

Editor's Notes

With this issue my term as editor comes to a close. I have enjoyed the job and have found it rewarding, in large measure because the papers contributed to the J.E.H. during my term have been interesting and valuable and because I have had good colleagues. My thanks go to the contributors, who have helped to educate me, and to my colleagues, who have helped to bear the burdens of the office: Dorothy Brady, Herman Krooss, Jane Gallman, Deborah Ascione, Maria Jones, the members of the Board of Editors and the outside referees. Many scholars served as outside referees; Stanley Engerman, Donald McCloskey, Thomas Orsagh, and William Parker were especially generous with their time and critical talents.

The new editor is Nathan Rosenberg, to whom I extend my very best wishes for a happy and successful term in office.

A COMPREHENSIVE ANNOTATED BIBLIOGRAPHY ON THE ECONOMIC HISTORY OF INDIA (1500 A.D. TO 1947 A.D.)

The Gokhale Institute of Politics and Economics, Poona, has undertaken the preparation of a comprehensive annotated bibliography on the above subject, with financial assistance from the Indian Council of Social Science Research. The bibliography will cover all source material available in the English language in printed and typescript form, as well as research work done in the various branches in Indian economic history covering the period 1500 A.D. to 1947 A.D. Historical statistics will receive special consideration.

At present, exhaustive check-lists of various types of works, such as books, periodical articles, theses, parliamentary papers, serials, committee reports, etc., are under preparation. The work of preparing annotated cards is also proceeding simultaneously. Supply of copies of check-lists and annotation cards to interested research institutions is under consideration.

Suggestions and queries on the project are welcome and should be addressed to:
