NOTES ON CONTRIBUTORS

ANTHONY JAMES COLES is a post-graduate student at the University of Lancaster, where he is working on a study of "Problems and Policies in Health and Housing in West Cumberland, 1889-1939."

CARL I. HAMMER, JR. is a Fellow at the East Liberty Employment Security Institute at Pittsburgh. His articles on late-medieval and Tudor Oxford have appeared in Past and Present, Mediaeval Studies, and Vierteljahrschrift für Sozial- und Wirtschaftsgeschichte. He is completing a demographic and social study of the Bavarian peasantry in the early Middle Ages.

DEREK M. HIRST is Associate Professor of History at Washington University, St. Louis. He is the author of The Representative of the People? (1975); and an article on the origins of the English civil war in the Journal of Modern History (1978). He is now working on a volume for the New History of England series to be published by Harvard University Press: Authority and Conflict, 1603-1658.

OGBU U. KALU is Senior Lecturer in Church History at the University of Nigeria, Nsukka. He has published Christianity in West Africa: The Nigerian Study (1977) and Divided People of God: Church Union Movement in Nigeria, 1876-1966 (1978). Some of his numerous articles have appeared in Church History, Misology, International Review of Missions, and Journal of the Historical Society of Nigeria.

LEE KRENIS is a part-time Instructor in History and 'science writer' at the University of Rochester. She has a Ph. D. in English and is now working on a Ph. D. in History. The title of her thesis is "The Victorian Neurasthenic Establishment: The Sick Role and the Social System."

WILLIAM C. LOWE is Assistant Professor of History (Visiting) at Marshall University, Huntington, West Virginia. He has published an article on the bishops and the repeal of the Stamp Act in the Historical Magazine of the Protestant Episcopal Church (1977) and is now working on the rise of party in the House of Lords, 1760-1784.

J. M. McEWEN is Professor of History at Brock University, St. Catharines, Ontario. His articles have appeared in the Journal of British Studies, the Journal of Modern History, and Queen's Quarterly. His current research involves "Press and Politics in Britain during the First World War."

PETER ROEBUCK is Senior Lecturer in History at the New University of Ulster at Coleraine, Northern Ireland. He has published several articles on landownership and agriculture in 17th and 18th century England and has a book in press entitled, Yorkshire Baronets, Their Families and Estates, 1640-1760. He has served as joint editor of Irish Economic and Social History since its inception in 1974 and is now researching the history of landed estates in Britain and Ulster since the early 17th century.
