Early China

Publications

Early China is published jointly by the Society for the Study of Early China and the Institute of East Asian Studies, University of California, Berkeley. Information about the Society is available from its website, <<http://www.earlychina.org>>.

The Institute (<<http://ieas.berkeley.edu>>) manages publication and distribution of the Society's journal, Early China, and its monograph series. The current issue of the journal and some back issues are available from the Institute, as are two of the Early China Special Monograph series: no. 4 (Qiu Xiqui's Chinese Writing), and no. 6 (Japanese Scholarship on Early China, 1987–1991). (No. 1, A Concordance of the Xiaotun Nandi Oracle-Bone Inscriptions and no. 2, Early Chinese Texts: A Bibliographical Guide, are no longer in print; no. 5, The Guodian Laozi, has been reprinted as a print-on-demand book that can be ordered through bookstores or on-line booksellers.) When purchasing Early China or monographs, please add $4.00 for Media Mail or $8.25 for UPS delivery. International mail costs $7.00 for surface, or $16.00 for air mail. (Please contact the Institute concerning shipping charges for multiple volumes.) California residents, should add 8.25% sales tax. Payments by check must be in U.S. dollars via a check drawn on a U.S. bank or by international money order (please make checks payable to: Regents, University of California); the Institute also accepts VISA and MasterCard. BIRDTRACK PRESS specializes in setting type for sinological publications where East Asian characters are integrated with alphabetic text for both print and electronic distribution. We have fifteen years of experience in making custom logographs for variant and archaic East Asian characters, as well as special diacritics. The new challenge is combining attractive design with full Unicode compatibility: as the academic world moves to electronic publication, searching and indexing require that even 'unusual' items use standard encoding. Birdtrack Press knows how to fulfill publishers' specifications, and we are happy to discuss technical issues with design and production staff. We also work directly with authors, and can take a book from manuscript through the production process.
