
The Evolution of the Sikh Community

W. H. McLeod

Sikh history has traditionally been regarded as a paradox. Beginning in the early sixteenth century as a system of interior devotion, it emerged to prominence during the eighteenth century as a clearly defined belief laying stress upon martial prowess and external symbols. This book seeks to show that there is no paradox, and that the evolution of the community has been in fact a logical and consistent process. £3.50

The Rise of Modern China

Immanuel C. Y. Hsü

This new edition has a fuller coverage of the Chinese People's Republic, emphasizing the Cultural Revolution and its aftermath, the fall of Lin Piao, the Tenth Party Congress of August 1973 and its impact on the new power structure, the Sino-American détente, and the triangular relations of the U.S.A., the U.S.S.R., and China. Second edition illustrated £9.75

The Government and Politics of Hong Kong

N. J. Miners

Although Hong Kong's dynamic economy has produced the second highest gross national product in Asia, its political institutions have hardly changed since the nineteenth century. The delicate international position of Hong Kong, a colonial anachronism, inhibits any progress towards democratic self-government. This book gives a detailed account of the formal structure of the colonial regime within its cultural context, and describes the interplay between the bureaucracy, pressure groups, and public opinion by which public policy is determined. £8.50 paper covers £5.95

Nepali Politics

Retrospect and Prospect

Rishikesh Shaha

Most books on political development in Nepal are by foreigners or academics who view the subject as outsiders. This book by a scholar, diplomat and politician who served under King Mahendra as Finance Minister and as Foreign Minister, argues the case against Nepal's existing Panchayat system, which is dominated by the monarch, and advocates a return to parliamentary government and democratic institutions. £4.25

Konfrontasi

The Indonesia-Malaysia Dispute

J. A. C. Mackie

£12.25

Oxford University Press

The Correspondence of G. E. Morrison

1895–1912

Edited by LO HUI-MIN

This is the first of two volumes of selected letters of George Ernest Morrison, The Times correspondent in China in the late Imperial and early Republican period. Few people were in a better position to observe and comment on the events of those years. The first volume of correspondence ends with the collapse of the Manchu dynasty and the revolution of 1912.

£25.00 net

CAMBRIDGE SOUTH ASIAN STUDIES 17

The Politics of South India 1920–1937

CHRISTOPHER JOHN BAKER

The interwar years witnessed great changes in the political life of India. This book looks at the complex of political changes during this crucial and formative period in the Madras Presidency, the largest but often the most neglected province of British India.

£11.00 net

CAMBRIDGE SOUTH ASIAN STUDIES 18

The Emergence of Provincial Politics

The Madras Presidency 1870–1920

D. A. WASHBROOK

This book examines an important period of transition in the political structure of South India. Dr Washbrook develops in detail the relationship between colonial government and indigenous society during a critical phase of 'modernisation', and examines closely the processes by which the new political system emerged and the ways in which it altered patterns of political and social behaviour.

£11.00 net

Strategy, Risk and Personality in Coalition Politics

The Case of India

BRUCE BUENO DE MESQUITA

This book presents a new theory of behaviour in coalitions and provides an application of the theory to Indian political party coalitions. The author has statistically explored the coalition behaviour of all six all-Indian parties in seven Indian states, as well as the role of regional parties and defector groups in several coalitions which existed between 1967 and 1971.

£7.50 net

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY PRESS

Mao Tsetung and China

C. P. FitzGerald

The author, a leading writer on Oriental History, places Mao in the context of the changing circumstances of Chinese politics of the past sixty years, and demonstrates Mao's conviction that Communism was the only system of economic, political and social organization suitable for his purpose – to restore China and the Chinese people to the position of leadership forfeited by the Manchu dynasty in the nineteenth century. The most recent developments in China, and in particular the policies adopted since the fall of Marshal Lin Piao, are related to previous events. Dr A. L. Rowse has contributed a foreword.

£3.50 0 340 19031 0

Malaysian Politics

Second edition

Gordon P. Means

Here is an outspoken and detailed account of the political development of modern Malaysia. The book, in the light of recent events in Vietnam, Cambodia and Thailand, will have considerable appeal to students, and those interested in South East Asia. Professor Means presents a wealth of information, culled from a vast variety of resource material and an up-to-date objective interpretation of a complicated political and racial background

£6.00 0 340 18186 9

Available through all good booksellers

Hodder & Stoughton

P. O. Box 702, Mill Road, Dunton Green, Sevenoaks,
Kent, TN13 2YD.

The Limits of Change

Essays on Conservative Alternatives in Republican China

Charlotte Furth, Editor

"This collection of splendid essays . . . succeeds in establishing 'conservatism' as a valid, though still very general and undoctrinaire, position along the spectrum of contemporary Chinese opinions. It greatly enhances our sensitivity to the inner tensions of China. It is an important and distinguished book."

—Jerome B. Grieder

Here are fresh interpretations of China's revolutionary transformation disputing the notion that the conservatism of the Republican era was not powerful enough to counter the ideas of Mao. The writers argue that the conservative movements reflected a very modern outlook and shared common concerns with the radical movements they opposed. They show the range and depth of conservative thought in their careful and lucid analyses of the early Republican National Essence movement, the new Confucian humanism of the 1920s, political ideology under Republican military dictatorships, and continuing commentary from modern literary conservatives. Two major essays interpret Chinese trends in the context of worldwide conservative responses to modernization. Harvard East Asian Series, 84. $16.00

Meiroku Zasshi

Journal of the Japanese Enlightenment

William R. Braisted, Translator and Editor

The single most important source for thought during the Japanese enlightenment following the Meiji Restoration of 1868, the Meiroku Zasshi is now available in a precise, English rendition. In these forty-three issues, the essayists, the encyclopedists of the modern enlightenment who were trained as Western experts, introduce American and European culture to Japan. Their views on popularly elected assemblies, the separation of church and state, the status of women, economic policy, language reform, and the nature of knowledge are included as well as translations of articles from Western languages. Nowhere else can one find assembled so representative a sampling by the leading intellectuals of the day. Complete with Mr. Braisted's informative introduction, this crucial work of Japanese cultural history offers many insights on that nation's unique modern experience. $20.00

Harvard University Press

79 Garden Street, Cambridge, MA 02138

Modern Asian Studies is concerned with the history, geography, politics, sociology, literature, economics and social anthropology of South Asia, South-East Asia, China and Japan.

Contributions should be based on original research or field-work. They should be between 2000 and 8000 words long. Two typed copies should be submitted. Each author will receive twenty-five free offprints of his article and a copy of the Journal in which it appears.

Submission of an article will be taken to imply that it has not been previously published and that it is not on offer to any other publisher. In the interests of authors, copyright is normally assigned to Cambridge University Press. The editor welcomes expression of all shades of opinion, but responsibility for them rests with their authors.

All correspondence should be addressed to Dr Gordon Johnson, Selwyn College, Cambridge CB3 9DQ, England.

CONTENTS OF VOLUME 10 PART 4 OCTOBER 1976
(Provisional)

- CLIVE CHRISTIE: Great Britain, China and the Status of Tibet
CONRAD WOOD: The First Moplah Rebellion against British rule in Malabar
P. K. VOON: Malay Reservations and Malay Land Ownership
D. E. MILLS: Kataki-uchi: The Practice of Blood Revenge in Pre-Modern Japan
CHRISTOPHER BAKER: The Congress at the 1937 Elections in Madras
REVIEWS by Janet Hunter, Hisaaki Yamanouchi, Richard Clutterbuck, Mario D. Zamora, Ronald Hyam, Michael Stenson, Ruth McVey, Timothy Wright and Seymour Broadbridge.

Printed in Great Britain at the Alden Press, Oxford

MODERN ASIAN STUDIES

VOLUME 10 PART 3 JULY 1976

ARTICLES	PAGE
RICHARD TUCKER: Hindu Traditionalism and Nationalist Ideologies in Nineteenth-Century Maharashtra	321
T. R. SHARMA: Electoral Imperatives in the Indian Communist Party Split	349
E. A. RAMASWAMY: Trade Unionism and Caste in South India	361
FUJIKO ISONO: The Mongolian Revolution of 1921	375
JESSIE G. LUTZ: Chinese Nationalism and the Anti-Christian Campaigns of the 1920s	395
LUCY CARROLL: The Temperance Movement in India: Politics and Social Reform	417

REVIEWS

Mapping China. The Times Atlas of China , edited by P. J. M. GEELAN and D. C. TWITCHETT (W. J. F. Jenner)	449
Britain and East Asia , by ANN TROTTER (J. C. Shakeshaft)	450
The History of Mithila and the Records of the Darbhanga Raj. Maharaha Lakshmishwar Singh , by JATA SHANKAR JHA; Beginnings of Modern Education in Mithila , by JATA SHANKAR JHA; History of Darbhanga Raj , by JATA SHANKAR JHA (Clive Dewey)	453
Endgames. The Crisis of Indian Unity , by R. J. MOORE (Peter Robb);	460
Wavell: The Viceroy's Diary , edited by P. MOON (B. Shiva Rao)	463
Buddhist Studies. Monks, Priests and Peasants , by HANS-DIETER EVERS (K. R. Norman)	466
The Buddhist Tantras , by ALEX WAYMAN (K. R. Norman)	469
The Lion's Roar of Queen Srimala , translated by ALEX WAYMAN and HIDEKO WAYMAN (K. R. Norman)	472
Ten Lives of the Buddha , by ELIZABETH WRAY, CLARE ROSENFELD and DOROTHY BAILEY (K. R. Norman)	473
The Fatal History of Portuguese Ceylon , by G. D. WINIUS (G. V. Scammell)	475
The Punjab Tradition , by P. H. M. VANDENDUNGEN (Clive Dewey)	477
Politics in Sri Lanka , by A. JEYARATNAM WILSON (B. H. Farmer)	479

© Cambridge University Press 1976

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY PRESS

Bentley House, 200 Euston Road, London NW1 2DB
32 East 57th Street, New York N.Y. 10022