

TRANSACTIONS
OF THE
ROYAL HISTORICAL SOCIETY

The Society as a body is not responsible for the opinions advanced in the following pages

TRANSACTIONS
OF THE
ROYAL HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Fourth Series

VOLUME III.

LONDON
OFFICES OF THE SOCIETY

22 RUSSELL SQUARE, W.C. 1

1920

CONTENTS

	PAGE
PRESIDENTIAL ADDRESS: By Sir C. W. OMAN, M.P., F.B.A., LL.D. (Edin.), K.B.E., President	I
Conflict between East and West through the Ages—It's vicissitudes— The Crusades only a phase of this conflict—Various aspects of the crusading movement—Crisis of the attack on Christendom past in 1095—The First Crusade a counter-stroke against the new Moslem peril—The strategical position in the Near East—Importance of sea power—Crusading impulses and ideals—Types of Crusaders and their motives—Causes of the eventual failure of the First Crusade —Its partial success explained—Failure of later Crusades due to the growth of the Mohammedan Sultanate—Other causes of failure —The fall of Jerusalem—The Third Crusade a valuable diversion— Importance of the Syrian coast line—The Fifth Crusade wrecked by the water-ways of Egypt—Further failure of St. Louis in Egypt —Gradual reduction of the Christian coast defences in Syria (1268- 1291)—Rise of the Ottoman Turks—Inroad of the Mongols—Decay of the Frankish Principalities—Selfish policy of the Italian sea- powers—Growth of the Turkish power and capture of Constantinople —Set-back to the Levantine trade—Danger in store for Western Christendom from the Ottoman Empire—Parallels and contrasts between the campaigns of the Crusaders in Palestine and the campaign of the Allies, 1916-1918.
BRITISH AND ALLIED ARCHIVES DURING THE WAR (Series II.)	25
Introductory—France—Belgium—The Canadian War Records—Aus- tralia's Records of the War—The Union of South Africa.
THE VOYAGE OF PEDRO TEIXEIRA ON THE AMAZON FROM PARÁ TO QUITO AND BACK, 1637-1639. By the Rev. G. EDMUNDSON, Litt.D., F.R.Hist.S.	52
Attempts to explore the river Amazon in the sixteenth century by the Dutch and Spaniards—Further explorations by Europeans in the early seventeenth century—Voyage of Franciscan Missionaries in 1638—Dutch, Spanish and Portuguese rivalry—Voyage of Teixeira from Pará to Quito—Its difficulties—Authenticity of the written narrative—Description of the MSS. of this voyage—Teixeira's return voyage from Quito to Pará—His "Act of Possession" discussed—Controversies respecting this document—Their devolution.

	PAGE
THE ENGLISH IN RUSSIA DURING THE SECOND HALF OF THE SIXTEENTH CENTURY. By Miss MILDRED WRETTS-SMITH, M.A., M.Sc.(Econ).	72
Scope and method of the Paper—The beginnings of the Muscovy Company—Russia in the sixteenth century—The English factories at Moscow and Archangel—The river voyage to Vologda—The Muscovy Company's establishments—Relations with the Russians—Position of the English agents—Abuses of private trade—Idle apprentices—The pest of interlopers—Anglo-Russian marriages—Some characteristic Englishmen in Russia—Anglo-Russian amenities—English Ambassadors to the court of the Russian Tzar—English physicians, and other experts in the service of Ivan the Terrible—English and Russian rope-makers—Civillising influence of these Western craftsmen.
UNPUBLISHED DOCUMENTS RELATING TO TOWN LIFE IN COVENTRY. By Miss M. DORMER HARRIS	103
Description of the MSS. referred to—Their general characteristics—Specimens of the correspondence—Letters from royalties and other celebrities—Diary of a Puritan mayor of Coventry.
THE BLACK DEATH IN WALES. By WILLIAM REES, M.A., D.Sc., F.R.Hist.S.	115
Neglect of the subject due to lack of evidence—Particularly in the Marcher lordships—Distinction between the Englishry and Welshry—Principles of feudal tenures in Wales—System of land cultivation in force—The approach of the Pestilence—Its progress traced from South to North—Evidence of its ravages in the Marcher lordships—Traceable in the court rolls of Ruthin—Its effect upon the Crownlands of West Wales and North Wales—The Pestilence slackening in the winter of 1349-1350—Further sporadic outbreaks—The Second Pestilence of 1361—Its incidence—A further outbreak in 1369—Economic effects of the Pestilence in Wales—Resumption of lands by the lords—And growth of individual enterprise—Effects on employment and wages.
THE COMMONS JOURNALS OF THE TUDOR PERIOD (Alexander Prize Essay). By J. E. NEALE, M.A.	136
Bibliography of the subject—Examination of the existing Journals—Conflicting views as to their origin—Importance of the individuality of the several clerks of the house—Their position and duties—Problems connected with the compilation of the Journals—Conclusions from an analysis of the documents—Manuscripts missing for the years 1584-1601—The question of the custody of the Journals—Their repositories identified—Causes of the loss of documents—Changes of custody between 1640 and 1660—Method of compiling the earlier Journals—The evolution of the Journals between 1547 and 1607.

CONTENTS

PAGE

INDEX	171
REPORT OF COUNCIL	181
LIST OF FELLOWS	188
LIST OF PUBLICATIONS	217