International Shipping Cartels

BY DANIEL MARX, JR.

Subtitled A Study of Self-Regulation by Shipping Conferences, this book takes up such ramifications as: tramp rationalization schemes, non-conference liner competition, deferred rebates, and the use or abuse of monopoly power which these devices involve.

The author was a shipping company executive for a number of years before coming to Dartmouth, where he is now professor of economics.

FREE INDIA IN ASIA

By WERNER LEVI

▶ This carefully documented study surveys India's position in the whole of Asia and her relations with each of the countries in the area, with emphasis on developments since India's independence in 1947. Much of the material is based on Dr. Levi's personal observations and interviews with India's leaders during a recent visit to the country.

Phillips Talbot of the American Universities Field Staff says: "I applaud the publication of this book, both for its interpretation, which I regard as basically sound, and because it will evoke a discussion that may help to clear the air."

Dr. Levi, professor of political science, University of Minnesota, is the author of Fundamentals of World Organization and American-Australian Relations.

A realistic and concrete way to peace . . .
through mediation

by ELMORE JACKSON

Here is a new and valuable approach toward solution of the world crisis. A distinguished UN negotiator shows how the experience gained in the settlement of labor disputes here and abroad can be applied to the pressing problem of resolving conflicts among the nations of the world.

"A practical, modest and sensible contribution to one of the toughest problems the world has ever had to face. I hope Mr. Jackson receives the attention he deserves."—STUART CHASE, N.Y. Herald Tribune.
