

The Analysis of Social Mobility

Volume I: Methods and Approaches

Edited by KEITH HOPE

A national survey of occupational change in a generation is the principal item in a programme of work on social mobility which is being undertaken by a group of Oxford sociologists. Preparatory work has involved pilot investigations directed, in particular, to problems of occupational classification. Relevant data collected under other auspices have been reanalysed. The results of this work will be reported in two volumes. The first includes papers on the grading of occupations, the quantification of inter-generational transmission of status, path analysis, canonical scoring of contingency and discussions of the relations between social mobility and marriage and fertility.

THE 'SHELBY CULLOM DAVIS CENTER FOR HISTORICAL STUDIES

Popular Culture

The Shelby Cullom Davis Center for Historical Studies announces that for the two years 1973-75 its Research Seminar will be devoted to the theme of Popular Culture. The Seminar will examine popular political values; popular religion and beliefs as expressed in symbolism, witchcraft, magic and astrology; popular organizations such as youth groups and secret societies; and popular activities such as festivals and games. The Center is particularly interested in the relation between popular and high culture as found, for example, in the interaction between oral and print traditions. In 1973-74, the main focus of the Seminar will be on popular religion and magical beliefs and their relationship to official religion, although research proposals in other areas of popular culture will also be considered. The Seminar hopes to attract scholars from other disciplines than history, and to gather together experts in different periods and countries.

The Center will offer a limited number of Research Fellowships for one or two semesters, designed primarily for highly recommended younger scholars with a year or more of teaching experience, although applications from senior scholars will also be considered.

Inquiries and fellowship application form requests should be addressed to the Executive Secretary, Davis Center for Historical Studies, 129 Dickinson Hall, Princeton University, Princeton, New Jersey 08540. The deadline for fellowship applications for the academic year 1973-74 is December 31, 1972.

ANNOUNCING

Journal of Political and Military Sociology

An International and Interdisciplinary Biannual Publication

JOURNAL OF POLITICAL AND MILITARY SOCIOLOGY welcomes articles of a theoretical, methodological, and empirical nature, book reviews, essay and review symposia, letters to the editor, comments and rejoinders, annotated bibliographies, news and announcements. A unique feature of the JPMS is to encourage the publication of scholarly articles dealing with the vital social, political, economic, and military issues.

The major objectives of the JPMS is to advance sociological knowledge in the neophytes of political and military sociology through the interdisciplinary and comparative approaches. The JPMS departs from the conventional academic orientation of professional social science publications by also encouraging contributors to address themselves to the vital issues of our time in the areas of political and military policy throughout the western and non-western world. A corollary objective of the JPMS is to foster and develop more genuine professional contacts and exchange of ideas and information concerning significant research and teaching developments in the fields of political and military sociology.

Manuscripts should be submitted in triplicate and in acceptable form to George A. Kourvetaris, Department of Sociology, Northern Illinois University, DeKalb, Illinois, 60115. Style, editorial procedures, and policies in preparing manuscripts will be provided upon request. The JPMS will be published in English biannually in Spring and Fall beginning in Spring, 1973. Subscription to the JPMS should also be sent to the aforementioned address.

Comparative Studies in Society and History is a forum for presentation and discussion of new research into problems of change and stability that recur in human societies through time or in the contemporary world. It sets up a working alliance between specialists in all branches of the social sciences and humanities. Debate and review articles bring the general reader in touch with current findings and issues.

NOTES FOR CONTRIBUTORS

Contributions may be descriptive, analytical or theoretical. Any article not in itself comparative may be accepted if it lends itself to comment that will place it in comparative perspective. Correspondence with the editors prior to the submission of articles will help to enable them to obtain such comment or a companion study. Emphasis in comparative studies may be either on similarities or, if these are significant enough and call for some recasting of generalisations, on differences. All contributions and editorial correspondence should be sent to the Editors, Comparative Studies in Society and History, Department of History, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Michigan 48104.

Two copies of each contribution, preferably accompanied by a stamped, addressed envelope, should be submitted. Both text and footnotes should be clearly typed with double spacing and wide margins; footnotes should appear on separate pages at the end of the article. Illustrations may be included by arrangement with the editors.

Contributors will receive 50 offprints bound in the journal covers. Any additional offprints must be ordered on receipt of the first proof.

SUBSCRIPTIONS

Comparative Studies in Society and History is published quarterly in January, March, June and September. Subscription per volume of four issues is £5.00 net in U.K., $14.00 in U.S.A.; the price includes postage. Single issues sold for £2.00 net in U.K., $5.00 in U.S.A., plus postage. Orders should be sent to a bookseller or subscription agent or direct to Cambridge University Press, Bentley House, 200 Euston Road, London NW1 2DB and in U.S.A. and Canada to Cambridge University Press, American Branch, 32 East 57th Street, New York, N.Y. 10022. Copies of the journal for subscribers in the United States of America are sent by air to New York to arrive with minimum delay. Second class postage paid at New York, N.Y.
