

INTRODUCING...

The Journal of African History

The Journal of African History, established in 1960, publishes articles and reviews which range over the African past from the beginnings of food production to the 1960s. In recent years there has been much emphasis on economic history and on African politics in the later colonial period.

Continuity and Change

Now in its fifth year, Continuity and Change defines a field of social history concerned with long-term continuities and discontinuities in the structures of past societies. Emphasis is upon studies that draw on more than one of the traditional fields such as history, sociology, law, demography, economics or anthropology.

European Sociological Review

Edited by Prof. Dr Hans-Peter Blossfeld

The European Sociological Review is essential reading for all sociologists working in universities, research institutes, government and business. It aims to provide an effective medium for presenting the work of emergent sociologists whose commitment is to empirical research and who have an interest in comparative studies.

The journal publishes the results of sociological inquiry undertaken in Europe, or concerning European societies, and is particularly eager to encourage cross-national comparative work. In addition the journal has a book review section which gives priority to long reviews or review-articles dealing with major studies.

Recent and forthcoming articles include:

James A. Davis Attitudes toward free speech in six countries in the mid 1980s

Franz Hollinger and Max Haller Kinship and social networks in modern societies:

a cross-national comparison among seven nations

Bernd Wegener Relative deprivation and social mobility:
structural constraints on distributive justice judgements

A forthcoming special edition on Eastern Europe will include:

Sergej Flere Explaining ethnic antagonism in Yugoslavia

Nan Dirk de Graaf Distinction by consumption in Czechoslovakia, Hungary and the Netherlands
