

JOURNAL OF HISTORICAL SOCIOLOGY

Edited by Philip Corrigan, Derek Sayer, Gavin Williams

The Journal of Historical Sociology fills a major gap in the humanities and social sciences. Edited by a distinguished international panel of historians, anthropologists, geographers and sociologists, the journal is both interdisciplinary in approach and innovative in content.

Recent Articles include:

Mothers and Teachers: Gender and Class in Educational Proposals for and by Women in Colonial Bengal
Himani Bannerji

To Teach Them How to Live: The Politics of Public Health from Tuberculosis to Aids
Alan Sears

REVOLUTION IN THE COUNTRYSIDE

AGRARIAN REFORM AND RURAL CONFLICT IN GUATEMALA, 1944–1954

BY JIM HANDY

“Likely to become the standard treatment of Guatemala’s 1952–1954 land reform and of the political and social conflict that surrounded it. . . .

Essential to understanding the violence that has plagued that country for the past forty years.”—David McCreery, Georgia State University

Home to Work

Motherhood and the Politics of Industrial Homework in the United States

Eileen Boris

Gender prejudices have shaped the battle over homework from the 1870s. But by the 1980s, the middle-class mother at the keyboard has replaced the victimized immigrant. This record of the voice of homeworking women in the debate over their labor also provides an historical context to the Reaganite lifting of New Deal bans.

44370-9 Hardcover $59.95

44548-0 Paper $17.95

The Culture of the English People: Iron Age to the Industrial Revolution

N. J. G. Pounds

Illustrated throughout by objects, artifacts and structures, many of which are visual representations of earlier cultures, this wide-ranging book traces the development of popular culture in England from the Iron Age, when it first became apparent as a whole, to the eighteenth century.

The Devil's Dominion

Magic and Religion in Early New England

Richard Godbeer

"Godbeer shows us that popular belief in magic underlay most accusations of witchcraft, even in the Salem epidemic, and he also shows that popular belief did not necessarily ascribe the efficacy of magic, and by consequence of witchcraft, to the devil."

—The New York Review of Books

46670-9 Paper $14.95

Now in a new Canto edition...

Mr. Bligh's Bad Language

Passion, Power and Theatre on the Bounty

Greg Dening

William Bligh was one of the least violent disciplinarians in the British navy. It is this paradox that inspires an analysis of the infamous voyage of the Bounty in the context of other explorations and revolutions as well as the disclosure of more startling revelations concerning the mutiny.

46718-7 Paper $11.95

American Samurai

Myth, Imagination, and the Conduct of Battle in the First Marine Division, 1941–1951

Craig M. Cameron

"Craig Cameron offers the most careful, complex, and critical study yet of the relationship between imagination and conduct for America's World War II soldiers. Deftly combining older and newer historical methods, and avoiding the jargon and myopia of both, Cameron creates a sensitive, often chilling portrait of how soldiers are prepared for war, changed by it, and encouraged to remember it." —Michael S. Sherry,

Northwestern University

44168-4 Hardcover $24.95

Crow Dog's Case

American Indian Sovereignty, Tribal Law, and United States Law in the Nineteenth Century

Sidney L. Harring

The first social history of American Indians' role in the making of American law sheds new light on Native American struggles for sovereignty and justice during the "century of dishonor," a time when their lands were lost and their tribes reduced to reservations.

41563-2 Hardcover $54.95

46715-2 Paper $17.95

Poverty and Deviance in Early Modern Europe

Robert Jütte

Informed by new perspectives on the role of the poor themselves in the provision of welfare services characteristic of much recent social history, this study provides an accessible and authoritative account of poverty and deviance during the early modern period.

Comparative Studies in Society and History is a forum for presentation and discussion of new research into problems of change and stability that recur in human societies through time or in the contemporary world. It sets up a working alliance between specialists in all branches of the social sciences and humanities. Debate and review articles bring the general reader in touch with current findings and issues.

NOTES FOR CONTRIBUTORS

Contributions may be descriptive, analytical, or theoretical. Any article not in itself comparative may be accepted if it lends itself to comment that will place it in comparative perspective. Correspondence with the editors prior to the submission of articles will help to enable them to obtain such comment or a companion study. Emphasis in comparative studies may be either on similarities or, if these are significant enough and call for some recasting of generalizations, on differences. All contributions and editorial correspondence should be sent to the Editors, Comparative Studies in Society and History, 102 Rackham Building, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Michigan 48109-1070.

Two copies of each contribution, preferably accompanied by a stamped, addressed envelope, should be submitted. Both text and footnotes should be clearly typed with double spacing and wide margins; footnotes should appear on separate pages at the end of the article. Illustrations may be included by arrangement with the editors.
