Education in Ethiopia

Prior to the turn of the century when the first timid efforts at secularization began, the Ethiopian educational system was a highly structured system of religious instruction, overseen by the Orthodox Church and the nation's rulers. This analysis of the development of Ethiopian education traces Ethiopia's emergence as a modern state with a growing need for an educational system able to train her citizens in statecraft, commerce, and industry.

The Rulers of Belgian Africa, 1884-1914

Lewis H. Gann and Peter J. Duignan

This comprehensive picture of Belgian colonialism in the Congo traces the formation of the colonial state that became Zaïre, considering it in the light of colonial experience in other African territories.

Whereas most studies have focused on the conquest and subjugation of the African population, this study probes the colonial apparatus itself, investigating the attitudes and behavior of the civil servants and soldiers who built the empire.

CONTRIBUTIONS

Contributions to the Journal are welcomed. They may be submitted in either English or French. They should not exceed about 6000 words (excluding footnotes), except with the prior approval of the Editors. A summary of the contents of the article, not exceeding about 300 words in length, should be attached on a separate sheet. Contributors are asked to observe closely the conventions listed in the Notes for Contributors, Vol. XV, pp. 173-4. It is essential that contributors observe these conventions, as the Journal now goes straight into page proof. This severely limits the number of corrections which are possible.

Page proofs will be sent, if necessary by airmail, to each contributor (or his nominee) provided that the Editors have been given an address through which he can be reached without delay. Corrections should be kept to the minimum, and should be corrections, not new material. If they are to be incorporated in the master proof corrected by the Editors, it is important that the contributor should return the page proofs, by airmail if necessary, to the Editor named when they are sent out (and not to the Cambridge University Press), within ten days of his receipt of them.

Contributors of articles and review articles receive 25 free offprints. Additional offprints may be obtained at reasonable cost, provided that they are ordered before publication on the special form sent out with the page proofs.

All contributions and books for review should be addressed to The Editors, The Journal of African History, School of Oriental and African Studies, University of London, London, W.C.1.
