Slavery in the American Republic Developing the Federal Government, 1791-1861

David F. Ericson

“Treating fundamental subjects—war, territory, law, property, labor, and citizenship—this resonant book powerfully advances our understanding of how slavery constituted political life in antebellum America. Its sharply-etched arguments about institutions, power, and policy illuminate how a ‘house divided’ by race and region nonetheless could constitute a tightly connected structure.”—Ira Katznelson, coauthor of Liberal Beginnings: Making a Republic for the Moderns
344 pages, Cloth $37.50

The Vietnam War from the Rear Echelon An Intelligence Officer's Memoir, 1972-1973

Timothy J. Lomperis

“A marvelous combination of memoir, history, and political analysis that provides a real sense for how military intelligence operated and for the surreal atmosphere of Saigon. It's also a great read.”—Robert Jervis, author of Why Intelligence Fails: Lessons from the Iranian Revolution to the Iraq War
288 pages, 27 photos, 6 maps, Cloth $34.95

My Dearest Nellie The Letters of William Howard Taft to Helen Herron Taft, 1909-1912

Edited by Lewis L. Gould

“Nellie Taft has long been seen as one of our most involved first ladies—ambitious to advance her husband's career and shrewd at sizing up his opposition. This book adds an important dimension to the Taft presidency, mixing political maneuverings with behind-the-scenes gossip.”
—Betty Boyd Caroli, author of First Ladies: From Martha Washington to Michelle Obama
320 pages, 20 photos, Cloth $39.95

“A brilliant book from one of America's foremost social thinkers. Exciting, wise, elegant, and altogether pathbreaking.”—James A. Morone
American Political Thought
378 pages, Paper $19.95

Remaking the Presidency Roosevelt, Taft, and Wilson, 1901-1916

Peri E. Arnold

“Combines broad and illuminating analysis of executive leadership style with an informative account of the social forces resulting in the Progressive Era. . . . Effectively and convincingly places the three executives' impact on the evolution of the presidency during this era of political and social change.”—Presidential Studies Quarterly
290 pages, Paper $19.95

What Really Happened to the 1960s How Mass Media Culture Failed American Democracy

Edward P. Morgan

“A valuable exploration for anyone interested in how the workings of mass media and popular culture in America since the 1960s led us to where we are today.”
—Timothy W. Luke, author of Screens of Power: Ideology, Resistance, and Domination in Informational Society

Patriots for Profit
Contractors and the Military in U.S. National Security

THOMAS C. BRUNEAU
“This impressive volume is theoretically coherent and empirically rich, with insights into wider issues of defense policy-making and governance in the contemporary-era.”

—Tim Edmonds,
University of Bristol
$24.95 paper $70.00 cloth

The Future of Transatlantic Relations
Perceptions, Policy and Practice

Edited by JOYCE P. KAUFMAN and ANDREW M. DORMAN
“This important and comprehensive book goes beyond the ‘usual suspects’ discussed in a transatlantic relations volume—to include interesting cases such as Turkey, Ukraine and Georgia. It successfully engages with national security policy and the issue of strategic culture, as well as the implications of transatlantic security trends.”

—Wyn Rees,
University of Nottingham
$24.95 paper $70.00 cloth

Paradise Plundered
Fiscal Crisis and Governance Failures in San Diego

STEVEN P. ERIE, VLADIMIR KOGAN, and SCOTT A. MACKENZIE
“It takes more than scenery to make a successful city—or a solvent state, for that matter. Chronicling the near-deliberate dismantlement of San Diego, Paradise Plundered relates how a favored city squandered its heritage and thereby set forth a warning to the rest of the nation.”

—Kevin Starr,
University of Southern California
$24.95 paper $75.00 cloth

Power in Uncertain Times
Strategy in the Fog of Peace

EMILY O. GOLDMAN
“Emily Goldman’s study of grand strategy is a timely addition to the literature, one that will help both scholars and practitioners navigate the rocks and shoals as we sail through the fog of peace.”

—Thomas G. Mahnken,
U.S. Naval War College
$25.95 paper $75.00 cloth

U.S. Presidents and Foreign Policy Mistakes

STEPHEN G. WALKER and AKAN MALICI
“Depth-breadth trade-offs are unavoidable in all scholarship: but not here. This book does a superb job of integrating historical, game-theoretic, and psychological approaches and deepening our understanding of how to avoid miscalculations that can cause grievous harm on a massive scale.”

—Philip E. Tetlock,
University of Pennsylvania
$29.95 paper $100.00 cloth

The Politics of Space Security
Strategic Restraint and the Pursuit of National Interests, Second Edition

JAMES CLAY MOLTZ
“The intellectual scope and historical detail of Clay Moltz’s study are truly impressive. He has brought to bear on a pressing issue in international security both high quality scholarship and pragmatic policy prescriptions. A ‘must read’ for anyone concerned about the future sustainability of U.S. and global space activities.”

—John M. Logsdon,
Founding Director, The George Washington University
$35.00 paper

The Migration Apparatus
Security, Labor, and Policymaking in the European Union

GREGORY FELDMAN
“Feldman provides a distinctive, thought-provoking look at the interacting welter of agencies, companies, and institutions central to shaping EU immigration policies. This is a signal contribution to the literature on immigration, mobility, citizenship, and new non-state nexuses of control—as well as to innovations in anthropological methodology. A fascinating book.”

What’s Law Got to Do With It?
What Judges Do, Why They Do It, and What’s at Stake

Edited by CHARLES GARDNER GEYH
“Professor Charles Geyh has assembled leading thinkers in law and political science for a serious engagement with the complex role of law in legal decision-making. Readers will find these essays fascinating, thoughtful and sometimes infuriating, as conventional disciplinary wisdom is defended, modified and refuted. The result is a terrific text for all students of the legal process.”

Border Wars

Tom Barry

The consequences of political fear-mongering and tough talk on immigration in the American Southwest.

A Boston Review Book • 192 pp., $14.95 cloth

Plato's Revenge

Politics in the Age of Ecology

William Ophuls

"Ophuls takes us on a wide-ranging review of history, philosophy, science, and political economy in search of natural law and objective value by which to replenish the 'lode of fossil virtue and belief' inherited from the pre-modern era and depleted by modern nihilism. A worthy contribution."

— Herman E. Daly, Professor Emeritus, University of Maryland
200 pp., $27.95 cloth

Indra's Net and the Midas Touch

Living Sustainably in a Connected World

Leslie Paul Thiele

"Drawing expertly on ecology and ethics, economics and politics, and more, in Indra's Net and the Midas Touch Leslie Paul Thiele crafts moral principles for sustainable living. The goal, Thiele argues, is not to be better technologists or better consumers or better managers, nor to find 'the solution.' It is to constantly adapt and thrive, individually and collectively, in one's place in this interdependent, dynamic world."

— Thomas Princen, author of Treading Softly and The Logic of Sufficiency
352 pp., 1 illus., $29.95 cloth

Our Own Worst Enemy?

Institutional Interests and the Proliferation of Nuclear Weapons Expertise

Sharon K. Weiner

"This sobering account is essential reading for all those interested in more effective programs to reduce proliferation threats around the world, and for those interested in the nitty gritty of how national security agencies manage or fail to manage new and unfamiliar challenges."

— Matthew Bunn, Harvard University, author of Securing the Bomb
Belfer Center Studies in International Security • 360 pp., $27 paper

Democracy's Arsenal

Creating a Twenty-First-Century Defense Industry

Jacques S. Gansler

"Jacques Gansler makes a compelling case why changing the weapons and systems we buy, and how we buy them, is not only a fiscal imperative, but a moral one as well. Democracy's Arsenal is a brilliant analysis of what is needed to reform an obsolete, complex, unadaptive system that is an invitation to failure in our hour of need."

— William S. Cohen, former Secretary of Defense and former U.S. Senator
464 pp., 32 illus., $45 cloth

Do Democracies Win Their Wars?

edited by Michael E. Brown, Owen R. Coté Jr., Sean M. Lynn-Jones, and Steven E. Miller

"Ideal for undergraduate and graduate courses, and indeed for anyone who thinks seriously about the conduct of war."

— John J. Mearsheimer, University of Chicago, author of Why Leaders Lie: The Truth about Lying in International Politics
International Security Readers • 336 pp., $25 paper

Migration and the Welfare State

Political-Economy Policy Formulation

Assaf Razin, Efraim Sadka, and Benjarong Suwankiri

"This book provides an excellent overview and a penetrating analysis of migration in the global economy. Not only do the authors examine the economic, demographic and fiscal forces that influence migration flows, but they also study how political considerations shape migration policies and migration patterns. The book is indispensable for anyone interested in the current debates on immigration."

— Jess Benhabib, New York University
184 pp., 17 illus., $32 cloth

Access Contested

Security, Identity, and Resistance in Asian Cyberspace

edited by Ronald Deibert, John Palfrey, Rafal Rohozinski, and Jonathan Zittrain

Experts examine censorship, surveillance, and resistance across Asia, from China and India to Malaysia and the Philippines.

Information Revolution and Global Politics series • 408 pp., $24 paper

Carbon Coalitions

Business, Climate Politics, and the Rise of Emissions Trading

Jonas Meckling

"Carefully researched, wide-ranging, and accessibly written, Carbon Coalitions makes an important contribution to a rapidly growing literature both on business and global environmental governance, and on climate governance in particular."

— Peter Newell, University of Sussex
240 pp., 3 illus., $22 paper

Managing Institutional Complexity

Regime Interplay and Global Environmental Change

edited by Sebastian Oberthür and Olav Schram Stokke

Experts investigate how states and other actors can improve inter-institutional synergy and examine the complexity of overlapping environmental governance structures.

376 pp., 5 illus., $27 paper

Governing the Air

The Dynamics of Science, Policy, and Citizen Interaction

edited by Rolf Lidskov and Göran Sundqvist

"A compelling blend of empirical insight and theoretical sophistication—spiced throughout with innovative reflections on practice. Governing the Air makes a powerful case for the conceptual, political and practical significance of high-quality social science."

— Alan Irwin, Copenhagen Business School
Politics, Science, and the Environment series

American Political Science Association

Supporting Political Science Award Endowments

APSA supports exceptional scholarship in the discipline by honoring those whose work stands above the rest. The association's awards are made possible by the generous contributions of members and friends. Join your colleagues in strengthening the endowments that support them so that APSA can continue to make possible award amounts that convey the prestige associated with them.

Endowments for the following awards are in need of additional funds to reach the $25,000 minimum currently required of all endowments. Please consider supporting the discipline by donating to one of these funds. Gifts are accepted as one-time donations or as pledges to be fulfilled over time.

Gabriel A. Almond Prize

The Gabriel A. Almond prize honors the best dissertation in comparative politics. The award was created in recognition of former APSA president Gabriel Almond's contributions to the discipline, profession, and association. Almond's scholarly work contributed directly to the development of theory in comparative politics and brought together work on the developing areas and Western Europe that prevented splintering into an array of disparate areas studies.

William Anderson Award

The William Anderson prize honors the best dissertation in federalism or intergovernmental relations, state, and local politics. The award was set up in recognition of former APSA president William Anderson, who was a leading American authority in the areas of local government, public administration, intergovernmental relations, and the history of political science. He did much to shape teaching and research in these fields not only at his own university, but throughout the country.

Carey McWilliams Award

The award was first awarded in 1982 by APSA to recognize major journalistic contributions to the understanding of politics. Established as a memorial to Cary McWilliams, a renowned political journalist, the award serves to recognize achievement by journalists, many of whom were trained as political scientists and are now members of APSA.

Charles E. Merriam Award

The Charles Merriam Award was established to recognize a person whose published work and career represent a significant contribution to the art of government through the application of social science research. Charles Merriam's career exemplified a combination of innovative political and social science scholarship and practical service to the community and nation. The department he chaired in the 1920s–1940s set the agenda of the political science profession in the post World War II decades. He was the key figure in the founding of the Social Science Research Council. His public service included membership in the Chicago City Council, and on President Roosevelt's National Resources Planning Board and the Committee on Administrative Management.

E. E. Schattschneider Award

The E. E. Schattschneider prize is awarded for the best doctoral dissertation completed and accepted during that year or the previous year in the field of American government. This award fund, established in 1971, was set up in honor of former APSA president Elmer Eric ("E. E.") Schattschneider, a widely published and respected political scientist.

The Review of Politics

Editor-in-Chief:

Catherine H. Zuckert, University of Notre Dame

The Review of Politics publishes primarily philosophical and historical studies of politics, especially those concentrating on political theory and American political thought. Thoughtful scholarly reflections on all aspects of politics - including analysis of institutions and techniques, analysis of literary reflections on politics, political interpretations of literary works, and constitutional theory and analysis - are also welcome. Some of the first essays advocating "realism" were published in The Review, as well as articles from its opponents in international relations; both perspectives are accepted parts of the journal's coverage.

Announcing STATA® 12

New features include:

- Structural equation modeling (SEM). Flexible extension of multivariate regression, seemingly unrelated regression (SUR), instrumental variables, and FIML and LIML estimation of simultaneous systems. Direct and indirect effects. Implemented for big datasets and big models. Maximum likelihood estimation, GMM estimation, and maximum likelihood estimation for data missing at random (MAR).
- Multiple imputation (MI). Chained equations. Imputation of continuous, ordinal, cardinal, and count variables. Imputation separately within group. Imputation and estimation for panel data and multilevel models. Linear and nonlinear predictions. Survey support.
- Multivariate GARCH. Autoregressive models of volatility. Conditional heteroskedasticity. Constant conditional correlations (CCC). Dynamic conditional correlations (DCC). Varying conditional correlations (VCC). Normal errors. Student's t errors. Prediction of levels or variances. Dynamic forecasts.
- Autoregressive fractionally integrated moving-average models (ARFIMA). Long-memory processes. Predictions. Dynamic forecasts.
- Unobserved components model (UCM). Trend, seasonal, and cyclical components. Prediction of components. Dynamic forecasts.
- Spectral density. Parametric estimates after ARIMA, ARFIMA, and UCM. Compare components. Compare frequencies. Graphs.
- Time-series filters. Decompose into trend and cycle. Baxter–King band-pass filter. Christiano–Fitzgerald band-pass filter. Butterworth high-pass filter. Hodrick–Prescott high-pass filter.
- Business calendars. Set up trading days, etc. User defined. Fully integrated. Conversion to and from regular calendar.
- Contrasts and pairwise comparisons. Compare means, intercepts, and slopes. Compare adjacent categories. Compare with reference category or grand mean. Orthogonal polynomials. Adjust for multiple comparisons. Treatment effects. Graph effects and potential outcomes.
- More multilevel/mixed models. Estimation with complex survey data.
- More data management. Excel® import and export. EBCDIC. ODBC connection strings. PDF export of results and graphs.
- More ROC analysis. Adjustments for covariates.
- More survey analysis. Bootstrap and successive difference replicate (SDR) weights.
- Installation Qualification. Report for submission to regulatory agencies.
- More support for multicore computers. More estimators. Up to 64 cores supported.
- Automatic memory management. Up to 1 terabyte of memory.
