THE SPIRIT OF THE LAWS IN MOZAMBIQUE

JUAN OBARRIO

The Spirit of the Laws in Mozambique

Juan Obarrio

"Obarrio has written a subtle, erudite exploration of the making of modern Mozambique, centered on the enduring struggle to found the law and to authorize governance. Few have dealt as imaginatively with the spirited resurgence of custom in postcolonial Africa. . . . A work of striking insight and originality."

—Jean Comaroff,
Harvard University
Paper $30.00

Performing Afro-Cuba

Image, Voice, Spectacle in the Making of Race and History

Kristina Wirtz

"Performing Afro-Cuba is a careful and precise anthropology of history making, a study of the effortful cultural work and highly structured theater of relations out of which the Cuban racial order was and is still, perhaps more forcefully than ever, being made and remade. Compact, well-argued, it is utterly engrossing."

—Paul Christopher Johnson, University of Michigan
Paper $30.00

Forensics of Capital

Michael Ralph

"A top-notch intervention into several fields, ranging from African studies to anthropology to economic history. It effortlessly takes the reader along for a ride on the tangled history that has led to the current sovereign state of Senegal. But part of its ambitious theoretical contribution lies precisely here:

by employing a novel argument about 'forensic profiles,' Ralph ably shows that all nation-states have a similarly tangled emergence."—Gustav Peebles, New School

Tradition and Innovation in Ethiopian Culture

Donald N. Levine

"Ethiopia's abiding problem is the symbiosis of her autochthonous civilization with the demands of an uncompromising modern world. . . . Nobody has yet described the dilemma, its origin, its magnitude and possible ways of resolving it with greater ability and understanding."

The Journal of Modern African Studies

Editor

Paul Nugent, University of Edinburgh, UK

Leonardo A. Villalón, University of Florida, USA

The Journal of Modern African Studies offers a quarterly survey of developments in modern African politics and society. Its main emphasis is on current issues in African politics, economies, societies and international relations. It is intended not only for students and academic specialists, but also for general readers and practitioners with a concern for modern Africa, living and working both inside and outside the continent. Editorial policy avoids commitment to any political viewpoint or ideology, but aims at a fair examination of controversial issues in order to promote a deeper understanding of what is happening in Africa today. The journal also includes an invaluable book review section.
