The Atlantic World

Europeans, Africans, Indians and Their Shared History, 1400 - 1900

THOMAS BENJAMIN, Central Michigan University

www.cambridge.org/atlanticworld

Praise for The Atlantic World

“...a welcome addition to the growing scholarship on the history of the Atlantic World. Benjamin's narrative, supplemented by the voices of contemporary Atlantic World inhabitants, deftly illustrates the complex connections that have historically joined people and places around the Atlantic Basin. The text's chronological and geographic breadth make it an ideal resource for scholars and students alike.”

— Dr. Rebecca Hartkopf Schloss, Texas A & M University

“Both erudite and accessible, The Atlantic World is the perfect textbook for courses on the interaction between Europeans, Africans, and Native Americans in the early modern period. Professor Benjamin has achieved just the right tone, length, and detailed coverage, without losing sight of the larger picture. His years of reading widely on myriad topics has paid off handsomely, to the benefit of instructors and students alike.”

— Matthew Restall, Pennsylvania State University

Features

Cohesively written and feature rich

This is a single-author book written by someone who teaches a course on Atlantic History. It is an all-purpose text upon which the course can be built. It also provides pedagogical features such as excerpts from primary documents and further reading lists.

Geographic Balance

Rather than privilege one aspect of the Atlantic World to the exclusion of others – the British Atlantic, Native Peoples, the Spanish Empire, the slave trade in Africa – it balances each group and area in turn.

Up to date and accessible

Benjamin introduces recent scholarship, case studies, and historiographic debates, emphasizing history as an interpretive discipline. Despite this, the text is lightly footnoted, and each chapter has a bibliography for further reading.

Table of Contents

Instructions to Contributors

Editorial Policy

The Journal of Global History seeks scholarly articles that explore global change. Conscious of past historiographical inequities, the journal particularly welcomes contributions from Asia, Africa and Latin America. The editors appreciate submissions from both senior figures in the field and younger scholars wishing to situate detailed research in a wider context. The journal also publishes survey articles, think-pieces and selected book reviews. The editorial philosophy is to encourage disciplined diversity, disciplined through rigorous peer-review, and diverse in points of view. Every yearly volume of the journal consists of three parts.

Reviews of books: The journal only publishes reviews that centrally address problems of global history. Publishers are invited to send to the Chief Editor announcements of forthcoming or recently published books that they think would be of interest to global historians. They are asked not to send books for review unless specifically required to do so. Unrequested books will not be returned. Requested books should be sent to the LSE address indicated below.

1. Submission

If at all possible, articles submitted for consideration should be e-mailed, as Microsoft Word attachments (please do not use pdf files), to:
journal.global.history@lse.ac.uk

Alternatively hard copy should be sent to:

Journal of Global History
Academic Publications
3rd Floor, Aldwych House
Houghton Street
London WC2A 2AE

Length: Articles should be no longer than 12,500 words, including footnotes, unless authors obtain previous permission from the editors. The length of review articles and reviews will be set on a case by case basis by editors.

Language: All material should be written in English, and an English translation of all quotations in another language must be provided.

Conditions: Submission will be taken to imply that material is unpublished in an academic journal or book, and is not being considered for publication elsewhere, even in a language other than English. Exceptions may be made for articles published elsewhere in minority languages.

2. Manuscript preparation

Once an article has been accepted for publication in principle, authors should make any revisions requested by editors. The final version should be sent as an e-mail attachment in Microsoft Word, to the e-mail address given above. In cases of hard copy, two copies should be sent to the above address, double-spaced throughout, including notes.

An abstract: of 100-150 words should be provided.
Bibliography: Do not include a consolidated list of references at the end of the article.

Footnotes: should be numbered consecutively throughout and appear at the foot of the page, or at the end of the article.

Tables: should be placed at the end of the article, and clear instructions should be provided for the typesetter as to where each one should be inserted in the text. A descriptive heading and references to sources must accompany each table.

Illustrations: should if possible be digital, of high resolution (300 dpi), and transmitted electronically. In some cases, they may be sent on a computer disk (Macintosh or PC) to the above address. If photographs are sent by post, they should be black and white glossy prints. Maps sent by post must be submitted in camera-ready form. All illustrations should be clearly referenced in the text, and references to sources and descriptive headings must be attached. A mailing address: should be supplied separately for the author(s).

3. Text conventions

Spelling: British with 'ize' preferred over 'ise'. Where foreign language words have achieved common currency, they should not be italicised and accents should be omitted – e.g. élite. Foreign words not assimilated into English (e.g. santiri) should be italicised throughout, not just where they occur for the first time, and should have the necessary accents or diacritics. Capitals should be kept to a minimum, but should always be used where individual people or places are referred to specifically.

Numbers: up to 100 should normally be spelled in full. Days of the week and months of the year should appear in full, as should centuries, thus eighteenth century. In citations, the least number of figures should be used in connection with dates and pages – thus 241-5, except with the numbers 10-19 in each hundred, which should be cited as 112-13, not 112-3.

Abbreviations: should be followed by a full point; contractions should not. Full points should be omitted in initials which are read as words, as in USA, BBC, but retained for authors' initials, thus J. G. A. Pocock.

Quotations: of more than 60 words should be separated out from the text and indented, without quotation marks. All citations in a language other than English should be translated into English, and should thus be kept short.

Footnotes: should be numbered in one sequence, identified by a superior number in the text, and appear at the foot of the page. They should not contain any substantive text, but should be used to indicate sources.

References: should take the form of a full citation in the first instance, followed by short citations. Do not abbreviate journal titles. Ibid. should only be used to refer to the immediately preceding citation. Do not use op. cit. Please use the following conventions (note that these examples are in British English):
