CJNS DISTINGUISHED REVIEWER OF THE YEAR for 2024

Dr. Cameron Elliott

The Canadian Journal of Neurological Sciences (CJNS) sincerely appreciates the numerous, timely, and high-quality manuscript reviews completed by Dr. Elliott over the past year. This award is based on review statistics from 2024.

Dr. Cameron Elliott is an epilepsy and pediatric neurosurgeon at the University of Alberta Hospital in Edmonton, Alberta. Cam was born and raised in Lac La Biche, Alberta. Following high school, he attended the University of Alberta, earning a BSc Honors degree in Neuroscience (2006) and an MD (2010). Also, at the University of Alberta, he completed his neurosurgical residency training, during which time he obtained a PhD in experimental surgery (2018) in the Clinical Investigator Program, examining the postoperative structural changes of the brain after temporal lobe epilepsy surgery as detected by MRI. Dr. Elliott then went on to complete a fellowship in Complex Epilepsy surgery under Mr. Andy McEvoy at The National Hospital for Neurology and Neurosurgery in London, United Kingdom, followed by a fellowship in Pediatric Neurosurgery under Mr. Greg James at Great Ormond Street Hospital for Children in London, UK.

Dr. Elliott is currently Assistant Professor of Surgery at the University of Alberta as well as the Residency Wellness Director. Dr. Elliott's clinical interests include pediatric neurosurgery as well as the neurosurgical treatment of both adult and pediatric patients with drug resistant epilepsy. His research interests are broadly centered on how point-of-care brain imaging in the perioperative period may impact clinical outcomes.

Thank you, Dr. Elliott. We appreciate your dedication and support of the CJNS.
