Anglo-Saxon England

Editor

Simon Keynes, University of Cambridge, UK

Rosalind Love, University of Cambridge, UK

Andrew Orchard, University of Oxford, UK

Anglo-Saxon England is recognised internationally as the foremost regular publication in its field. In fact it is the only one which consistently embraces all the main aspects of study of Anglo-Saxon history and culture - linguistic, literary, textual, palaeographic, religious, intellectual, historical, archaeological and artistic - and which promotes the more unusual interests - in music or medicine or education, for example. Especially it seeks to exploit the advantages of a broadly based interdisciplinary approach.

The journal's editorial board follows a strict policy of reviewing submissions, and invites contributions (in English) from experienced and promising scholars from anywhere in the world.

Traditio

Published for Fordham University.

Editor

Joseph T. Lienhard, S.J., Fordham University, Bronx, USA

Traditio is an international journal, published annually and dedicated to the study of ancient and medieval history, thought, and religion.

Traditio publishes monographic essays, critical editions of texts, and research tools such as catalogues of unpublished manuscripts. Submissions in English, French, German, Italian, and Spanish are accepted. Articles have treated history, literature, philosophy, patristics, philology, theology, and history of art. The periods covered are antiquity, early Christianity, and the Middle Ages, up to A.D. 1500.

Submissions

All contributions should be submitted in the first instance as an email attachment in Word format. Authors should supply their e-mail addresses as well as their institutional affiliation.

Byzantine submissions should be sent to:

Dr Ruth Macrides (R.J.Macrides@bham.ac.uk)

Post-Byzantine and modern period submissions should be sent to:

Prof. Peter Mackridge (peter.mackridge@stx.ox.ac.uk)

The maximum length of an article should be 8,000 words, including footnotes; for critical studies, 3,500 words. Authors should ensure that all diacritics in all languages are correctly placed. An abstract of not more than 100 words, outlining the contents and argument of the article, should precede the text of the article.

Illustrations Inclusion of illustrations is at the discretion of the Editors. Detailed instructions for supply of figures may be found in the online instructions for contributors. Authors are required to provide evidence of permission to reproduce images (and any other third-party material). Captions should include credit for the relevant copyright holder.

Detailed instructions for contributors are located at <http://journals.cambridge.org/byz>

Style BMGS conforms to its own particular house style. Authors should follow the guidelines available at <http://journals.cambridge.org/byz>

Footnotes BMGS does not publish bibliographies (lists of works cited) at the end of articles. Instead, all references are given in footnotes. Footnotes should be kept to the strict minimum necessary for documentation. They should contain only minimal extra expository material. Footnote numbers, which should always use Arabic numerals, should be given in the text, immediately following the most convenient punctuation mark.

References to publications in Greek Authors' names should be transliterated, while titles of books and journals should be given in Greek characters. Places of publication and other information should be in English.

Open Access Please visit Open Access Publishing at Cambridge (cambridge.org/openaccess) for information on our open Access policies, compliance with major finding bodies, and guidelines on depositing your manuscript in an institutional repository.
