In February the International Review published an article on the Inter-American Seminar of Red Cross Youth and Health Education held in Quito in November 1966, under the auspices of the League. It mentioned the results it achieved and gave its main resolutions.

This meeting in Peru had some practical consequences shortly afterwards which Panorama refers to below:¹

The Peruvian Red Cross held its first National Congress for JRC teacher-leaders in January and so became the first Society in Latin America to take action on the recommendations of the Inter-American Seminar of Red Cross Youth and Health Education, held in Ecuador two months earlier. The meeting stressed that Junior Red Cross should be centred on schools and teachers "educated" in Red Cross.

Almost 100 teachers took part in the Congress, studying JRC in the school, in the community and in the State and the teacher as a JRC volunteer. At the close of the conference they asked for more—urging the Peruvian Red Cross to hold such meetings regularly and to consider participation on a regional basis.

THE LEAGUE'S NURSING ADVISORY COMMITTEE

As has already been mentioned in the International Review, National Red Cross, Red Crescent and Red Lion and Sun Societies should, in their own interest, participate actively in recruitment and training of auxiliary nursing personnel. This was one of the main
