Horizons

The Journal of the College Theology Society

Editor

Anthony J. Godzieba, Villanova University, USA

Assistant Editor

Elena Procario-Foley, Iona College, USA

Horizons: The Journal of the College Theology Society publishes award-winning peer-reviewed articles, roundtables, and book reviews across a wide range of topics in theology and religious studies. While rooted in a commitment to the long and deep Catholic tradition of "faith seeking understanding," that commitment also welcomes all original scholarship in theology and religious studies that contributes to its basic constructive focus. It is unique in content with its ecumenical view, wide range of methods and topics, and insightful analysis of belief interacting with culture. Horizons publishes work by college and university professors with both active research profiles and teaching experience, such that its articles will appeal to those working in these contexts as well as seminarians, students, and the interested lay reader.

New Testament Studies

Published under the auspices of Studiorum Novi Testamenti Societas

Editor

Francis Watson, Durham University, UK

New Testament Studies is an international peer-reviewed periodical whose contributors include the leading New Testament scholars writing in the world today. The journal publishes original articles and short studies in English, French and German on a wide range of issues pertaining to the origins, history, context and theology of the New Testament and early Christianity. All contributions represent research at the cutting edge of the discipline, which has developed a wide range of methods. The journal welcomes submissions employing any such methods, such as exegetical, historical, literary-critical, sociological, hermeneutical and theological approaches to the New Testament, including studies that employ gender, ethnicity or ideology as categories of analysis, and studies in its history of interpretation and effects.

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY PRESS

Scottish Journal of Theology is an international journal of systematic, historical and biblical theology. Since its foundation in 1948, it has become established as one of the world's leading theological journals. As well as publishing original research articles, many issues contain an article review consisting of an extensive review of a recent book, with a reply from the author. Scottish Journal of Theology provides an ecumenical forum for debate, and engages in extensive reviewing of theological and biblical literature.

Instructions for Contributors

Books for review should be sent to Professor Ian McFarland, Scottish Journal of Theology, Divinity Faculty, University of Cambridge, West Road, Cambridge CB3 9BS, UK.

Articles for Scottish Journal of Theology must be submitted as an email attachment to the editor. The preferred format is MS Word.

Professor Ian McFarland

For full guidelines please refer to the Instructions for Contributors at www.journals.cambridge.org/sjt/ifc, where you will find information on open access policies and text preparation.

- The average length of articles is 5–6000 words. Those in excess of 8000 words cannot be considered. This word limit includes footnotes. Shorter articles are easier to schedule and will be published more quickly.
- Articles should be formatted with footnotes (not endnotes), and the footnotes should be fully justified. Long expository footnotes should be avoided.
- Submission of an article is taken to imply that it has not been previously published in English, and is not being considered for publication by another journal or as part of a book.
- Contributors are responsible for obtaining permission to reproduce any material in which they do not hold copyright and for ensuring that the appropriate acknowledgements are included in their manuscript.

■ Greek, Hebrew, Aramaic, and Syriac words, which should only be used sparingly, need not be transliterated. Unicode fonts should be used, and Hebrew and Aramaic words should be left unpointed.

■ First proofs of articles (but not of reviews) will be sent to authors by email as PDF files for correction, and must be returned within three days of receipt. Corrections should be confined to typographical errors. Other corrections may be made only with the concurrence of the editor. The publisher reserves the right to charge authors for correction of non-typographical errors.

■ Offprints will not be supplied but may be ordered from the publisher at proof stage. Authors will receive a PDF file of their contribution upon publication.
