The Mawlana Rumi Review is an academic review devoted to the life, thought, poetry and legacy of Rumi, Islam's greatest Sufi poet and author of some 60,000 verses. A publication of the Rumi Institute (Gökalp Kamil, Founder), Near East University, Cyprus and the Rumi Studies Group at the Centre for Persian and Iranian Studies, Institute of Arab & Islamic Studies, University of Exeter, produced and distributed in the UK, the Review publishes articles, reports and book reviews in English and French. The editor welcomes articles on Rumi's art of story-telling, poetic imagery, theology, spiritual psychology, ecumenism, erotic spirituality, pedagogy, hermeneutics, ethics, epistemology, prophethood, metaphysics and cosmology, as well as on the heritage of Rumi's thought in modern and medieval literary history and interpretation and commentary on his works.

Backlash 9/11

Middle Eastern and Muslim Americans Respond

ANNY BAKALIAN and
MEHDI BOZORGMehr

"Bakalian and Bozorgmehr have captured the untold story of how the tragedy of 9/11 altered the landscape for Middle Eastern communities in America. The quality and scope of this research not only documents a critical chapter in our nation's struggle with tolerance and racial profiling, it brings to light the deep impact the backlash continues to have."

NORTH AFRICA
A History from Antiquity to the Present
 By Phillip C. Naylor

"Naylor's approach is innovative, his research thorough and balanced, and, most importantly, he exhibits an exceptional empathy for the peoples and cultures of the region whose history remains little understood in the United States. This is a work of exceptional insight that deserves the widest circulation possible."

—John Entelis, Professor of Political Science and Director, Middle East Studies Program, Fordham University

North Africa has been a vital crossroads throughout history, serving as a connection between Africa, Asia, and Europe. In a book that may lead scholars to reimagine the concept of Western civilization, incorporating the role North African peoples played in shaping the West. Phillip Naylor describes a locale whose transcultural heritage serves as a crucial hinge, politically, economically, and socially.

A YOUNG PALESTINIAN'S DIARY, 1941-1945
The Life of Sami 'Amr

Translated, annotated, and with an introduction by Kimberly Katz
 Foreword by Salim Tamari

"An important contribution to the field. . . . Unlike most of the few published diaries and memoirs of Palestinians from that period, it does not bring the voice of an upper-class nobleman or PLO leader; it brings a voice that comes to us from the margins of the Palestinian society. It provides the reader with information on a variety of daily life topics such as prices, relations between members of different religions, love, social life, and entertainment and constitutes a valuable source on Palestinian social and cultural history.

A Necessary Engagement

Reinventing America's Relations with the Muslim World
Emile Nakhleh

In A Necessary Engagement, the CIA's former point man on Islam makes a vigorous case for a renewal of American public diplomacy in the Muslim world. Offering a unique balance between in-depth analysis, personal memoir, and foreign policy remedies, the book injects much-needed wisdom into the public discussion of long-term U.S.-Muslim relations.

“A Necessary Engagement reflects a rare expertise in the intelligence community on political Islam and Muslim cultures. . . . It is a must read for policymakers in a new administration that will need a road map to both understand and engage the Islamic world.”

Passive Revolution
Absorbing the Islamic Challenge to Capitalism

CIHAN TÜĞAL

“Tuğal’s fresh look at the shifting relations between radical and mainstream Islamists, Kurds, and rigid secularists in Turkey provides an alternative look at Islamic politics. Undertaken at the right time and in the right place, this nuanced account of the multi-faceted struggles of the absorption of radical Islamists into the capitalist system will definitely lead to exciting, constructive debates.”

Iranophobia
The Logic of an Israeli Obsession

HAGGAI RAM

“Ram boldly challenges conventional assumptions about Iran and works to debunk Israeli and Western myths. First and foremost a study of Israeli culture through discussions about Iran, this utterly brilliant work reveals how Israeli anxieties about Iran are related to domestic social hierarchies, constructs, and politics in Israel.”

DESCRIPTION

The Middle East Studies Association (MESA) is a private, non-profit, non-political learned society that brings together scholars, educators and those interested in the study of the region from all over the world. From its inception in 1966 with 50 founding members, MESA has increased its membership to more than 2,600 and now serves as an umbrella organization for more than sixty institutional members and forty-two affiliated organizations. The association is a constituent society of the American Council of Learned Societies, the National Council of Area Studies Associations, and a member of the National Humanities Alliance. As part of its goal to advance learning, facilitate communication and promote cooperation, MESA sponsors an annual meeting that is a leading international forum for scholarship, intellectual exchange and pedagogical innovation. It is responsible for the International Journal of Middle East Studies, the premiere journal on the region, the Review of Middle East Studies, and a quarterly newsletter. An awards program recognizes scholarly achievement, service to the profession, and exemplary students. MESA is governed by a nine-member Board of Directors elected by the membership.

MESA is a nonprofit corporation with tax exempt status. Contributions to the Association are deductible under both U.S. Federal and British income tax regulations.

MISSION STATEMENT

The Middle East Studies Association (MESA) is a non-political association that fosters the study of the Middle East, promotes high standards of scholarship and teaching, and encourages public understanding of the region and its peoples through programs, publications and services that enhance education, further intellectual exchange, recognize professional distinction, and defend academic freedom.
