A Journal of International Politics, Law
and Philosophy

journals.cambridge.org/int

Editors

Duncan Snidal, University of Chicago

Alexander Wendt, The Ohio State University

Launching in 2009, International Theory invites papers on theory of all varieties and from all disciplines, provided it addresses problems of politics, broadly defined and relates to the international.

International Theory welcomes scholarship that uses evidence from the real world to advance theoretical arguments. However, it is intended as a forum where scholars can develop theoretical arguments in depth without an expectation of extensive empirical analysis.

Full instructions for contributors can be found here: journals.cambridge.org/int/ifc

Manuscripts for consideration or any queries should be sent by email to the Editors at it.mershon@osu.edu

International Theory is published with the support of the Mershon Center of

Philosophy for Perspectives on Politics

Perspectives on Politics is a journal of political science that seeks to provide political insight on important problems, as it emerges from rigorous, broad-based research and integrative thought. The editors anticipate authors and readers primarily consisting of political scientists, but also including journalists, policy analysts, public officials and their staff, and other social scientists.

Perspectives enables members of different subfields to speak with one another—and with knowledgeable people outside the discipline—on issues of common interest. Each article must be accessible to and meaningful for readers with much general knowledge of politics but with no specific knowledge of the issue at hand.

The editors aspire to publish contributions that are engaging, illuminating, provocative, and broad-based while retaining the highest standards of scholarly excellence. The editors warmly invite suggestions for articles, symposia, reviews, commentary, and dialogues, as well as other ideas, from political scientists and others concerned with the use of research and careful thinking to address crucial issues and values in the realms of power and politics.

Submission and Review

For submission guidelines, please see the journal's full-length statement of philosophy at www.apsanet.org/perspectives.

Our editorial team discusses all submissions. Those that seem promising are evaluated by several external reviewers—with full confidentiality on both sides—and then accepted, returned for further revisions, or rejected.

eJobs: Your Online Resource for Political Science Careers and Candidates

APSA's eJobs is a year-round, online resource for political science employment opportunities and job candidates. It contains the most comprehensive online database of political science jobs, is updated daily with new job listings and candidate resumes, and is fully searchable by field of interest, name of employer/candidate, region, keyword, position, salary, type of institution, and most recent listings.

How Does eJobs Work?

Job Candidates

APSA members can access all open job listings and post their resume online to share with prospective employers by logging in to www.apsanet.org with your MyAPSA member login. The service is free to and offered exclusively to APSA members. Only APSA members can access the job listings or post their resumes to share with prospective employers. We encourage non-members who are interested in the service to join APSA now.

Employers

Employers who are APSA Departmental Services Program (DSP) members may post an unlimited number of job listings to share with prospective candidates and may search the all available resumes free of charge. Employers who are not DSP members may advertise positions for a fee. Non-member employers who have posted a job listing can also access the candidate resumes.

Member and non-member employers can access eJobs by logging in to www.apsanet.org with their DSP login. Non-member employers: for more information on the DSP, contact dsp@apsanet.org.

Printed Job Listings in the PS: Political Science and Politics Supplement

APSA prints eJobs job listings in a supplement to the APSA journal PS: Political Science & Politics. The supplement accompanies PS each quarter (January, April, July and October) and includes job listings, upcoming conferences, tables of contents of forthcoming APSA journals, and other news in the profession. The print listing is free of charge to employers who post job listings on eJobs.
