International Review of the Red Cross

Published for the International Committee of the Red Cross

Editor

Vincent Bernard, The International Committee of the Red Cross, Switzerland

The International Review of the Red Cross promotes reflection on humanitarian law, policy and action in armed conflict and other situations of collective armed violence. A specialized journal in humanitarian law, it endeavours to promote knowledge, critical analysis and development of the law and to contribute to the prevention of violations of rules protecting fundamental rights and values. The Review offers a forum for discussion about contemporary humanitarian action as well as analysis of the causes and characteristics of conflicts so as to give a clearer insight into the humanitarian problems they generate. Finally, the Review informs its readership on questions pertaining to the International Red Cross and Red Crescent Movement and in particular on the activities and policies of the Red Cross.

Primary Health Care Research & Development

Editors-in-Chief

Sally Kendall, University of Hertfordshire, UK Rosamund Bryar, City University, UK

Primary Health Care Research & Development is the first journal aimed specifically at both researchers and practitioners in primary health care, bridging the gap between the two areas. It provides a forum for the publication of international, interdisciplinary research and development in primary health care. The journal is essential reading for all involved in primary care: nurse practitioners, GPs and Health Service managers; professional and local groups in community health; researchers and academics; purchasers of primary health care services; allied health practitioners in secondary services and health-related consumer groups.

Epidemiology and Infection

Editor-in-Chief

Norman Noah, London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine, UK

Epidemiology and Infection is available online at: http://journals.cambridge.org/hyg

Epidemiology and Infection publishes original reports and reviews on all aspects of infection in humans and animals. Particular emphasis is given to the epidemiology, prevention and control of infectious diseases. The field covered is broad and includes the zoonoses, tropical infections, food hygiene, vaccine studies, statistics and the clinical, social and public health aspects of infectious disease. Papers covering microbiology and immunology, which have an epidemiological relevance, are part of this broad field. Papers come from medical and veterinary scientists worldwide. It has become the key periodical in which to find the latest reports on recently discovered infections and new technology. For those concerned with policy and planning for the control of infections, the papers on mathematical modelling of epidemics caused by historical, current and emergent infections, will be of particular value.

Health Economics, Policy and Law

Published in association with LSE Health

Editor-in-Chief

Adam Oliver, London School of Economics and Political Science, UK

International trends highlight the confluence of economics, politics and legal considerations in the health policy process. Health Economics, Policy and Law (HEPL) provides a forum for inter-disciplinary health policy studies, and will be of use to academics, policy makers, health care managers and professionals. HEPL is international in scope, publishing both theoretical and applied work, with articles on all aspects of health policy. HEPL is particularly interested in publishing innovative ideas that promise to contribute to improving health and healthcare policy. Considerable emphasis is placed on rigourous conceptual development and analysis, and on the presentation of empirical evidence that is relevant to the policy process. Review articles and debate sections bring readers in touch with current research developments and issues.
