

Law & Society Review Condensed Style Sheet

Type manuscripts double-spaced on one side of the paper only. While manuscripts need not conform to this style sheet at the time of submission, all manuscripts must include an abstract, footnotes, and a list of references, and all accepted manuscripts must be revised by the authors to conform to the Review's style. The rules listed below supplement the manuscript information on the inside front cover of the Review. Authors are urged to consult Review issues in volume 26 or later for further illustrations. A detailed style sheet is available from the Editorial Office.

1. Abstracts. All manuscripts should include an abstract of not more than 100 words. No abstracts are required for review essays or comments.
2. Footnotes. Footnotes should be numbered sequentially (except for the author's footnote) and printed on pages immediately following the text (not at the foot of the page). They should contain only substantive comments and additional references not immediately relevant to the text.
3. Tables and Figures. Tables should approximate the appearance of printed tables. Figures should be camera ready; provide originals, not xerographic copies. Tables and/or figures should be placed at the end of the text, after footnotes, appendixes, and references. Their location within the text should be indicated as follows:

Table 1 about here

4. Citations. All notes that consist merely of supporting citations should be placed in parentheses in the text. For example:

In a thoughtful essay, Hayden (1991) . . .

OR

Media stories often portray the civil jury as generous (Daniels & Martin 1986:236; Hans 1989; Huber 1988).

The same general rules apply to footnote text.

5. References. References are placed at the end of the manuscript following the footnotes. The list should contain only those sources actually cited in text or notes. Give authors' names as they appear in the original source. For more than one publication by the same author, list them in chronological order, with the older item first. For more than one publication in one year by the same author, use small (lower-case) letters to distinguish them (e.g., 1970a, 1970b).

BOOKS: Last Name, First Name (year) Title of Book. City: Publisher.

Example: Lerner, Melvin J. (1980) Belief in a Just World. New York: Plenum.

CHAPTER IN EDITED VOLUME:

Example: Glazer, Nathan (1979) "The Judiciary and Social Policy," in L. Theberge, ed., The Judiciary in a Democratic Society. Lexington, MA: Lexington Books.

ARTICLES: Last Name, First Name (Year) "Title of Article," volume number Journal initial page of article. (Give month or issue number if each issue is separately paginated.)

Examples: Padgett, John F. (1990) "Plea Bargaining in Prohibition," 24 Law & Society Rev. 413.

Brill, Steven, & James Lyons ((1986) "The Not-So-Simple Crisis," American Lawyer 12 (May).

UNPUBLISHED PAPERS:

Example: Lofquist, William S. (1991) "The Development of Organizational Probation." Presented at American Society of Criminology annual meeting, San Francisco.

All cases cited in text are listed under "Cases Cited" following the References. All statutes cited are listed under "Statutes Cited." For style for cases and statutes, see A Uniform System of Citation.

The Journal of Law, Economics, & Organization

The Journal of Law, Economics, & Organization has established itself as uniquely interdisciplinary, bringing together legal-economic scholarship with other social science disciplines such as political science and sociology. Contributors represent a variety of disciplines and viewpoints as well as a cross section of professional affiliations. By bringing them together, the journal seeks to promote an understanding of the complex interrelationships that affect public and private institutions.

Crossing over the Line

Legislating Morality and the Mann Act

David J. Langum

"A well-wrought cautionary tale about the dangers of trying to impose morality by law. Langum traces the history of the Mann Act of 1910, which prohibited the transportation of women across state lines for 'prostitution or debauchery, or for any other immoral purpose'. . . . a thorough, often wryly funny, and closely argued work."

SOCIAL JUSTICE

Rethinking Race

Vol. 20, Nos. 1–2

This special double issue rethinks and re-visions the concept of race in the U.S. Authors reexamine identity and multiculturalism, explore the limits of the black/white dualism that dominates many discussions, and take a critical look at the dynamics of race and nationality as they were played out in the 1992 uprising in Los Angeles, both in fact and in media coverage.

Law and Community in Three American Towns

CAROL J.
GREENHOUSE,
BARBARA YNGVESSON, AND
DAVID M. ENGEL

The authors explore how ordinary people in three towns—located in New England, the Midwest, and the South—view the law, courts, litigants, and social order. “An outstanding study of real life in real communities.”—Amitai Etzioni, author of The Spirit of Community. “A unified text with useful findings.”—Library Journal

Kant’s Theory of Justice

ALLEN D. ROSEN

In this accessible interpretation of Kant’s political philosophy, Rosen concentrates on the relation between justice, political authority (the state), and individual liberty. “Rosen’s account and criticisms of Kant’s position on principles of justice are cogent and interesting. He has picked the most powerful aspect of Kant’s domestic political philosophy and defended it well.”

Humiliation

And Other Essays on Honor, Social Discomfort, and Violence

WILLIAM IAN MILLER

Miller offers a brilliant, sometimes unsettling look at how ancient codes of honor figure in the social discomforts of everyday life. “[He writes] with ranging and learned references, a wry and unpretentious style, and a genuine respect for the power of . . . forgotten sources on which modern social exchange depends.”

NOMINATIONS SOUGHT FOR 1995 HARRY KALVEN PRIZE

The Harry Kalven Prize is awarded by the Law and Society Association for "empirical scholarship that has contributed most effectively to the advancement of research in law and society". It is not a book prize, but is given in recognition of a body of scholarly work. Neither is it a "career achievement" award, however, and at least some portion of the work for which the award is given should have been completed within the past few years.

The committee to select the 1995 recipient of the award is Marc Galanter [chair] University of Wisconsin, Robert MacCoun, University of California, Berkeley, and another member to-be-announced.

Nominations of candidates or suggestions for the committee's consideration should be sent to:

Marc Galanter
Kalven Prize Committee Chair
School of Law
University of Wisconsin, Madison
Madison WI 53706

Documentation concerning the significance and contributions of the research, including citations to publications, will assist the committee in its consideration of candidates. Nominations should be received by March 1, 1995. The award will be presented at the 1995 Annual Meeting of the Association in Toronto.
