

Instructions to Authors

Submitted articles and editorial correspondence should be sent to: The Editors, Economics and Philosophy, Department of Philosophy, University of Bristol, 9 Woodland Road, Bristol BS8 1TB, UK. Correspondence may also be sent by e-mail to: Economics-and-Philosophy@bristol.ac.uk.

The journal publishes papers in English only. However, the editors are willing to consider initial submissions in French, and advise the authors whether to resubmit an English version. The final decision will be made on the basis of the English version only.

Please send four copies of submitted articles, in double-spaced type. We are pleased to receive copies printed on both sides of the paper. The copies sent to referees will be anonymous, so the author's name and address should appear on a separate title page and not in the rest of the article. Please also remove other clues to your identity. Repeat the title of the article at the beginning of the text to be sent to referees. Submitted articles will not be returned to authors.

Authors of accepted articles will be asked to prepare a final version in the journal's style, following instructions that the editors will provide, and to submit it on disk together with a version on paper.

Submitting an article to Economics and Philosophy implies that it has not been published elsewhere and is not being considered for publication elsewhere. Authors must obtain written permission to publish any material for which they do not own the copyright. They will be asked to assign the copyright of their article, under certain conditions, to Cambridge University Press. Authors of articles will receive 25 offprints of their article free of charge; additional copies may be purchased if ordered at proof stage on the form provided. (In the case of joint contributions, offprints will be sent to the first named author unless otherwise requested.)

MASTER'S DEGREE IN ECONOMICS and PHILOSOPHY

The LSE now offers a joint one year Master's Degree in Economics and Philosophy in addition to the Master's Degree in Economics. A strong undergraduate background in economics is a prerequisite. The new degree may be taken as preparation for employment in industry, commerce, banking, journalism, research and government, or as preparation for a Ph.D. in Economics. It is a technical degree drawing on two out of the three core courses from the Master's Degree in Economics: Microeconomics, Macroeconomics and Methods of Economic Investigation. The Master's Degree in Economics and Philosophy trades off some of the coverage of the Master's Degree in Economics to allow scope for issues of economic methodology and issues of fairness and equity. On the philosophy side, students choose one from the following three courses: Foundations of Probability, Advanced Scientific Method, and Philosophy of the Social Sciences. A dissertation of ten thousand words completes the degree requirement. Interested applicants should write to:
