president and professor of government at the University of Hawaii, assisted the Inspector-General of the Navy, Rear Admiral Harry R. Thurber, in January in an inspection of the Trust Territories of the United States in the Pacific area. Dr. Leebrick is alternate member for the United States on the South Pacific Commission and a member of the Educational Advisory Commission under the Department of the Navy for Guam and the Trust Territories.

On May 27, the graduate alumni of the department of history and international relations at Clark University presented a book of essays to Professor George Hubbard Blakeslee at a dinner in his honor. Professor Blakeslee, who retired from his position as head of the department in 1943, is now with the Far Eastern Commission in Washington. The book, written by Clark graduate alumni, is entitled Essays in History and International Relations in Honor of George Hubbard Blakeslee, and was edited by Dr. Dwight E. Lee, of Clark University, and Professor George E. McReynolds, of the University of Connecticut.

Dr. Adolf Sturmthal, of Bard College, has been awarded a Social Science Research Council grant to assist in completing a study of current developments in the European labor movement, and also has been appointed special consultant on labor problems to the Rand Corporation.

After completing their residence work for the doctorate at Johns Hopkins University, Mr. Merrill R. Goodall has been appointed assistant professor at the University of Colorado, Mr. Arthur C. Banks, Jr., assistant professor at Fisk University, and Mr. Lloyd D. Musolf, instructor at Vassar College.

Dr. Roger S. Abbott, instructor at the University of Michigan, has been granted a leave of absence for the year 1949-50 to accept a traveling fellowship from the Doherty Foundation at Princeton University and will study the contemporary structure and functioning of the national government of Chile.

Under a grant from the University Research Fund at Princeton University, Professor Marver H. Bernstein is engaged in research during the summer at Washington, D. C., and other American cities in the field of public administration.

Mr. Kenneth Vines, part-time instructor at the University of Minnesota, has been appointed to an instructorship at Tulane University, and Mr. Robert Morlan, to an assistant professorship at the University of Redlands. Mr. Donald Shea, assistant, has received an appointment as instructor at the University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee branch.

Dr. Ralph J. D. Braibanti, who received his doctorate in June from Syracuse University, has been appointed assistant professor at Kenyon College. He will offer courses in governments of Asia, Far Eastern politics, public administration, and intergovernmental relations. During the summer he taught at Utica College of Syracuse University.

Dr. Earl O. Kline, of Princeton University, has been appointed assistant professor at The Citadel, Charleston, S. C., and Dr. Richard H. Leach at Georgia Institute of Technology, Atlanta.

Professor Albert L. Sturm, of West Virginia University, taught at Pennsylvania State College during the main summer session and offered courses in American government and public administration.

Dr. Channing Liem, formerly of Princeton University, and more recently with the American Occupation Forces in Korea, has been appointed assistant professor at Pennsylvania State College.

Dr. William W. Marvel, of Princeton University, has been appointed to an instructorship in international relations at Yale University.

At Yale University, Mr. Ivo Duchacek will serve as visiting lecturer in political science during 1949-50, and Mr. William W. Kaufmann will teach and also hold a research assistantship in the field of international relations.

I r. Charles F. Spencer, during the past year acting president of East Central State College, Ada, Oklahoma, was in June elected to the presidency of the institution. His training in political science was received at the University of Wisconsin.

Professor Rollin B. Posey, of Northwestern University, has been named head of the Chicago Crime Commission's committee on prisons and parole.

In September, Dr. Roy C. Macridis, formerly of Harvard University, will join the political science staff at Northwestern University with the rank of assistant professor.

Professor William H. Simpson, of Duke University, spent seven weeks during June and July studying conditions in the textile industry in England.

In accordance with the principle of rotation, Professor Harold Sprout has succeeded Professor George A. Graham as chairman of the department of politics at Princeton University.

At Princeton University, Dr. William Ebenstein has been promoted to a full professorship.

Professor M. Henry Wells, of Yale University, spent the summer teaching at the University of Puerto Rico.

Dr. Robert Strausz-Hupé, of the University of Pennsylvania, spent the summer in research work in Europe.

Dr. Eduard A. Táborský, visiting lecturer at the University of Texas during the second semester, will serve in that capacity also during 1949-50.

Newly appointed instructors at Princeton University include Messrs. Edgar Lane and William M. Beaney from the University of Michigan, Ned Joy from the University of California (Berkeley), and John L. Chase (for the second term of 1949-50).

With both Professors Walter R. Sharp and John D. Millett out of the country, President Quincy Wright has appointed Professor Charles S. Ascher, of Brooklyn College, chairman of the local arrangements committee of the American Political Science Association for the next annual meeting.

Professor Leslie Lipson has been granted a year's leave of absence from Swarthmore College to serve as visiting lecturer in comparative government during 1949-50 at the University of California (Berkeley).

On July 14, a dinner meeting of Occidental College's Third Annual Conference on "Our World in Crisis" was addressed by Professor James K. Pollock, of the University of Michigan, on the topic, "Are We Winning the Battle of Germany?". The Conference director was Professor Richard F. Reath, of Occidental.

During July, the University of Tulsa announced the establishment of H. O. McClure chairs of American history and American government, endowed for seventy-four years by Mr. and Mrs. H. O. McClure, pioneer Tulsa residents. The McClures have also endowed twenty scholarships of $500 a year, the recipients of which must take a course in American history or American government every semester.

Dr. William F. Barber, recently chief of the Division of Central American Affairs in the Department of State, has become deputy assistant secretary in the Department's Office of American Republic Affairs.

Mr. Sherman S. Hayden has been promoted to an associate professorship of international relations at Clark University, where he will be in charge of a new interdepartmental major in international relations shared in by the departments of economics, geography, and history.

In the recently published list of political scientists associated in some capacity with the work of the Hoover Commission, the name of Professor Louis W. Koenig, of Bard College, was inadvertently omitted. Professor Koenig was a member of the Commission's task force on foreign affairs.

During the summer, Dr. Paul S. Jacobsen, of Colgate University, taught at Johns Hopkins University, Dr. Ronald M. Stout, at the University of Oregon, and Mr. Harry C. Behler, at the Hudson Shore Labor School of the U.A.W.

A leaflet entitled Census Bureau Publications on Governments has been issued by the Bureau of the Census and is available from that agency upon request. The bulletin describes briefly each of the 17 reports on governmental finances and employment which the Bureau expects to issue during the fiscal year starting July 1, 1949, and lists other recent Bureau publications relating to state and local government.

The South Central Region of Soroptimist International Association, meeting in Oklahoma City in May, voted to make available a $1,500 graduate fellowship to be awarded to a woman in a field "rare and difficult for women to enter, such as international law and organization, diplomacy and international politics, and international economic relations." Applicants should address Mrs. Grace B. Shurley, 1112 Barclay Street, Forth Worth, Texas, chairman of the fellowship committee.

During June, the Marshall College department of political science offered a workshop on American-Chinese-Soviet Relations in the Far East under the directorship of Dr. Conley H. Dillon. The special lecturer was Dr. Chu Djang, visiting professor of Far Eastern Relations at the Institute of Advanced International Studies, Washington, D. C. Dr. Djang gave the background lectures for the workshop, Dr. Carl Leiden gave lectures on Russian aspects, and lectures on American policy were given by Dr. Dillon.

The Bureau of Public Administration at the University of Tennessee added two new members to its staff in July: Mr. Luther Johnson, one of last year's fellows in the Southern Regional Training Program in Public Administration, and Mr. Hoyt Crider, who has been completing work for a master's degree at the University of Alabama. Mrs. Virginia Holmes Brown has resigned as editor and executive secretary of local organizations.

Mr. Eugene C. Brownson has transferred to the Bureau of Naval Personnel, Navy Department, as organization and methods examiner in the Administrative and Management Division, from the Veterans Administration, where he was a personnel technician in the Recruitment and Placement Service, Office of the Assistant Administrator for Personnel. Prior to that, and after being released to inactive status in the Navy, he served as an instructor in political science at the University of Alabama.

As visiting professor at Johns Hopkins University during the year 1949-50, Professor Thomas I. Cook will give work in political theory and comparative government in place of Professor Johannes Mattern, who has retired from full-time teaching. Dr. George S. Pettee, formerly of the staff of the Committee on Foreign Affairs of the House of Representatives and now with the Johns Hopkins Operations Research Office in Washington, will do part-time graduate teaching in politics and theory. Dr. James E. Russell, of Columbia University, has been appointed assistant professor for undergraduate teaching in politics.

Professor Carl B. Swisher has resumed the chairmanship of the department after a two-year period of relief from its duties.

The fourth annual Workshop in State and Local Government in Michigan was held at Michigan State College July 5–22. The fields of study were: the rôle of the governor; legislature and courts; procedures of county, township, and city governments; administration of agencies charged with health, child and adult welfare; education; roads; state and local finances; responsive and responsible government; and the rôle of schools in promoting more intelligent and active participation in public affairs. Various state and local officials, as well as educators and non-governmental leaders, participated.

The William Edgar Borah Foundation for the Outlawry of War sponsored its second annual conference at the University of Idaho, April 12–14, on "The Causes of War and Conditions of Peace." Sixty-seven college and university professors from Montana, Idaho, Washington, and Oregon participated in fifteen forums dealing with problems of war and peace. Principal speakers were Professors Clyde Eagleton of New York University, Graham H. Stuart of Stanford University, Robert E. Hosack of the University of Idaho, E. C. Stakman of the University of Minnesota, and President Lynn T. White of Mills College.

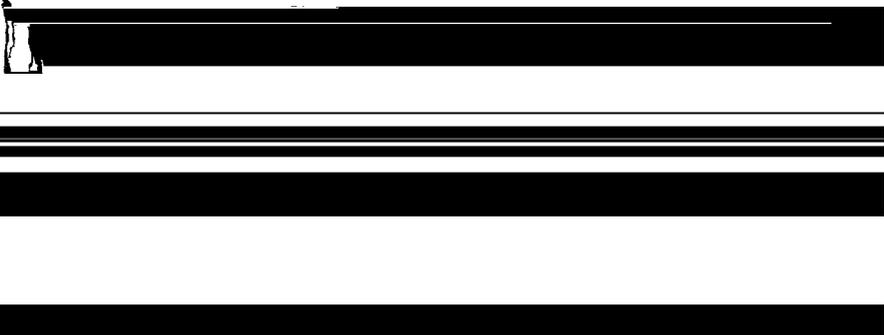

The twenty-fifth annual Norman Wait Harris Foundation institute on international relations was held at the University of Chicago from May 25 to 28. The general topic was "Nationalism and Regionalism in South Asia," and speakers included Mr. J. S. Furnivall, adviser to the government of Burma, Miss Cora Dubois, of the State Department, and Brigadier-General Carlos P. Romulo, Philippines representative at the United Nations. Arrangements for the Institute were in the charge of Mr. Phillips Talbot.

The University of Washington Institute of International Affairs presented a three-day program on the subject "Problems of the United Nations, the North Atlantic Pact, and the Treaties of Peace," July 6–8. Those appearing on the program included Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, recently acting mediator in Palestine for the United Nations; Professor Carl J. Friedrich, of Harvard University; Professor Henry B. Parkes, of New York University; Professor Maure Goldschmidt, of Reed College; and Mr. Jiuje G. Kasai, former member of the Japanese Diet. Professor Dell G. Hitchner served as director.

Sponsored by the Bureau of Governmental Research and Services, and directed by Professor Donald H. Webster, the Fourteenth Annual Institute of Government was held on the campus of the University of Washington, July 11–15. Current problems of government and public affairs were discussed in section meetings devoted to local action in democracy, law enforcement, planning, public welfare, traffic engineering, civil rights, taxation, public library administration, public relations, and development of the Columbia Valley Basin.

Political scientists taking part either as speakers or as discussion leaders included Professors Carl J. Friedrich, of Harvard University, and Kenneth C. Cole, Charles E. Martin, George A. Shipman, Hugh A. Bone, and Mr. Ernest H. Campbell, assistant director of the Bureau of Governmental Research and Services, all of the University of Washington.

Published by the Joint Committee on Slavic Studies, a group of American scholars appointed by the American Council of Learned Societies and the Social Science Research Council, the weekly Current Digest of the Soviet Press is intended as a service to scholars and research specialists interested in following Soviet developments. The Digest contains summaries, condensations, or full translations of all items appearing in Pravda and Izvestia, and includes significant material from some forty other Russian publications; and the materials are brought to American readers within three weeks after they appear in Russia.

Political scientists taking part either as speakers or as discussion leaders included Professors Carl J. Friedrich, of Harvard University, and Kenneth C. Cole, Charles E. Martin, George A. Shipman, Hugh A. Bone, and Mr. Ernest H. Campbell, assistant director of the Bureau of Governmental Research and Services, all of the University of Washington.

Published by the Joint Committee on Slavic Studies, a group of American scholars appointed by the American Council of Learned Societies and the Social Science Research Council, the weekly Current Digest of the Soviet Press is intended as a service to scholars and research specialists interested in following Soviet developments. The Digest contains summaries, condensations, or full translations of all items appearing in Pravda and Izvestia, and includes significant material from some forty other Russian publications; and the materials are brought to American readers within three weeks after they appear in Russia. The cost of an institutional subscription is $150.00 a year, after which supplementary subscriptions may be entered at $25.00 a year.