The Distinction and Relationship between Jus ad Bellum and Jus in Bello Keiichiro Okimoto

Keiichiro Okimoto

This book explores the distinction and relationship between two principal branches of international law regulating the use of force: jus ad bellum (when force can be used) and jus in bello (how force can be used).

Keiichiro Okimoto was a delegate and legal adviser to the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC) Delegation in Africa, Asia and the Middle East.

International Environmental Law Ulrich Beyerlin and Thilo Marauhn

International Environmental Law is a new textbook written for students, practitioners, and anyone interested in the subject. The overall aim of the book is to provide a fresh understanding of international environmental law as a whole, seen in the light of climate change, biodiversity loss, and the other serious environmental challenges facing the world. The book has also been kept deliberately manageable in size by careful selection of topics and by adopting a cross-cutting synthesis of regulatory interaction in the field. This enables the reader to place international environmental law in the context of public international law in general.

Ulrich Beyerlin is a retired Professor of Public Law and International Law.

Thilo Marauhn is Professor of Public Law, International and European Law at University of Gießen, Germany.
