God and the Founders Madison, Washington, and Jefferson

Vincent Phillip Muñoz

$85.00: Hardback: 978-0-521-51515-3: 256 pp.
$24.99: Paperback: 978-0-521-73579-7

"An engaging, thoroughly researched, and well-written probe into the origins of one of America's most distinctive accomplishments – religious freedom – which also happens to be one of our most contentious contemporary constitutional issues. Muñoz is one of the country's brightest young scholars; his first major book should be required reading at the Supreme Court, and indeed wherever issues of religious freedom are discussed in America today."

—George Weigel, Ethics and Public Policy Center, Washington, DC

Did the Founding Fathers intend to build a "wall of separation" between church and state? Are public Ten Commandments displays or the phrase "under God" in the Pledge of Allegiance consistent with the Founders' understandings of religious freedom? In God and the Founders, Dr. Vincent Phillip Muñoz answers these questions by providing new, comprehensive interpretations of James Madison, George Washington, and Thomas Jefferson.

By analyzing Madison's, Washington's, and Jefferson's public documents, private writings, and political actions, Muñoz explains the Founders' competing church-state political philosophies. He explores how they agreed and disagreed by showing how their different principles of religious freedom would decide the Supreme Court's most important First Amendment religion cases. God and the Founders answers the question, "What would the Founders do?" for the most pressing church-state issues of our time, including prayer in public schools, government support of religion, and legal burdens on the individual's religious conscience.
