

Most of the seventeen chapters that make up the present volume have appeared in print before, either as contributions to periodicals and symposia or as part of Professor Ulam's well-known books. The focus is not only on revolutionary thought, but also on Communist politics (including foreign policy) and the inner logic of the Soviet system. Far from dismissing ideology as mere window-dressing, the author gives a critical account of the interplay of Communist theory and practice.

NOTES ON CONTRIBUTORS

- John McHugh* is Lecturer in Politics in Manchester Polytechnic, Manchester.
Eugene D. LeMire is Professor of English in the Flinders University of South Australia, Bedford Park.
N. McCord is Professor of Social History in the University of Newcastle upon Tyne, Newcastle.
D. J. Rowe is Lecturer in Economics in the University of Newcastle upon Tyne.
T. M. Parssinen is Associate Professor of History in Temple University, Philadelphia.
I. J. Prothero is Lecturer in History in the University of Manchester, Manchester.