

Contributors for Volume 40, Number 1

George R. Boyer is professor of economics and international and comparative labor in the ILR School at Cornell University. He is the author of An Economic History of the English Poor Law (1990) and, with Timothy Hatton, “New Estimates of British Unemployment, 1870–1913” (Journal of Economic History 2002). He is completing a book manuscript on economic insecurity and social welfare policy in Great Britain from 1840 to 1940.

Laurence Brown is lecturer in migration history in the ESRC Centre on Dynamics of Ethnicity at the University of Manchester. He has published on historical and contemporary Caribbean migration and is completing a study of migration during the long nineteenth century titled Island Diasporas. He has worked on AHRC, English Heritage, and HLF funded public history projects exploring the Caribbean experience in Britain.

Niall Cunningham is lecturer in human geography at Durham University. He has previously worked at the universities of Lancaster and Manchester. He has published on the spatial dimensions of ethnic conflict and social inequality with the focus on the application of GIS to these issues. He is a co-author of Troubled Geographies: A Spatial History of Religion and Society in Ireland (2013) and Social Class in the 21st Century (2015).

Svenja Gärtner is a researcher at the Unit for Economic History at the University of Gothenburg. Her research deals with labor market issues in general and wage inequalities in particular. Her recent work about migration has been published in the journal of Regional Studies and her work about gender wages gaps has been published in The Scandinavian Economic History Review.

Jeremy Johnson is an associate professor in the Department of Political Science and International Relations at Carroll College in Helena, Montana. He specializes in American politics. He received his PhD from Brown University in 2010 and is finishing a manuscript covering the politics of housing and health policy over the last century. He is a co-editor of Judging Bush (2009) published by Stanford University Press.

Sukwoo Kim is an associate professor of international and area studies and economics at Washington University, St. Louis. He has written extensively on urbanization in American economic history. His work has appeared in the Journal of Economic History, Explorations in Economic History, the Journal of Regional Science, the Handbook of Regional and Urban Economics, and the Quarterly Journal of Economics.

Marc T. Law is an associate professor of economics at the University of Vermont. His research interests are in the fields of political economy, regulation, urban economics, and economic history. His work has been published in the Journal of Economic History, the Journal of Law and Economics, and the Journal of Law, Economics, and Organization, and the Journal of Regional Science.

Erica Jade Mullen, PhD, is a research scientist with the New York City Department of Social Services, Human Resources Administration, in the Office of Evaluation and Research. Her current projects focus on public housing, homelessness, and benefit receipt utilizing quasiexperimental and inferential statistical modeling. She received her doctorate in sociology and demography from Brown University.

Svante Prado is assistant professor of economic history at the University of Gothenburg. His research topics are Swedish wages and labor markets and international comparisons of labor productivity in historical and comparative perspective. His most recent works appeared in Economic History Review, Explorations in Economic History, and European Review of Economic History.

Michael J. White is the Robert E. Turner Distinguished Professor of Population Studies at Brown University, where he is also professor of sociology and faculty associate in the Population Studies and Training Center. White's most recent book (with J. Glick), Achieving Anew (2009), examines contemporary US immigration. White also conducts research on migration and urbanization in developing countries.

Subscription Information: Social Science History (ISSN 1527-8034) is published quarterly in February, May, August, and November by Cambridge University Press for the Social Science History Association. Annual subscription rates for Volume 40 (2016): Institutional subscription rate, print and electronic: US $312 in the U.S.A., Canada, and Mexico; UK £213 elsewhere. Institutional subscription rate, electronic only: US $249 in the U.S.A., Canada, and Mexico; UK £172 elsewhere. Single part rates, print only: US $86.00 in the U.S.A., Canada, and Mexico; UK £59 elsewhere.

Individuals who wish to receive the journal must be members of the SSHA. Please visit the SSHA website, <http://ssha.org>, for further details.

SOCIAL SCIENCE HISTORY

VOLUME 40 | NUMBER 1 | SPRING 2016

Editor's Introduction . . . . . 1

ARTICLES

George R. Boyer

"Work for their prime, the workhouse for their age": Old Age Pauperism in Victorian England . . . . . 3

Svenja Gärtner and Svante Prado

Unlocking the Social Trap: Inequality, Trust and the Scandinavian Welfare State . . . . . 33

Jeremy Johnson

Housing Vouchers: A Case Study of the Partisan Policy Cycle . . . . . 63

Laurence Brown and Niall Cunningham

The Inner Geographies of a Migrant Gateway: Mapping the Built Environment and the Dynamics of Caribbean Mobility in Manchester, 1951–2001. . . . . 93

Sukkoo Kim and Marc T. Law

Political Centralization, Federalism, and Urban Development: Evidence from US and Canadian Capital Cities. . . . . 121

Michael J. White and Erica Jade Mullen

Socioeconomic Attainment in the Ellis Island Era. . . . . 147

Contributors for Volume 40, Number 1 . . . . . 183

Cambridge Journals Online

For further information about this journal please go to the journal web site at:

journals.cambridge.org/ssh

CAMBRIDGE
UNIVERSITY PRESS