

Volume 4 Part 3 July 1974

British Journal of Political Science

Cambridge University Press

British Journal of Political Science

Editor: ANTHONY KING, Professor of Government, University of Essex

Editorial Board

BRIAN BARRY, Nuffield College, Oxford
HUGH BERRINGTON, University of Newcastle upon Tyne
IVOR CREWE, University of Essex
ROBERT DOWSE, University of Exeter
B. D. GRAHAM, University of Sussex
FRED. I. GREENSTEIN, Princeton University
L. J. SHARPE, Nuffield College, Oxford
DONALD E. STOKES, University of Michigan
BERNARD WILLIAMS, King's College, Cambridge

EDITORIAL POLICY

The British Journal of Political Science is an independent journal, whose policy is set by its editorial board. It is committed to no methodological orthodoxy over and above the normal canons of scholarship: clear and consistent use of words, logical and mathematical validity, and the use of appropriate evidence to substantiate empirical statements. Contributions are invited in all fields of political science, including political philosophy and political sociology. Work addressed to problems of general significance to students of politics will be published whatever the period(s) or place(s) drawn upon for evidence.

© Cambridge University Press, 1974

PERMISSIONS

For permission to reproduce material from British Journal of Political Science, please apply to the London or New York office of Cambridge University Press.

ISI Tear Service, 325 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19106, U.S.A. is authorized to supply single copies of separate articles for private use only.

SUBSCRIPTIONS

British Journal of Political Science is published quarterly in January, April, July and October. The subscription price of a volume (which includes postage) is £8 net in UK (US $25.00 in USA and Canada) for institutions; £6.00 (US $19.50) for individuals ordering direct from the publishers and certifying that the Journal is for their personal use. Single parts cost £2.50 net in UK (US $7.50 in USA and Canada) plus postage. Four parts form a volume. Orders may be sent to a bookseller, subscription agent or to the publishers: Cambridge University Press, P.O. Box 92, London NW1 2DB, or in the USA and Canada to Cambridge University Press, 32 East 57th Street, New York, N.Y. 10022. Copies of the journal for subscribers in the USA and Canada are sent by air to New York to arrive with minimum delay. Second class postage paid at New York, N.Y.

SAXON HOUSE

STUDIES

The Communists in Spain

Guy Hermet

This is the only reliable study of the Spanish Communist Party, of its history and its present existence in limbo and the disunity within it which enabled the Franco regime to prosper.

July 1974

In preparation

From LEXINGTON BOOKS

The French Deputy

Incentives and behaviour in the National Assembly

Oliver Woshinsky, University of Maine

The author defines the emotional needs which draw men into full-time politics.

Available

£6.85

The new Europe and the United States

Partners or rivals?

Gerhard Mally (editor), Atlantic Council of the US

A fascinating collection of papers by senior statesmen on both sides of the Atlantic covering all aspects of their relationships.

August 1974

ca £7.50

The making of campaign strategy

Marjorie Randon Hershey, Florida State University

A close look at US Congressional and local elections describing the effect of campaigners' personalities and attitudes on their decision-making.

July 1974

In preparation

The new politics Congress

Thomas P Murphy, University of Maryland

The US Congress has been subjected to dramatic changes in the last decade and the author examines the effect socially, economically and politically.

July 1974

In preparation

Contemporary American foreign policy

Minimal diplomacy, defensive strategy, and detente management

Lawrence L. Whetten, University of Southern California

Whetton contends that while the US is currently undergoing national introspection, it is not likely to lead to isolationism.

August 1974

In preparation

A Japanese view of detente

Hisahiko Okazaki

The author differentiates between the two basic elements of world politics: power politics and ideological confrontation.

July 1974

In preparation

For further details and catalogue write to:

SAXON HOUSE D C Heath Ltd, Dept SS63

1 Westmead Farnborough Hants GU14 7RU England

Survey of Commonwealth Affairs

Problems of Expansion and Attrition 1953-1969

J. D. B. Miller

Professor Miller considers the major issues of the 1950s and 60s, including the growing complexity of the international environment in which Commonwealth members had to operate, the diminishing unity of outlook amongst them and the importance of their other international connections, the paradoxical growth in Commonwealth machinery, the changes in British policy arising out of such issues as Suez, South Africa, Rhodesia, Commonwealth immigration, and British entry into the E.E.C., and the varied efforts to give the Commonwealth meaning by defining its purposes, especially in terms of multi-racialism. £11 Royal Institute of International Affairs

General Elections in South Africa 1943—1970

Kenneth A. Heard

This is the first comprehensive account of the general elections in South Africa from the United Party victory in which General Smuts achieved his greatest personal political triumph until the Afrikaner Nationalists became, up to the election of 1970 at least, ever more firmly entrenched in power. Professor Heard maps the changing boundaries of party allegiance and clarifies the major issues, including outstanding events and governmental actions. £10.50 OUP South Africa

The Handling of International Disputes by Means of Inquiry

Nissim Bar-Yaacov

This is a historical and theoretical analysis of the institution of international inquiry since the First Hague Peace Conference of 1899. The author examines in turn the recourse to commissions of inquiry established by the parties to the dispute and the setting up of investigatory machinery by U.N. organs. Special attention is paid to the relationship between inquiry and other means of handling disputes, notably conciliation. £7.50 Royal Institute of International Affairs

The Politics of Communication

A Study in the Political Sociology of Language,
Socialization, and Legitimation

Claus Mueller

This book presents an analysis of social class differences in the United States, England, France and East and West Germany based on linguistic analysis. Professor Mueller shows how lower social classes acquire a limited linguistic 'code', which effectively keeps them from conceptualizing, let alone bringing about social change, while the middle and upper classes effectively use an elaborated 'code' to preserve their status. £4.60 New York

Oxford

David Robin Watson

Georges Clemenceau

'This deeply researched, thoughtful study . . . is the first full-length biography of Clemenceau in English.. Georges Clemenceau, the sabre-toothed debater, duellist, lover of women, the friend of Monet, the biographer of Demosthenes, the translator of Mill, Church-baiter, rabble-rouser and praiser of the open élite, lives in these pages'.

John Raymond, Sunday Times.

Eyre Methuen

£9.50

SOCIAL DEMOCRACY IN POSTWAR EUROPE

William E. Paterson and Ian Campbell

This is the first detailed account of the changing structure and politics of the major social democratic parties in postwar Europe. Incorporating much new data this study firstly defines and historically analyses the concept of social democracy and proceeds to a discussion of its interaction with communism and with its traditional allies and opponents. An explanation is offered for the changing ideology of the social democratic parties and finally the book reviews their record on domestic policy. The conclusion formulates many profound questions on the whole subject.

£1.95

ESSAYS IN ANTI-LABOUR HISTORY

Responses to the Rise of Labour in Britain

Edited by Kenneth D. Brown

Although various aspects of the formation of the Labour party in 1900 have been examined over the past few years little consideration has been given to the ways in which representatives of older political traditions, both Liberal and Conservative, reacted to the rise of an independent working class political party. The essays in this book examine thoroughly different aspects of the exchange of power between the Liberal and Labour parties and give a detailed discussion of the various Conservative anti-socialist pressure groups which were formed to counter what many saw as a threat to the nation's moral and political well-being.

£9.00

MACMILLAN