

INTERNATIONAL LAW REPORTS

Consolidated Table of Cases and Index to Volumes 36-45

Edited by E. Lauterpacht, Q.C., Fellow of Trinity College, Cambridge.

The International Law Reports is the only series of reports to bring together, in English, the decisions of all international tribunals. These include the International Court of Justice, the European Court of Justice, the European Commission of Human Rights, and various important Claims and Conciliation Commissions, together with the decisions of national courts with a bearing on international law, including those applying to the European Community treaties and decisions from Africa, Asia, America (both North and South) and Europe.

As testimony to the high regard in which the reports are held the world over, it can be noted that only a few months ago, the American Society of International Law awarded its certificate of Merit to the Editor and, posthumously, to his father, Judge Sir Hersch Lauterpacht. It was said that "The series has borne the imprint of careful and scholarly editorial work of the two Lauterpachts, who have gone far beyond mere compilation work in their efforts to make these volumes of the greatest use".

The publication of the Consolidated Table of Cases and Index to Volumes 36-45 greatly facilitates reference to any case or point at issue covered in these volumes. Copies will be sent automatically to subscribers with a standing order for the International Law Reports.

A leaflet, giving full details, is available on request.

Law in Africa Series No. 33

International Law and the New African States

by FELIX CHUKS OKOYE, LL.B., PH.D.

of Gray's Inn, Barrister

This book examines the process of the evolution of newly emerged nations primarily by reference to the role and attitudes of the African states towards certain aspects of traditional law and international organisations.

Chapter I discusses the evolution of the international personality of the African states. Chapter II deals with the relationship between African municipal law and international law. Chapter III contains a detailed account and legal analysis of the problems of state succession raised by decolonisation. Chapter IV covers the Organisation of African Unity and other developments in multinational co-operation, such as the African approach to the concepts of regionalism in international law. Chapter V deals with aspects of state responsibility, international co-operation, sources of law and the peaceful settlement of international disputes and contains an assessment of the impact which the African states have made on international law.

Law in Africa Series No. 30

Cases and Materials on East African Mercantile Law

by R. W. HODGIN

The book draws exclusively from local case material, statutes and from articles written on East African law. It includes several unreported decisions of the High Courts on the three countries. The largest section of the book covers cases on the law of contract, as contract is the basis of mercantile law. A brief outline of the court system is included and also an explanation of the importance of East African and English cases. The chapter headings are as follows: Introduction; Law of Contract; Bailment; Law of Agency; Partnership; Sale of Goods; Hire-Purchase; Law of Insurance; Law of Negotiable Instruments; Law of Bankruptcy; Arbitration; Contracts of Guarantee; Trade Marks and Passing off; Remedies for Breach of Contract.

1972 Bound: £4 net. Postage 20p plus 2p VAT. Paperback (not for sale outside Africa): £2.75 net. Postage 12p plus 1p VAT.
