

Leaders of Religion Series

Thomas Becket

David Knowles. The story of Thomas Becket has long been encrusted with legend and misinterpreted evidence. Now, one of the world's most distinguished scholars of medieval Christianity has written what is certain to be the standard biography. Becket's career is traced from his childhood and his early friendship with Henry II through the period of great secular power, his appointment to the See of Canterbury, the years of exile, and finally his dramatic murder in 1170. $6.95

A New Printing with Corrections

John Henry Newman

SECOND EDITION. C. S. Dessain. $6.95

STANFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS

UMPHREY LEE: A Biography

By Winifred T. Weiss and Charles S. Proctor

A fascinating look at one of America's most admired Methodist leaders—educator, minister, master speaker of the twentieth century—Umpfrey Lee. His ideas are counsel for today and the future.

Dr. Lee is internationally recognized for his biography of John Wesley, The Lord's Horseman. Bibliography. Index. $6.75

CONCISE DICTIONARY OF THE CHRISTIAN WORLD MISSION

*Edited by Stephen Neill,
Gerald Anderson, and John Goodwin*

Catholic and Protestant mission leaders, significant places, activities of creative Christian action—all are dealt with in this new reference. Never before has so much up-to-date information from the entire world of missions been brought together in this concise form. Cross referenced. Alphabetically arranged. More than 200 contributors. $10.50

At your local bookstore

ABINGDON

A HISTORY OF THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Williston Walker

Third Edition, revised by Robert T. Handy

This comprehensive and authoritative account of Christian thought contains important new sections which reflect a profound understanding of the far-ranging changes affecting modern Christianity. Special attention is given to the time of Pope John XXIII, the Second Vatican Council, the Ecumenical Movement, and the New Morality. A new section covers all major developments, in all the Christian churches, since 1950. Extensive bibliography, completely updated.

1970. 601 pages. 7 maps. $9.25

Charles Scribner's Sons

597 Fifth Avenue, New York, New York 10017

The University of Chicago Press
5801 South Ellis Avenue
Chicago, Illinois 60637

THE CHRISTIAN TRADITION: A HISTORY OF THE DEVELOPMENT OF DOCTRINE

By Jaroslav Pelikan, Yale University

Volume One: The Emergence of the Catholic Tradition (100-600 A.D.)

It is almost a century since a work of the scope of Jaroslav Pelikan's The Christian Tradition has been attempted.

This new work takes the subject in a new direction and is addressed to a number of different kinds of readers: to students of theology; to students of intellectual history; and to students of cultural history for whom the political thought, art, or literature of the past two millennia would be incomprehensible without an awareness of the issues dealt with here. Each volume of The Christian Tradition will be a self-contained unit, though the work as a whole will have a single overall concept guiding its organization and composition.

Subsequent volumes: The Spirit of Eastern Christendom (600-1700), The Growth of Medieval Theology (600-1300), Reformation of Church and Dogma (1300-1700), and Christian Doctrine and Modern Culture (since 1700).

1971 6 1/8 x 9 400 pages $15.00.

"One of the great achievements in contemporary scholarship. Rarely does one come upon a book that encompasses so much learning and independent judgment between its two covers. Reading it is a splendid experience." (Abraham J. Heschel, Jewish Theological Seminary)

"Professor Pelikan has based his presentation on a detailed and fresh study of the source. When finished, Professor Pelikan's work will be the greatest study on the history of dogma which has appeared for decades." (Bernhard Lohse, University of Hamburg)

"This first volume promises a large work which will show how scrupulous scholarship can be embellished by grandeur of conception and literary elegance. Mr. Pelikan's work cheers us to believe that the age of historical classics is not past." (Daniel J. Boorstin, Smithsonian Institution)