

Notes for contributors

Antiquity aims to report new archaeological research, method and issues of international significance in plain language to a broad academic and professional readership. The journal is published quarterly in March, June, September and December.

Submissions are invited in the following categories: Research (max. 5000 words), Method and Debate (each max. 3000 words). Word limits include all text, tables, references and figure captions.

Antiquity uses a secure and confidential online submission and peer-review system. Detailed help on how to submit is available both prior to submission and throughout the submission process. To submit a manuscript please visit our website at <http://antiquity.ac.uk/contribute/contribute.html> where you will find a link to the submission site and full Instructions for authors.

Wherever possible manuscripts should be submitted as a single Adobe PDF document containing all text, tables and figures but excluding any covering letter. If you cannot submit your manuscript as a PDF, you may submit separate text and graphics files. If your paper is accepted for publication, you will be asked to provide separate high-resolution, publication-quality graphics, in TIFF or EPS format. It is therefore best for the initial submission to create any graphics using applications that are capable of preparing acceptable TIFF or EPS formats. Resolutions must be 300dpi or higher and image dimensions should be either half-page width (65mm) or full-page width (135mm). The maximum acceptable height is 185mm. Maps and plans must include an accurate scale and north point.

As part of the submission process authors will be required to confirm that the substance of the content presented has not been published previously and is not currently being considered for publication elsewhere.

We prefer to receive submissions in English but can consider submissions in French, German, Italian and Spanish where submitting in English is not possible. (Accepted papers are translated free of charge and published in English.)

All submissions are considered by the Editor in the first instance. Suitable papers are peer-reviewed by a minimum of two experts. If you are unsure whether a paper is suitable for Antiquity, please contact the Editor prior to submission (editor@antiquity.ac.uk).

Project Gallery (<http://antiquity.ac.uk/projgall/>)

The Project Gallery (max. 1000 words + 6 figures) is part of Antiquity's online Bulletin and is intended for the announcement, update or preliminary reports about projects and ideas of international status. The Project Gallery also welcomes contributions to archaeological historiography. Please note that the Editor will not accept reports about local or regional surveys, sites or artefacts unless of wider significance; articles of local and regional interest should be properly directed to the national records and journals of the country concerned. Project Gallery articles are not normally peer-reviewed but the Editor may seek external advice.

Books for review

We welcome books for review on archaeology and associated research. Please send books to the Reviews Editor, Dr Robert Witcher, at Antiquity, Durham University, South Road, Durham DH1 3LE, UK (email: reviews@antiquity.ac.uk).

The Ancient Mediterranean Trade in Ceramic Building Materials: A Case Study in Carthage and Beirut

by Philip Mills

£30.00

ISBN 9781905739608. wx+132 pages; illustrated throughout in colour and black and white. With CD

This book (the second volume in the Archaeopress series Roman and Late Antique Mediterranean Pottery) addresses the level of interregional trade of ceramic building material (CBM), traditionally seen as a high bulk low value commodity, within the ancient Mediterranean between the third century BC and the seventh century AD. It examines the impact of different modes of production, distribution and consumption of CBM and how archaeological assemblages differ from what is predicted by current models of the ancient economy. The material used in this study derives from stratified assemblages from two major ports of the ancient Mediterranean: Carthage and Beirut.

Ceramic Petrography:

The Interpretation of Archaeological Pottery & Related Artefacts in Thin Section

by Patrick Sean Quinn

£35.00

ISBN 9781905739592. 260 pages; colour throughout

Thin section ceramic petrography is a versatile interdisciplinary analytical tool for the characterization and interpretation of archaeological pottery and related artefacts, including ceramic building materials, refractories and plaster. Using over 200 colour photomicrographs of thin sections from a diverse range of artefacts, archaeological periods and geographic regions, this book illustrates the spectrum of compositional and microstructural phenomena that occur within ancient ceramics under the micro-scope and provides comprehensive guidelines for their study within archaeology. The book is structured according to the main steps involved in the analysis and interpretation of archaeological ceramic thin sections, including classification, characterization, the determination of provenance and the reconstruction of manufacturing technology. It can be used as a reference manual for microscope research as well as a course book for specialist training on thin section petrography and archaeological ceramic analysis
