THE LINCOLN EDUCATIONAL FOUNDATION, INC.

ANNOUNCES TWO

$2,500 FELLOWSHIPS

GIVEN FOR STUDY AND RESEARCH IN THE BUSINESS HISTORY
AND/OR THE ECONOMIC HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES
DURING THE ACADEMIC YEAR

1965-1966

ELIGIBILITY

Applicants must be American or Canadian citizens and planning to acquire a Ph.D. degree, with either American Economic History or American Business History as the area of major interest. Those who have demonstrated capacity to pursue graduate work successfully for one year will have an advantage over those who are just beginning graduate study. Each Fellow will select the university he wishes to attend after consultation with the committee of selection. Every applicant should have ambitions at least to teach, if not to engage in research, in his chosen field of study.

SELECTION

The committee to select the Lincoln Educational Foundation Fellows is as follows: James P. Baughman, Harvard University; Joe B. Frantz, University of Texas; C. Clyde Jones, Kansas State University; A. K. Steigerwalt, University of Michigan; and John B. Rae, Harvey Mudd College, chairman.

APPLICATION

Applications for the Fellowships must be submitted not later than March 1, 1965. Inquiries and requests for application blanks should be directed to John B. Rae, Harvey Mudd College, Claremont, California, 91716.

ADMINISTRATION AND THE
HARVARD-NEWTON PROJECT IN BUSINESS HISTORY
AND ECONOMIC CONCEPTS ANNOUNCE
FIVE $1000 FELLOWSHIPS for SECONDARY SCHOOL TEACHERS
TO WRITE
CASE STUDIES IN NEW ENGLAND BUSINESS AND ECONOMIC HISTORY

A typical case study should deal with a comparatively limited segment of historical experience and raise issues suitable for classroom discussion. A wide range of topics is acceptable, including one or more aspects of the history of a New England firm, industry, businessman, business institution, or governmental policy. Cases based upon primary sources are desirable, but not essential.

Applications are invited from teachers throughout New England.

Awards will be based on:

1. Contribution of the proposed case study to knowledge of New England business and economic history.
2. Appropriateness of the proposed case studies for classroom use in history and the social science courses.
3. Availability of applicants to participate in a one month case-writing workshop in the summer of 1965 in conjunction with the staff of the Business History Group of the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration and the Harvard-Newton Project in Business History and Economic Concepts.

Applications must be submitted by February 1, 1965. Awards will be announced on February 15, 1965. For further information write: Professor Ralph W. Hidy, Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration, Soldiers Field, Boston, Massachusetts 02163.

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL OF BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION
HARVARD UNIVERSITY

ANNOUNCES

SUMMER FELLOWSHIPS FOR RESEARCH IN BUSINESS AND ECONOMIC HISTORY

Applications are invited from scholars working in the fields of business and economic history whose research can be advanced by use of the library resources of the Harvard Business School during the summer of 1965. These resources include the unparalleled collections of business literature in Baker Library, the Kress Library of Business and Economics, and the Division of Business Manuscripts.

Successful applicants will be awarded financial assistance at the rate of $400 per month for expenses in connection with the research visit, plus round-trip transportation expenses. Applications will not be accepted for a period of less than one month's nor more than two months' residence.

Applications will be judged in terms of the promise of the project submitted, its relevance to the library facilities being made available, and the applicant's scholarly qualifications. A committee composed of representatives of the library and the Business History Group at the School will make the awards.

Applications will be received until April 1, 1965. Notice of awards will be made by April 15, 1965.

For further information and application blanks, please contact: Professor R. W. Hidy, Morgan 304, Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration, Boston, Massachusetts 02163.

The Thomas Newcomen
$1,000 Award in Business History
Presented by
THE NEWCOMEN SOCIETY IN NORTH AMERICA
in cooperation with
THE BUSINESS HISTORY REVIEW

¶ The Newcomen Society in North America, in cooperation with the Business History Review, announces a prize of $1,000 and scroll to be awarded in 1967 for the best book on the history of business published in the United States during the years 1964-1966.

¶ For the purposes of this award, "the history of business" will be interpreted in its broadest sense, including not only the history of firms or industries, but books tracing interactions of businessmen, analyses of business philosophy or behavior, and studies of the adjustment of businesses and businessmen to their economic, political, and social environments.

¶ Criteria for selection will include contribution to knowledge, depth of analysis, soundness of reasoning, clarity of style and organization, and general readability and format.

¶ The committee to select the recipient of the 1967 Thomas Newcomen $1,000 Award in Business History is composed of: Professor James P. Baughman, Managing Editor, Business History Review, Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration; Mr. Stanley van den Heuvel, Trustee, The Newcomen Society in North America; and Professor Arthur M. Johnson, Editor, Business History Review, Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration, chairman.

¶ The 1967 Thomas Newcomen $1,000 Award in Business History will be the second in a triennial series of prizes intended to encourage the study and improve the writing of business history in the United States and Canada.

Newcomen Awards in Business History

Presented by

THE NEWCOMEN SOCIETY IN NORTH AMERICA

in cooperation with

THE BUSINESS HISTORY REVIEW

☛ Two Newcomen Awards in Business History are offered annually for articles published in the Business History Review. The First Prize, of $250, is awarded the article judged, according to the rules outlined below, to be the best of the year. The Special Award, of $100, is for the best article by an author who is not more than 35 years of age and who has not published a book.

☛ Prize articles are selected by a panel of judges composed of a representative of The Newcomen Society and members of the Advisory Board of the Business History Review. No member of the Advisory Board or editorial staff shall be eligible for a prize, and articles so authored will not be considered in the judging. Authors eligible for the Special Award shall also be eligible for the First Prize, but in no event shall both prizes be awarded for the same article. The Advisory Board reserves the right to withhold the Special Award in the event that eligible articles do not, in the Board's judgment, merit prize consideration. The awards program is administered by the editorial offices of the magazine.

☛ Criteria for selection include: originality, value, breadth, and interest of contribution, quality of research materials and methods, and quality of presentation.

Railroads and American Economic Growth

ESSAYS IN ECONOMETRIC HISTORY

By Robert William Fogel. The widely held belief that railroads were indispensable to American economic growth during the nineteenth century is challenged here, in a unique study based on the analytical and statistical techniques of modern economics.

Professor Fogel contends that the railroads did not play nearly so great a role in shaping the U.S. economy as they are generally credited with doing. He suggests, in fact, that America could have achieved nearly the same level of prosperity without railroads as it did with them.

Demonstrating the applicability of econometrics to the study of history, the book is a landmark of methodology as well as an important contribution to American economic history. $6.95
