Journal of MULTILINGUAL and MULTICULTURAL DEVELOPMENT

Editor Derrick Sharp

Review Editor Colin Williams

Associate Editor John Edwards

This journal, with its truly international editorial board, has done much to further the course of multilingual and multicultural studies in the eleven years since it was first published. It has ranged widely in its interests and is now especially keen to extend its range by publishing more articles and research studies in the areas of cultural and intercultural studies. It will of course continue to publish papers on all aspects of bilingualism and multilingualism, on minority languages and on the rights and obligations of minorities from many points of view.

Details of recent and forthcoming issues:

Volume 12 No. 1 & 2 :Special double issue of
The Proceedings of the Sixth Nordic Conference on Bilingualism.

Papers to be published in Volume 12; 3 onwards:

- ♦ Attitudes of Swazi Teachers Towards the First Official Language; Owen G. Mordaunt.

Comparative Studies in Society and History is a forum for presentation and discussion of new research into problems of change and stability that recur in human societies through time or in the contemporary world. It sets up a working alliance between specialists in all branches of the social sciences and humanities. Debate and review articles bring the general reader in touch with current findings and issues.

NOTES FOR CONTRIBUTORS

Contributions may be descriptive, analytical, or theoretical. Any article not in itself comparative may be accepted if it lends itself to comment that will place it in comparative perspective. Correspondence with the editors prior to the submission of articles will help to enable them to obtain such comment or a companion study. Emphasis in comparative studies may be either on similarities or, if these are significant enough and call for some recasting of generalizations, on differences. All contributions and editorial correspondence should be sent to the Editors, Comparative Studies in Society and History, 102 Rackham Building, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Michigan 48109-1070.

Two copies of each contribution, preferably accompanied by a stamped, addressed envelope, should be submitted. Both text and footnotes should be clearly typed with double spacing and wide margins; footnotes should appear on separate pages at the end of the article. Illustrations may be included by arrangement with the editors.
