

CORRESPONDENCE

Professor William M. Calder III writes:

In a welcome and careful review of The Cambridge Ritualists Reconsidered at CR 42 (1992), 418–420, Professor W. Geoffrey Arnott alleges (418): ‘And the absence of any British contributor to the conference has led to a number of trivial but unnecessary errors about English institutions.’

Professor J. K. Newman, B.A. Oxon. 1950 (Lit. Hum., Exeter College), is British. He is one of the most influential and productive British classicists in the U.S., where he has taught since 1969. He was the British contributor.
