

THE EDITOR'S CORNER

Dr. Rosario J. Tosiello, of the history faculty at Northeastern University, Boston, Massachusetts, has been awarded the 1971–1972 Postdoctoral Fellowship in Business History.

This fellowship is jointly sponsored by the Newcomen Society in North America and the Harvard University Graduate School of Business Administration. Its purpose is to assist a Ph.D. graduate in history or a related discipline such as economics or sociology to improve his acquaintance with business and economic history, increase his skills as they relate to these fields, and to engage in research that will benefit from the resources of the Harvard Business School and the Boston scholarly community. The Fellow must be under the age of thirty-five. He participates in the School's business history courses and in at least one other formal course of instruction based on his particular needs or interests. At least one-half of the Fellow's time during his twelve-months' residence at the School is spent on research of his own choosing in the field of business history.

The fellowship award for the 1972–1973 academic year is $9,000; applications and inquiries should be addressed to Professor Alfred D. Chandler, Jr., Morgan Hall 211, Harvard University Graduate School of Business Administration, Boston, Massachusetts 02163.

* * *

The Committee on Urban and Industrial Archives of the Society of American Archivists is seeking the aid of interested institutions and individuals to help distribute brochures designed to promote the development of archival collections about urban social and civic institutions, as well as those pertaining to industrial America.

The S.A.A. established the committee last year in response to increasing scholarly interest in urban studies. The committee seeks to promote preservation of archival materials pertaining to urban and industrial society that have been accumulated by social, philanthropic, and fraternal organization; businesses; labor unions; chambers of commerce; and other civic institutions. It wants to advise these groups in the techniques of archival administration, as well as the publication of both finding aids and the materials themselves.

The committee has drafted three brochures for distribution to executives of business, labor, and social institutions to recommend the preservation of their basic records. Within a few years it will prepare directories of repositories of collections in these fields and manuals for acquiring, arranging, and describing permanently valuable records.

Interested persons and institutions should communicate with the committee chairman: Meyer H. Fishbein, National Archives and Records Service, Washington, D.C. 20408.

* * *

The Academy of Management, a professional association of over 1,500 academicians and practitioners in the field of management, has recently created a Division of Management History. This Division intends to encourage further research interest in the evolution of management theory and practice. For further information, readers may contact Claude George or Daniel A. Wren, Florida State University, Tallahassee, Florida 32306.

* * *

Bulletin #7 (April, 1971) of the Kress Library of Business and Economics, Harvard Business School, is "Industrial Exhibitions before 1851 and Their Publications." This bulletin is authored by the curator of the Kress Library, Kenneth E. Carpenter, and contains as an appendix a checklist of exhibition literature from thirteen European nations.

* * *

The Arno Press and the New York Times are reissuing a number of important works in a series called "The Rise of Urban America." Two such books are James Weston Livingood's The Philadelphia-Baltimore Trade Rivalry, 1780-1860 and Allan Nevins, ed., The Diary of Philip Hone, 1821-1851. Barnes & Noble is distributing in the United States a series called "Debates in Economic History," under the general editorship of Peter Mathias and published in the United Kingdom by Methuen. The series consists of previously published materials. Some recent titles include: Peter Ramsey, ed., The Price Revolution in Sixteenth-Century England; Carlo M. Cipolla, ed., The Economic Decline of Empires; and S.B. Saul, ed., Technological Change: The United States and Britain in the Nineteenth Century.

* * *

Among books recently received are the first of a projected five volumes of the Letters of Louis D. Brandeis, edited by Melvin I. Urofsky and David W. Levy (State University of New York Press), and a compilation of Australian Banking and Monetary Statistics, 1817-1945 by S. J. Butlin, A. R. Hall, and R. C. White (Reserve Bank of Australia, Sydney). Interesting reading may be found in David S. Landes and Charles Tilly, eds., History as Social Science, a study done for the Social Science Research Council and published by Prentice-Hall. A good companion volume is Edward Shorter, The Historian and the Computer: A Practical Guide, issued by the same publisher.

* * *

The Eleutherian Mills Historical Library, Greenville, Delaware, will sponsor its fourth annual fall conference October 29, 1971, entitled "Patterns of Urban Interaction: the Philadelphia Area in the Nineteenth Century." Speakers will be Dr. Carol E. Hoffecker of the University of Delaware and Eleutherian Mills-Hagley Foundation, Dr. John Modell of the University of Minnesota, and Mr. Robert Douglass of the University of Pennsylvania. For further information or to be placed on the conference mailing list write Regional Conference, Eleutherian Mills Historical Library, Greenville, Delaware 19807.

* * *

We are pleased to announce that a Spanish language edition of James P. Baughman, ed., The History of American Management: Selections from the Business History Review has recently been published by Editorial Diana, S.A., Cargo Administracion de Correos No. 1, Mexico 1, D.F. This collection of outstanding articles from the Review has been translated under the title, Historia de la Administracion de Empresas en los Estados Unidos: Selecciones de Business History Review.