

The Midwest Political Science Association met at Indiana University April 22 and 23 and commemorated the fiftieth anniversary of the Department of Government there. John E. Stoner, Indiana University, president of the association, presided. The program arranged by John E. Turner, University of Minnesota, consisted of considerations of the following topics with the leader of each: political theory, Thomas L. Thorson, University of Wisconsin; national government, Philip Wilder, Wabash College; comparative government, J. B. Christoph, Ohio State University; state and local government, David Minar, Northwestern University; public law and judicial process, Sidney Ulmer, University of Kentucky; international relations and foreign policy, David Farnsworth, University of Wichita; political parties, Paul Smith, Grinnell College; political behavior, Kenneth Prewett, Washington University (St. Louis); and developing nations, J. Gus Liebenow, Indiana University.

Two special features were an applied demonstration of simulation arranged by Raymond Tanter, Northwestern University, and a panel arranged by graduate students.

The American Society for Political and Legal Philosophy held its annual meeting April 24-25, 1965 in Washington, D. C. Richard B. Brandt, chairman of the department of philosophy of the University of Michigan, was named president-elect. J. Roland Pennock, Swarthmore College, was appointed editor and John W. Chapman, University of Pittsburgh, associate editor of Nomos, the annual publication of the Society. Forthcoming volumes of Nomos will stress "Equality," the topic of the Washington meeting, and "Representation," the topic of the joint meeting with the American Political Science Association in September, 1965. The editors invite suggestions on potential contributors.

In the future, depending upon the topic selected for consideration at the Annual Meeting, the Society will meet in conjunction with the annual meetings of other social science disciplines.

Indiana and Purdue Universities served as hosts to the University-Federal Agency Conference held at Bloomington, Indiana, April 25 to April 28. The conference was sponsored by the U. S. Civil Service Commission and was attended by educators and government agency officials interested in the problems of career development and continuing education.

The Department of Government and the Division of University Extension of Indiana University, in cooperation with the Atlantic Council of the United States and the WFBM stations of Indianapolis, sponsored a conference on the United States and the Atlantic Community in February.

Rutgers—The State University sponsored a conference on International and Comparative Urban Studies and American Higher Education on June 6-8 in New Brunswick, New Jersey.

A conference on Liberty and Loyalty in a Free Society, sponsored by the Institute of Governmental Affairs and the Department of Political Science, was held March 27, 1965, at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee. Speakers included Supreme Court Associate Justice William O. Douglas, Wisconsin Supreme Court Justice Thomas Fairchild, David Fellman of the University of Wisconsin-Madison, Dean Reynolds Seitz of the Marquette Law School, Harry Kalven, Jr. of the University of Chicago Law School, Victor Rosenblum of Northwestern University, and Allan Dionisopoulos of Northern Illinois University.

OTHER ACTIVITIES

The National Institute of Social and Behavioral Science, in collaboration with the Section on Social and Economic Sciences of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, will hold sessions for contributed papers at the annual meeting of the A.A.A.S. in Berkeley, California, December 26-31, 1965.

Association members interested in presenting a paper at these sessions should forward titles and abstracts of some 300 words not later than September 1 to Donald P. Ray, Director, National Institute of Social and Behavioral Science, 863 Benjamin Franklin Station, Washington, D. C. 20044.

Papers should be based on research current or recently completed by the author. Subjects may concern any field of political science, and especially science and public administration, political sociology of semi-developed countries, and international relations and the political science of national security.

Selected materials of the sessions will be published by the National Institute. The annual meeting of the A.A.A.S. is the largest professional meeting in the world.

Harper and Row, Publishers, Inc., have announced the establishment of the John Fitzgerald

Kennedy Memorial Award of $10,000 for a "book of general interest which illumines the influence of an individual or individuals on his or their times and which fosters an understanding of this country or its role in the world." The publishers expect to make the first award to a manuscript received prior to December 31, 1965, and to make similar awards regularly in ensuing years. Judges for this year's manuscript will be Senator Robert F. Kennedy; McGeorge Bundy, Special Assistant to the President; and Allan Nevins, professor emeritus of American History at Columbia University. Interested persons should contact the publishers at 49 E. 33rd Street, New York, New York 10016 for further details.

The Weil Institute for Studies in Religion and the Humanities is offering eight 1966 summer fellowships, each yielding $1,200. Those eligible are faculty members working on publishable papers in the humanities (literature, art, history, philosophy, etc.) dealing with religion. The purpose of the grant is to enable the recipient to forego summer teaching in order to further his research or writing in connection with his paper, at a location of his choice. Preference in the past has been accorded to younger candidates in the lower academic ranks. While the project may ultimately be incorporated in a book, the essay should be an end in itself, and not a segment of a proposed book. Applications must be submitted by September 1, 1965, to the Weil Institute, 3101 Clifton Avenue, Cincinnati, Ohio 45220.

A seminar on State Politics in India was held at Massachusetts Institute of Technology on December 21-23, 1964. The seminar was sponsored by the South Asia Committee of the Association for Asian Studies and was organized and chaired by Myron Weiner of M.I.T. Papers were read by Wayne Wilcox of Columbia, Baldev Raj Nayar of McGill University, Hugh Gray of L.S.E., Lawrence Shrader of Mills College, Marcus Franda of the University of Chicago and Paul Brass of Bryn Mawr. These papers, along with several others, will be published in a volume on the comparative study of the Indian states.

The University of Pennsylvania has received a total of $545,000 in grants to initiate a five-year cross-cultural study of the social values which influence the community leaders of countries in the process of political development to make decisions whose effect is to pull the society together. The main focus of the study will be on the identification, comparison and measurement of those values held by community leaders which influence their policy decisions.

In order to secure cross-cultural comparisons, the study will be conducted along parallel lines in several countries and regions within countries. During the first year, it will concentrate on India, Yugoslavia and Poland as well as the United States, and on the basis of this experience extend it to other areas.

Philip E. Jacob, professor of political science at Pennsylvania and director of the University's Program of International Cooperative Research on Social Values and Political Behavior, will direct the international study. Operationally based at Pennsylvania, it will be conducted with the collaboration of political and social scientists from various American and foreign universities.

Indiana University has been chosen by the National Institute of Public Affairs to conduct special mid-career training for government officials in the field of Science, Technology and Public Policy. Universities now cooperating with NIPA in various program facets of government mid-career training are Harvard, Princeton, Stanford, Chicago, Virginia and Indiana.

The ninth annual Institute on United States Foreign Policy was held in the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee Union on March 6, 1965. Speakers on the topic, "Break-up of the Bipolar World?" included Oliver E. Clubb, Jr. of Syracuse University; Alexander Dallin of Columbia University; James F. Leonard, Department of State; and Theodore C. Achilles, Atlantic Council, Washington, D. C.

BETTY BRAND BURCH, Tufts University, chaired the New England Regional Conference for the Association of Asian Studies held at Tufts last November.

ARDATH W. BURKS, Rutgers University, did field work in Japan during the first semester of 1965-66 on a grant from the Rutgers Research Council.

JAMES L. BUSEY, University of Colorado, served as Fulbright professor of political science at the School of Sociology and Politics, University of Sao Paulo, Brazil, during the spring semester of 1964.

GEORGE CAREY, Georgetown University, was on leave of absence during 1964-65 to do research with Charles Hyneman at Indiana University.

THOMAS H. CLANCY, S. J., Loyola University, New Orleans, has been awarded a cross-disciplinary postdoctoral fellowship by the Society for Religion in Higher Education of New Haven, Connecticut. He will study at Oxford University during the 1965-66 academic year.

GORDON B. CLEVELAND, University of North Carolina, will spend the summer and fall in Italy conducting research.

GEORGE A. CODDING, JR., University of Colorado, has been granted a one-year faculty fellowship for 1965-66. He will take up research residence in Geneva.

PATRICK J. CONKLIN, University of Missouri, was on leave of absence during most of 1964, serving as a staff member of the State Reorganization Commission of Missouri.

ROBERT T. DALAND, University of North Carolina, will spend the summer in Brazil at the request of the School of Administration of the University of Bahia. He will serve as a consultant on the research program of the School and assist in the program of the Institute of Public Service.

RAYMOND H. DAWSON, will return to his position in the department of political science at the University of North Carolina after one year on leave at King's College, University of London.

JOHN C. DONOVAN has returned to teaching (Bowdoin) after an absence of six years which he spent in Washington. During that time he served in several capacities: as Administrative Assistant to Senator Edmund S. Muskie; as Executive Assistant to the Secretary of Labor and during the past year as Manpower Administrator in the Department of Labor.

ARTHUR DOWELL, Indiana State University, was on sabbatical leave during the spring semester.

MARION DORO has returned to Connecticut College as a regular member of the staff. During 1963-64 she was a visiting professor at Makerere University College, Kampala, Uganda, on a University of Chicago Exchange Program supported by the Department of State.

LEO M. EGAND, formerly of the New York City Planning Department, has been appointed Senior Management Consultant in the office of the Mayor of New York City.

HENRY W. EHRMANN has been named Joel Parker professor of law and political science at Dartmouth.

AMITAI ETZIONI, Columbia University has been appointed to the editorial board of the Administrative Science Quarterly.

RICHARD R. FAGEN will be on leave from Stanford University for the academic years 1965-67 on a Ford Retraining Fellowship in Latin American politics.

STANLEY H. FRIEDELBAUM, Rutgers University, will be on research leave during 1965-66 on a grant from the Rutgers Research Council.

LAWRENCE H. FUCHS, Brandeis University, will be on leave during 1965-66 as a senior scholar at the East-West Center, University of Hawaii.

FEDERICO G. GIL returned in February to his position as chairman of Latin American Studies at the University of North Carolina.

HENRY F. GOODNOW will spend 18 months at the University of Indonesia, Jakarta, to aid the university's public administration program.

GEORGE GRASSMUCK is serving as acting director of the Center for Near Eastern and North African Studies at the University of Michigan during the academic year 1964-65.

RICHARD I. HOFFERBERT, Williams College, has been awarded an NCEP fellowship and will serve from July 1, 1965 to June 30, 1966, as special assistant to Governor Lane of Colorado.

DAN N. JACOBS, Miami University (Ohio), has been awarded a university grant for summer research in the Soviet Union.

C. HERSCHEL JONES, Bucknell University, directed a week-long Institute of Public Personnel Administration for New York State, February 15-19. The Institute is part of New York's Public Administration Internship and Trainee program.

JOSEF KALVODA, University of San Diego, College for Women, has been awarded a research grant by the Hoover Institution on Revolution, Peace, and War, Stanford University.

STEPHEN D. KERTESZ, Notre Dame, has received a research grant from the Rockefeller Foundation.

WILLIAM KINTER, University of Pennsylvania, received the annual award of the Assembly of Captive European Nations in February. Medals are awarded to journalists and political writers who have directed their concern toward Eastern Europe and the cause of freedom there.

NORMAN KOGAN, University of Connecticut, spent his 1964-65 sabbatical leave in Rome, Italy.

DAVID KURTZMAN, University of Pennsylvania, is serving as a member of the Pennsylvania State Planning Board and of the Governor's Committee on Tax Administration by appointment of Governor Scranton.

HUGH L. LEBLANC, George Washington University, was on sabbatical leave during the spring semester of 1965.

KURT L. LONDON, George Washington University, has been invited to lecture on American foreign policy and the Sino-Soviet conflict at Keio University, the Imperial Japanese Defense Academy and the University of Kyoto in the fall of 1965.

H. MALCOLM MACDONALD, University of Texas, has been granted a research leave for the summer of 1965.

DANIEL S. MCHARGUE, formerly of the University of Michigan, has completed a two-year assignment as visiting professor of public administration with the University of South California's Public Administration project in Pakistan. He will now act in the same capacity for the University's Indonesian Public Administration project.

WARREN L. MASON, Miami University (Ohio), has returned from a month's study in India, sponsored by the Indian government.

CURTIS W. MARTIN has returned from a year's stay in Australia as Fulbright professor. In Australia he divided his time between the University of Sydney and the University of Tasmania at Hobart.

DONALD R. MATTHEWS has returned to the University of North Carolina after being on leave of absence at the Center for Advanced Study in the Behavioral Sciences, Palo Alto, California.

L. VINCENT PADGETT, San Diego State College, was on leave during the spring quarter. He will spend the academic year 1965-66 in Colombia under a Rockefeller Foundation grant.

CHARLES J. PARRISH, University of Texas, has resumed his post there following a year in Chile on research leave.

HOWARD PENNIMAN, Georgetown University, combined a Fulbright research grant with sabbatical leave in southern France, during 1964-65.

EMMETTE S. REDFORD, University of Texas, will serve part time during the fall semester in the Graduate School of Business Administration.

DONALD R. REICH, Oberlin College, will spend the 1965-66 year as a fellow in the Center for Advanced Study in the Behavioral Science at Palo Alto.

JOHN P. ROCHE, Brandeis University, will be on sabbatical leave in 1965-66. He has received a research grant from the Rockefeller Foundation.

GEORGE K. ROMOSER, Connecticut College, received grants from the American Philosophical Society and the American Council of Learned Societies. He spent the 1964 summer in Berlin conducting research and lecturing at the Free University.

JOSEPH S. ROUCEK, University of Bridgeport, has been elected an honorary member of the Instituto de Ciencias Sociales of Spain.

DANKWART A. RUSTOW, Columbia University, is on sabbatical leave during the spring and fall terms of 1965. During the spring term he was NATO visiting professor in international relations at the London School of Economics and Political Science.

ROBERT SELTZER, Indiana State University has been on sabbatical leave.

JOSEF SILVERSTEIN, Rutgers University, will teach at Cornell during the summer of 1965 and while there will counsel a group of secondary school teachers in a special Cornell program.

KARL N. SNOW, Brigham Young University, is currently on leave to complete his doctorate at the University of California.

JOHN E. STONER, Indiana University, has received a research grant from the National Safety Council.

MORTON J. TENZER has resigned his position as associate director of the U. S. Civil Service Commission's Executive Seminar Center to become a staff member of the Institute of Public Administration in New York.

EARL WALLACE, University of North Carolina, served on the Evaluation Panel for the Selection of Fellowships for the National Science Foundation in Washington in February, 1965. He also served as a member of a committee to study the feasibility of expanding the coverage of the advanced test of the Graduate Record Examination.

ARTHUR M. WILSON has been named Daniel Webster professor at Dartmouth College.

DAVID O. D. WURFEL, University of Missouri, is spending the current academic year in the Far East. Much of his time has been devoted to a Fulbright lectureship at the University of Singapore.