Legal Theory

Editors

Matthew D. Adler, Duke University, USA

Larry Alexander, University of San Diego Law School, USA

David O. Brink, University of California, San Diego, USA

Scott J. Shapiro, Yale Law School, USA

Legal Theory draws contributions not only from academic law, but from a wide range of related disciplines in the humanities and social sciences, including philosophy, political science, economics, history and sociology. Topics covered fall mainly into the broad categories of analytical and normative jurisprudence, doctrinal theory, policy analyses of legal doctrines and critical theories of law.

International Journal of Law in Context

A global forum for interdisciplinary legal studies

The International Journal of Law in Context now features an exciting new section entitled 'Law in other contexts'. This section is dedicated to making available specially commissioned reports of socio-legal research in places where English is not the first language. In this way the journal hopes to bring attention to work which may not be easily accessible to those without knowledge of the relevant language (and culture).

The Cambridge Law Journal

Editor

John Bell University of Cambridge, UK

The Cambridge Law Journal publishes articles on all aspects of law. Special emphasis is placed on contemporary developments, but the journal's range includes jurisprudence and legal history. An important feature of the journal is the Case and Comment section, in which members of the Cambridge Law Faculty and other distinguished contributors analyse recent judicial decisions, new legislation and current law reform proposals. The articles and case notes are designed to have the widest appeal to those interested in the law – whether as practitioners, students, teachers, judges or administrators – and to provide an opportunity for them to keep abreast of new ideas and the progress of legal reform. Each issue also contains an extensive section of book reviews.

Leiden Journal of International Law

Published for The Foundation of the Leiden Journal of International Law

Editors-in-Chief

Carsten Stahn, Leiden University, The Netherlands

Eric de Brabandere, Leiden University, The Netherlands

Firmly established as one of Europe's leading journals in the field, the Leiden Journal of International Law (LJIL) provides a forum for two vital areas, namely international legal theory and international dispute settlement. It is unique in providing the most comprehensive coverage of the world's most important international tribunals in The Hague (such as the ICJ, ICTY, ICC and others) and elsewhere, as well as examining new trends in international legal thinking. LJIL is essential reading for academics and practitioners who need to stay abreast of recent developments in these areas.

Netherlands International Law Review

Marketed and distributed for T.M.C. Asser Press

Editor-in-Chief

P. Vlas, Free University of Amsterdam, The Netherlands

The Netherlands International Law Review (NILR) addresses relevant topics and recent trends in international law and the conflict of laws, including their comparative legal aspects. Articles are combined with English-language reports on topical Dutch judicial decisions, surveys of the case law on the topic of civil jurisdiction and enforcement of judgments in Europe, an update on the current developments regarding The Hague's international tribunals, an overview of the Hague Conventions on Private International Law, book reviews, and occasionally, a short commentary on case law or legislation. The journal serves as a reliable source of information for scholars and practitioners and anyone who wants to stay up-to-date with the most important developments in these fields.

Please note a subscription includes an annual volume of the Netherlands Yearbook of International Law (NYIL)
