

NOTICE TO CONTRIBUTORS

Oryx accepts papers and notes dealing with wild life, especially with wild life conservation.

Contributors are asked to observe the following points :—

MSS. should be typed, preferably with double spacing, or clearly written.

Capital initial letters are to be used to proper names of species, but not when referring generally : thus “ Blue Duiker ” but “ many duikers were seen ”. In systematic lists the whole name should be in capitals.

The scientific name (underlined in MSS. to indicate italics) follows the English name in brackets without any intervening stop.

The writer's signature, in the form in which it is to appear when printed, should be given in BLOCK CAPITALS.

Articles may be abbreviated by the Editor.

Maps or graphs must be neatly and boldly drawn in Indian ink on good quality white paper or Bristol board, with due allowance for reduction.

The author of an article will, on request made at the time of submission, be sent free up to 25 copies of Oryx or 25 reprints of the article.
